Youth commits crime in hopes of avenging slaying of his mother

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A youth kidnaped a taxi driver in order to be arrested and sent to the prison where the confessed murderer of his mother is being held, police said.

Kenneth Lynn Curry, 17, was arrested Wednesday and charged with kidnaping and robbery after allegedly kidnaping a 49-year-old taxi driver at knifepoint and allegedly taking $50 from him.

Police said Curry told the taxi driver, Benny Dillard, that he wanted to go to prison to avenge the death of his mother, who was raped and murdered.

Whisenhant recently was sentenced to die in the electric chair for one of the murders. He had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

He is being held in the death row unit at Holman Prison near Atmore in south Alabama awaiting the outcome of appeals.

All 20 aboard killed

Air Force plane slams into mountain

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An Air Force plane slammed into a mountainside on a high security Army base, killing all 20 persons aboard when it exploded on impact a half mile from a bunker containing fissionable material, authorities said.

The four-engine plane crashed on Manzano Base, where nuclear weapons are stored, three minutes after its take off from Kirtland Air Force Base at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Kirtland base operations confirmed there were no survivors, said Walter Sprick of the Federal Aviation Administration.

"One big fireball and that was it," a nearby resident said.

Air Force crews using flares and helicopter spotlights recovered at least 15 bodies in a pre-dawn search. Authorities said all those aboard were military personnel.

A spokesman at the plane's base said it was used frequently by high ranking military personnel and American and foreign dignitaries.

Former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is among those who have used the plane, the spokesman said.

The aircraft, which was scattered over 10 acres after impact, was used as a model for modifications to Air Force One, the president's plane.

An air traffic controller said he tried to warn the pilot the plane was in trouble.

"The first indication we had he was in trouble was when the radar showed he was too close to the mountain and flying too low," said the controller.

"We hit him on the guard frequency and told him to turn right and climb ... but he never did," he said.

The jet was a communications aircraft based at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in Goldsboro, N.C. An Air Force spokesman said it was on a training mission and was on its way to Nellis Air Force Base in Nevada.

The EC135, described as a "modified 707," stopped in Albuquerque to refuel, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the pilot made what was probably a routine attempt to contact departure control just after take off. The tower responded, but the pilot didn't return the communication.

The plane crashed about 8,500 feet up the Manzano Mountain range, about five miles east of the Kirtland runway.

Dr. Crosby Eaton, a resident of the Four Hills subdivision located near the crash site, said he was taking out his trash when he heard the plane flying very low toward his house.

He said the plane sounded like it was flying on "one or two of its four engines."

The aircraft flew over his house at about 300 feet, then turned into the mountain, he said.

"If he had turned north instead of south, he would have turned right into Four Hills," he said.

Kirtland Air Force Base and the Albuquerque International Airport share runway facilities at the outskirts of Albuquerque.

Dolores Welch, a convenience store clerk, said she was waiting on a customer who was facing the mountain when the plane hit.

She said the man suddenly asked, "did you see that" and she turned.

"It looked like the whole sky lit up," she said. "It looked like the sun had come up."

She said area residents gathered in the store parking lot to watch the flames from the wreckage, which she said burned for 30 to 40 minutes

Might have made mistakes, but no wrongdoing or cover-up—Lance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance, appealing to the American people to be "the jury in this proceeding," told the Senate today that while he may have made mistakes running his Georgia banks he engaged in no wrongdoing and no cover-up.

"I am secure and comfortable knowing that my conscience is clear and that the people's verdict will be a fair and just one," the burly director of President Carter's Office of Management and Budget told the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee.

Drawling slowly and solemnly, Lance told the two senior members of the committee to their faces they have been unfair in their public statements before this, his day in court. Speaking "more in sorrow than in anger," Lance told the senior Republican, Sen. Charles Percy, that his actions were "puzzling ... regrettable."

Percy replied that he had questioned the dates on some of Lance's personal checks and whether they were timed to help him obtain a tax deduction.

"It was wrong for me to even raise the possibility," Percy conceded.

Then, one by one, the President's long-time personal friend replied to allegations made in past weeks that his personal and bank dealings, most of them before he joined the Carter government, were marked by irregularities and improprieties. When he finished reading his 1¾-hour statement, he got a half minute of hearty applause from spectators in the hearing room.

Lance told the panel and a national television audience that his rights had "been treated in the most irresponsible and destructive manner" and allegations against him have been "erroneous ... misrepresented ... and exaggerated." Moreover, he said, "some are completely misunderstood because those making the charge do not have all the facts ... "

"I did not ask for this fight, but now that I am in it, I am fighting not only for myself but also for our system," Lance declared. "I was a successful businessman in my home state, and I thought I had an important contribution to make by coming into government service."

The budget director has said again and again he will not quit. His demeanor and his words appeared to underscore that determination.

But even as he spoke, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill told reporters that because of Lance's financial problems "the image of the President is going down a little bit."

Seated at a long table covered with green felt and emblazoned with a nameplate — "Mr. Lance" — the budget director told the committee: 'The rights that I thought I possessed have gone, one by one, down the drain ...

"Were my rights protected?" he asked. "We'll let the American people answer that."

He declined to "contend that I made no mistakes" when he ran the Calhoun First National Bank of Calhoun, Ga., of which he was board chairman, and the National Bank of Georgia, in Atlanta, which he served as president.

"But to accept the assertion that I could not even manage a small country bank, one must ignore the objective facts," he told the committee, which recommended his confirmation as the nation's budgetmaker last January.

Lance told the panel he had answered questions from its members and from its staff fully and accurately in January and had withheld nothing.

Lance vigorously denied he had backdated any checks to allow him to take income tax deductions for 1976, a possibility suggested by Percy last Friday.

Alaska issue

Andrus plea may spark epic battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus is asking Congress to preserve nore than 90 million acres of Alaska wilderness, a move expected to spark an environmental battle of epic proportions.

At issue is the future course of the nation's last frontier, thousands of square miles of wilderness lands whose development will be determined by Congress.

The battle pits preservationists against developers.

Andrus seeks to protect an area almost the size of California for national parks, wildlife refuges, wild and scenic rivers and national forests. Estimates of the amount of land Andrus will ask Congress to preserve range from 91.6 million acres to 92.8 million acres.

Environmentalists want even more land to be protected from development. In bills before Congress, they are asking that nearly 120 million acres be preserved.

Developers argue that the amount of land to be preserved is far too extensive and would block future development of oil and gas reserves, minerals and timber.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce filed suit Wednesday to block Andrus from testifying today before a House subcommittee, arguing unsuccessfully in U.S. District Court that the secretary is required by law to file an environmental impact statement before testifying.

According to Fred Krebs, a chamber attorney, the suit was prompted by "a fairly good cross section" of the mining, timber, oil and gas interests within the chamber.

20 to 32 million need care

Shocking mental health report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Between 20 million and 32 million Americans need mental health care, a new report to the government says, but help is often unavailable because of inadequate community services, costs that are too high or the stigma of mental illness.

"The time has come for mental health care to become part of a broader effort to deal with human needs," concludes the preliminary report of the President's Commission on Mental Health, released today.

The report notes that 15 per cent of the population need some form of help, ranging from counseling to long-term care, not counting the six million who are mentally retarded.

At any one time, the report adds, about 25 per cent of the country is under enough emotional stress that a doctor might diagnose such people as suffering from depression or anxiety.

About 15 per cent of the school-age population needs help at a time, the commission found, while noting that people aged 65 and over have the highest incidence of mental health problems.

The report says minorities and the country's rural population have special problems. Social and economic conditions make these people vulnerable to psychological and emotional distress, the report said.

The commission said individuals who need attention include those who "suffer the effects of a variety of societal ills ... the alienation and fear, the depression and anger associated with unrelenting poverty and the institutionalized discrimination that occurs on the basis of race, sex class, age and mental and physical handicaps."

First Lady Rosalynn Carter is the honorary chairman of the 20-member commission which is making 14 specific recommendations to President Carter.

These proposals "if implemented ... offer the hope of immediate improvement in the avilability of services to many of those we have identified," wrote Dr. Thomas E. Bryant, commission chairman, in his letter to the President.

The recommendations, according to a commission spokesman, would require no new legislation, virtually no additional funds and could be implemented by executive action.

Hometowners stomp, cheer, pray for Bert

About 1,500 people — more than one-fifth of Calhoun's population — turned out in a demonstration of support for the director of the federal Office of Management and Budget on the eve of his appearance before a Senate panel investigating his financial affairs.

The crowd gave a standing ovation as the high school band played "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "I Did It My Way."

They had placards saying "Calhoun for Bert" and "Bert's A Good Ole Georgia Boy." They used words like "love," "friendship," and "honesty" to describe Lance, who did not attend the rally.

"I'll tell you what kind of a guy he is," said Jack Purcell, who used to be the catcher on the softball team when Lance was pitcher.

"I called him up last year to come speak to the graduating class of the school where I was principal. And even though it rained and the loudspeakers didn't work, he came and he spoke. And when I sent him a check for speaking to the class, he sent the check back because he didn't do it for the money. That's the kind of guy Bert is."

Lance's minister, the Rev. Emory Brackman, told of the "very generous" contributions of time and money that Lance and his wife, LaBelle, made to the First Methodist Church. He recalled that Lance received "the highest honor" a United Methodist can receive when he was elected to the church's General Conference.

Lt. Gov. Zell Miller, who shared a double desk with Lance in grammar school, accused the news media of distorting the Lance affair. He denied a statement in an article in a national magazine that quoted him as saying Lance was a poor arithmetic student.

"Powerful and ruthless forces" — whom he later identified as the federal bureaucracy — have attacked Lance, Miller said.

They wanted to talk about the back-slapping, joke-telling Bert Lance who married his high school sweetheart and helped his neighbors as he rose from a 19-year-old bank teller to a 32year-old bank president.

"He treated a man like a man wants to be treated," said John Houser, who carried a sign saying "Bert Lance Was Fair To Me ... We Need Him In D.C." He said Lance helped him get back on his feet several years ago when he lost "a lot of money" investing in a mill.

'All-adult' apartments challenged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Steve and Lois Wolfson like their apartment overlooking a yacht harbor at Marina del Rey, and they say they're not about to leave just because they have a baby.

For almost a year, they ignored an eviction notice issued after their landlord established a ban on children.

Now they have asked Judge Harold I. Cherness of Culver City Municipal Court to rule on a suit they brought to keep the $390-a-month apartment. Testimony begins today.

Mrs. Wolfson said nobody objected for more than a year after she brought Adam home from the hospital in September 1975.

"We've never had any complaints about Adam," Mrs. Wolfson said. "In fact, all of our neighbors have signed affidavits saying they like him and want him to stay in the building, and they're appearing in court on our behalf."

In November 1976, after the Wolfsons had signed a lease renewal, they got a letter from their landlord, Marina Point Ltd., telling them they would have to leave because of the baby. They chose to fight eviction.

"We love it here. It's a terrific buy," Wolfson said. "There's a great view of the marina from both bedrooms."

Several other children already live in the apartment complex. They lived there before the ban was imposed.

"The children from adjacent buildings who come over to play in front of this one are a lot noisier than Adam's ever been," said a neighbor, Robert Smith.

Lorne Despres, a director of the Fair Housing for Children Coalition, said the refusal of landlords to rent to families with children raises discrimination questions as profound as those of the early civil rights struggles.

"Landlords make unfair generalizations about children, using pretty much the same arguments given by all bigots," she said. "They say they won't rent to persons with children because children are noisy and destructive. Well, all children aren't noisy, and all adults aren't quiet, and it's unfair to discriminate against them as a class."

A LITTLE TROUBLE

Steve and Lois Wolfson pose outside their apartment near the beach at Marina Del Rey with their son Adam, 2. Their landlord has told them Adam's presence will require them to leave. The Woflson's filed suit, contending the apartment's ban on children violates state law. They've lived in the apartment three years.

More debris discovered in aqueduct

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Northern San Diego County residents were facing imminent water shutoffs and 300 Riverside farmers had no relief for their parched crops as workmen discovered even more debris than expected clogging the vital Colorado River Aqueduct.

Sand, gravel and rock were found as far as 1,000 yards into the pipeline Wednesday, causing Metropolitan Water District Officials to estimate the water route won't be clear until next Tuesday, rather than Sunday as they had predicted.

The aqueduct, a major source of water for 11 million Southern Californians, was shut down when a flash flood tore away a 2,500-pound access hatch at a Desert Hot Springs transition structure last weekend, pushing mud and muck into the adjacent siphon and pipeline.

If the pumping stations don't start operating until Tuesday, desperately needed water won't reach Riverside County's Lake Mathews distribution point and into San Diego County until Thursday.

About 200 San Diego County residents in the Rainbow area northeast of Fallbrook and others at Valley Center northeast of Escondido were facing critical shortages and possible shutoff because of limited water storage.

MWD officials were trying to set up emergency transportation of water from Lake Perris in Riverside County to San Diego water users but they said it would take 24 hours to complete the preparations.

With that plan in the works, the State Dpartment of Parks and Recreation promptly prohibited swimming and water sports in Lake Perris, but said fishing and boating will be allowed.

In Riverside County, two water districts which draw directly from the aqueduct shut off water to agricultural users because they only had enough in storage for householders. About 200 citrus growers in the Woodcrest and Gavilan Hills areas were affected, as well as 100 farming customers and two golf courses at Sun City and Edgemont.

Riverside County supervisors declared a state of emergency for the desert communities hit by last week's flash floods to open the way for federal aid.

The county's Disaster Preparedness Office said that 143 homes in Thousand Palms, Rancho Mirage and Palo Verde Valley were damaged by mudslides and 10 were destroyed.

It's all Spanish for young students

SAN DIEGO (AP)—It's not one little, two little, three little Indians that U. S. tots in city school kindergarten classes sing about, but instead "un pequeno, dos pequenos, tres pequenos indios."

"Your child is going to learn to read through the Spanish language and automatically will read English without having been taught to read English," is what Hal Wingard, a school system language specialist, tells parents worried about ability of their tiny youngsters to survive in an all-Spanish classroom environment.

"The kids look at me, look at each other and usually they finally get what I'm saying," said Carmen Quintana, one of the teachers of 650 English-speaking children being tossed directly into the pool that is the Spanish language.

For these kids, the crayons they are using are "rojos" and "verdes" and other colors of the Spanish rainbow.

Spanish is virtually the only language pupils in some kindergarten and first grade classes will hear from their teachers for the remainder of the school year. In grades two through six in these optional classes, the teacher will give half a course in English, then the conclusion in Spanish.

The pupils will still learn the three R's, but for the most part in Spanish.

The intercultural language program, which is part of a court-ordered desegregation plan, is being offered for the first time in the school term that began this week.

Wingard said San Diego is among the first U. S. cities to use a technique called "total immersion," which denies the child reliance on English and makes him or her communicate in another tongue.

Montreal, a Canadian city in which English and French are used, has been conducting a similar program for more than a decade.

"We each learn to read only once in our lives," he said. "If we learn to read in one language and speak another language, we naturally will be able to read in that other language. The results over a dozen years in Montreal confirm this."

Ms. Quintana is one of 20 bilingual teachers who were recruited and intensively trained for the San Diego program.

"This involves some of the most disciplined and rigorous teaching." Wingard said. "Not only do the teachers have to deal with just communicating with students—like in the traditional language classes—but they have to get ideas across."

Wingard said the program is getting a good reception from parents, although many can't conceive how it works.

"Parents find it hard to believe because they can't imagine themselves in a total immersion program, but the kids really do learn the language, and their regular school curricula," he said.

Versatility of G.D.'s cruise missile described

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The versatility of the Tomahawk cruise missile, General Dynamic's entry in the missile production race with Boeing, was illustrated to members of the Pomona Kiwanis Club Wednesday.

Dennis Zeugschmidt of General Dynamics' Convair Division in San Diego explained that his firm has completed the validation stage of the Tomahawk and is in the development stage, one step from production.

A federal contract has not been awarded yet on production of a cruise missile, but General Dynamics officials are optimistic.

If General Dynamics were to receive the federal contract, the Tomahawk would be manufactured by Convair.

Zeugschmidt explained that the Tomahawk, a modular missile, is 18 feet long and 21 inches in diameter.

He said that it can be launched externally or internally from a B-52 bomber, from a truck on the ground, from a surface vessel or a submarine.

He explained that the same test missile, equipped with a parachute, has been recovered as many as five times, and evaluated after each flight.

Recovery after testing means a 90 percent savings in refurbishing, he explained.

He illustrated how the various modules of the missile, the guidance system, payloads, airframe, and propulsion system may be varied depending on the target and the launch base.

He explained how the missile is delivered to its base in a steel or aluminum casing which is discarded after launch.

Zeugschmidt said that Tomahawk has a speed of 550 miles per hour at less than 300 feet altitude.

Equipped with an on-board computer and a modified Harpoon guidance system, Tomahawk in flight matches land elevations with data programmed before flight.

He noted that since it is the same size as a Navy torpedo, it can be launched from a submarine.

Zeugschmidt said that the Tomahawk will go "several thousand miles."

He said that the Soviets are concerned about its capability, although they already have cruise missiles.

He was accompanied to the meeting by Don Luchsinger, General Dynamics Pomona.

State briefs

UC policy change?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After years of debating the issue of South African investments, the University of California regents appear ready to change university policy.

Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally concedes the change almost certainly will not go as far as his proposal to sell all of UC's $555 million of stock in companies with operations in South Africa.

But a longstanding proposal to establish a "social responsibility" advisory committee for investment decisions looks likely to pass at Friday's regents' meeting, with support from most of Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s new appointees to the board.

Bargaining rights

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. must decide whether to sign or veto a bill granting limited collective bargaining rights to nearly 100,000 state employes.

By a 24-8 Senate vote Wednesday, the state Senate approved Assembly amendments to the bill, SB 839 by Sen. Ralph Dills, D-Gardena, and sent it to the Democratic governor.

This is the second measure in three years that the legislature has approved to extend bargaining rights to public workers.

Ocean mining

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — International agreements protecting American business are a must if the United States is to make headway in the sweepstakes to find minerals under the ocean floor, top mining and government officials say.

The United States has suffered "humiliation" in talks aimed at clarifying mining rights on the high seas, Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., told a panel discussion Wednesday at the American Mining Congress convention.

Murphy characterized United Nations-sponsored talks on a Law of the Sea as "the scene of...controversial events, secret negotiations, bitter personality conflicts and a continued unproductive dialogue between the Third World and industrialized nations."

At stake are mineral-rich beds on the ocean floor containing copper, nickel, cobalt and mangenese — minerals now heavily imported into the United States.

STILL CHEERING

Inman Perkins, 36, and Marlene Keran, 28, aren't letting the advancing years stop them from participating in something they loved as teen-agers. Both are on the pep squad at Fresno State University.

Although other pep squad members range in age from their late teens to early 20s, Perkins and Ms. Keran don't consider their ages a handicap. In many cases they have used their advance years to their advantage.

"We don't pull any punches about our age," said Ms. Keran, co-head pep girl. "In fact, we try to emphasize it with administrators. They listen more intently because we're not 18-year-olds they can shove in some corner."

Another use for that leverage of age is in recruiting fans to attend games.

"Our age is an advantage when we're talking to older students. At least we arouse their curiosity," she said. "And the younger kids on the squad look up to us...they listen to us, and they keep us young."

"I have never worked that hard in my entire life," Perkins said of the ordeal of trying out for the squad.

"I had trouble sitting down and getting back up again," Ms. Keran added.

Perkins has returned to school after a 10-year absence to study radio and television and Ms. Keran is pursuing a degree in fine arts after a six-year absence.

They found it natural to get involved in cheerleading because that was an important part of their school days one and two decades ago.

PRO AND CON ON TAX RELIEF

At back-to-back news conference in the Capitol at Sacramento Wednesday, Democratic Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, right, predicted a new property tax relief proposal, which is before both houses today, has a 50-50 chance of passage. Moments later Republican Assembly leader Paul Priolo said the proposal would not be approved.

10,000 troops hunt terrorists

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government put 10,000 police and troops on full alert today to hunt for a new left-wing terrorist group that claimed responsibility for the worst rash of bomb explosions in Mexico in decades.

Police said 23 blasts injured five persons and did an estimated $20 million damage in Mexico City, Guadalajara and Oaxaca between midnight and 3 a.m. Wednesday. The police said 17 more homemade time bombs were found and disarmed.

Police squads, detective units and special anti-guerrilla military squadrons were making surprise searches and manning roadblocks at numerous points in the country. One unofficial report said 13 suspects had been arrested and taken to a military compound outside Mexico City.

Leaflets signed by the Union of the People, an organization not heard of previously, said it was responsible for the bombs. It called other left-wing terrorist groups "chicken" and vowed to bring "Lenin's revolution" to Mexico to stop "unemployment, hunger and exploitation imposed on the people by the dominant class."

Lawyer Jose Rojo Colorado, who defends accused leftist terrorists, told reporters in Oaxaca that the Union was founded in that city and had its headquarters there. He said the bombings were in retaliation for recent arrests of members of the Union and other leftist groups.

Mexico City's police chief, Arturo Durazo, was quoted as saying the "principal leaders of the organization have been identified."

Security forces also were hunting for armed gangs who kidnaped two doctors and three youths and killed the wife of one of the doctors in separate attacks Tuesday in small towns near Mexico City. But police blamed the kidnapings on the 23rd of September Communist League, heretofore the most active urban terrorist organization in the country.

Police believed the bombings were timed to disrupt ceremonies Friday celebrating the 167th anniversary of Mexico's independence from Spain.

The bombs damaged or wrecked government buildings and businesses, including Sears Roebuck and Woolworth stores, an American Motors dealer and a Pepsi Cola plant. Among targets where unexploded bombs were found were a General Motors assembly plant and the headquarters of the Colgate Palmolive subsidiary.

Guadalajara, the capital of Jalisco state, was hit hardest. Four department stores, three banks and the local office of the Federal Power Commission were bombed.

MAPPING STRATEGY

Clark Clifford for the defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clark McAdams Clifford wrote speeches for Harry Truman, was an intelligence adviser to John Kennedy, ran the Defense Department for Lyndon Johnson and now is trying to save Bert Lance for Jimmy Carter.

Unflappable, keenly intelligent, wise, charming and, above all, a realist, is the way friends and colleagues describe Clifford, a Washington lawyer who keeps returning to the service of presidents.

This time he is counsel to a long-time friend of President Carter. He will be by the side of Bert Lance, the director of the Office of Management and Budget, as the former Georgia banker testifies before the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee.

The Senate committee is looking into allegations about Lance's financial affairs, his overdrafts at banks he ran and his use of bank-owned aircraft for personal or political business.

Clifford was most recently aiding Carter in international affairs, serving as the President's special envoy to Cyprus.

But his service to Democratic presidents goes back a long way. Clifford was a speechwriter for President Truman and helped plan Truman's 1948 election victory. He assisted in President Kennedy's transition to the presidency, then became chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board.

He was defense secretary for President Johnson, but later tried to persuade Johnson to end America's involvement in Vietnam.

During the Republican years, Clifford persisted in denouncing the Vietnam war, and built up a lucrative law practice with clients like General Electric, Du Pont, the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and other corporate giants.

He is considered a brilliant strategist and consultant who knows how to use his considerable expertise into Washington's intricate network of power and influence.

"There may be a more competent and intelligent lawyer in the United States, but I have not heard of him," said Eugene Carusi, a Washington attorney and Clifford's golfing buddy.

The silver-haired Clifford, who wears horn-rimmed glasses and conservative suits, said in an interview Wednesday that he has been working day and night since Wednesday that he has been working day and night since Sept. 5, when he agreed to take on the Lance case. He called it a "massive task."

He promised "quite a lot of new information" that will make Lance "quite appealing to the people."

"I have been trying to prepare the best defense that I can. I want to see that he gets a fair hearing and emerges with a restored reputation," said Clifford.

And Clifford himself said, "What takes place after the hearings is out of our hands. I don't know what Lance's views or the President's views are (about Lance resigning). That's a political decision. I just want to give him the best opportunity to defend himself."

A Houston oil executive who does business with Clifford says the lawyer is careful in selecting his arguments.

"There will be no radical contentions that will not bear the scrutiny of the noonday sun. I wouldn't be surprised if Clifford doesn't somehow get it across — very smoothly of course — that every member of Congress ... has done some similar things in their lives. After all, these people live in the real world. And if anything, Clifford is a realist."

Clifford is an avid golfer who scores in the high 70s. He doesn't drink but smokes three — no more, no less — cigarettes a day. One after lunch, two after dinner.

Clifford has been married to Margery "Marny" Kimball Clifford for 47 years. They have three daughters and 12 grandchildren.

Clifford, who was born on Christmas Day 1906, grew up and first practiced law in St. Louis.

House panel OKs increase in S.S earning limitation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired people could earn up to $4,500 next year without losing Social Security benefits under a plan approved by a House subcommittee.

Its chairman says the current limit reduces some elderly persons to eating pet food.

Recipients who now earn more than $3,000 lose $1 in benefits for every $2 they bring in above the ceiling. That limitation, says Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., means some retirees are "living on a diet of cat and dog food."

In a move experts say could affect a million people, the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security Wednesday tentatively approved raising the allowance in 1978.

Under the proposal, recipients could earn $6,000 in 1979 without facing an aid cutback.

The limit on exempt earnings this year is $3,000. It is expected to go to $3,240 in 1978 and $3,480 in 1979 under a provision of the existing law that ties benefits to inflation.

The subcommittee's move, approved 9 to 3, was a compromise between proposals to abolish the limitation and others for a smaller or later increase. Republicans had suggested phasing out the limitation over three years.

As part of the compromise, the subcommittee agreed that the whole subject would be considered again when the panel takes up long-range changes in Social Security, probably next year.

The subcommittee is now putting together legislation to keep the deficit-plagued Social Security system alive.

All the votes it is now taking are subject to later change or reversal.

Burke, the panel chairman, predicted the move "wouldn't get 50 votes against it" if it reaches the House floor.

Partly offsetting the cost of raising the income lid, the subcommittee voted to remove from the law a quirk that allows a retired person to earn as much as he can in a month if he forfeits his benefits for that month.

The cost of raising the earnings limit was estimated at $2 billion in 1979, $2.4 billion in 1980 and $2.5 billion in 1981. The savings from eliminating the monthly option were calculated at $400 million a year.

The subcommittee recommended adding some six million federal, state and local government employes to the system and voted to end the option state and local governments and nonprofit organizations have of withdrawing from Social Security.

Man sought for rape

Police said the man drove into the station about 4 a.m. and confronted its attendant. Police said the man attacked the woman, first beating her about the face and then raping her.

The rapist was described as a white, about 20 years of age, 5 feet 10, .140 pounds, with dark brown, shoulder-length hair.

At the time of the incident, the rapist was wearing blue jeans, blue tennis shoes, a red and white striped shirt, a blue sweatshirt, and a red and white baseball cap.

He is driving a 1971 or 1972 lemon yellow two-door, stock Pinto with a factory chrome luggage rack on the top.

Burglary suspect, 3 young 'lookouts' held

A 24-year-old Ontario man and three young boys accused of acting as "lookouts" were arrested Wednesday afternoon in connection with a burglary of a laundromat dryer coin box at 1876 E. Fourth St., Ontario, police reported.

Police said the suspect, Ruben Johnny Gonzales, and the three boys, ages 10, 11 and 13, were arrested outside of the Lunderland laundromat by Ontario police officer Don McGready investigating a report of a burglary at the business.

McGready said that he was investigating a non-injury traffic accident at Fourth Street and Vineyard Avenue when a citizen ran up to him and reported that a man and several boys were damaging the laundromat down the street.

McGready immediately went to the laundromat and arrested the four suspects.

Gonzales was arrested for investigation of burglary and the three boys were held for questioning on burglary charges.

McGready discovered that one of the coin boxes in a dryer inside the laundromat had been pryed open and a number of coins removed.

Administrators, school bond head to be named

The Pomona school board will meet tonight to name the district's three new cluster administrators and a person to supervise the district's impending bond election to finance the Diamond Bar high school and Phillips Ranch elementary schools.

The meeting will begin at 6:15 p.m. in the board room of the Education Center, 800 S. Garey Ave., Pomona.

The task of acquiring the three new administrators has been a difficult one as speculation indicated a lack of willingness to take the jobs on the parts of some district officials. Sources indicated as late as Wednesday that a final three administrators may not be recommended for board approval tonight and that conceivably only one or two of the spots might be filled.

Two injured in hit-run crash

Two Claremonters were injured in Pomona Wednesday night in the collision of their small auto with a hit-run motorist, police reported.

The accident was at San Bernardino and Towne avenues. The driver, Martha L. White, 20, suffered a scalp cut which required stitches later at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. She told police the collision occurred when the other driver turned left in front of her.

A passenger in her car, Iain C. Scarr, 21, was treated for arm, leg and back injuries.

Just after noon, Denise M. Dee, 26, of Montclair, was hurt when her car hit the rear of an auto which had stopped for a dog in Indian Hill Boulevard north of Granada Place, police said. She was released after treatment at the hospital. The other driver, Helena Dillon, 46, of Claremont, was unhurt.

Wednesday morning, a motorcyclist suffered a collarbone injury when his bike and a car collided at Second Street west of Reservoir Street. The rider, Richard E. Butts, 45, of Pomona, was treated at PVCH. The driver of the car, Michael E. Galyon, 19, of La Habra, was exiting a parking lot when the accident occurred.

And early Wednesday morning a Claremont woman escaped injury when her auto went out of control, jumped the curb and struck a fence and house at 794 Jayson Court.

Police reported that Vicki M. Farr, 24, was southbound on Towne Avenue when the accident occurred.

Common Market fears consequences

High-level U.S. oil imports hit

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Common Market officials said today U.S. "laxity" in continuing to import vast quantities of oil could aggravate the economic problems of Western Europe.

A report prepared for a meeting next Monday of Common Market economic ministers warned that the high level of U.S. oil imports will not only tend to increase world prices and reduce supplies, but also worsen the deficit in the U.S. trade balance.

The proportion of imported oil in the United States has been increasing steadily in recent years and is now approaching 50 per cent.

Because Western Europe is more dependent on imported oil, it would be more sharply affected by rising prices. And any attempt by the United States to reduce its trade deficit "could have important consequences, particularly in the area of exchange rates, growth and inflation," the report said.

Reducing the deficit could be accomplished by increasing U.S. exports, cutting imports, or both. Such actions could seriously hurt Western Europe, which relies more on international trade than does the United States.

The report warned the United States against "too large a degree of laxity" on its oil imports.

The report also painted a gloomy picture of increased unemployment and sluggish growth in Western Europe, up to 1980 and perhaps even beyond.

Officials of the European Commission, the Common Market executive body, said in a formal statement on the report, "the question is whether our societies can envisage so large a number of unemployed without losing credibility and dignity."

Jean-Claude Morel, the Common Market official who presented the report to reporters, told them unemployment may continue to rise if there is not enough spending on new projects, public and private.

In response to questions, Morel also said he believed more spending money should be put in the hands of the poorest people in Europe by lowering their income tax rates.

Bingo amendments discussion delayed

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The Pomona City Council has decided to hold over to another meeting further discussion on amendments to its bingo ordinance.

Mayor Charles Bader said he felt the suggested changes would be difficult to enforce.

—Only one organization may use the same property to conduct bingo games. Sampson said that such a requirement would obviate the possibility that there be seven "Churches of All Faiths" playing bingo each day.

—A manager must be present and be responsible for the conduct of bingo games.

—The business license tax will amount to 10 percent of the gross receipts with no minimum.

Sampson said that he made most of the changes after reviewing new bingo rules of the City of Los Angeles.

Sampson said that it should be noted that Los Angeles will allow bingo a maximum of six hours a day during three days each week.

Councilman Stanton Selby complained that the alcoholic beverage ban discrimated against such groups as the Elks, Moose and the Eagles.

Sampson recalled that the present ordinance allows bingo games by tax-exempt organizations, but the amended ordinance opens the bingo games also to mobile home park associations or senior citizen organizations, provided the proceeds will be used for charitable purposes.

The ordinance says that all bingo games shall be open to the public, not just to members of a non-profit group.

The ordinance calls for a $50 regulatory license fee per year, and a business license fee amounting to 10 per cent of the gross receipts.

Chiropractic care highlighted

Seven local doctors will participate in answering questions from the public on the subject of chiropractic health care at the Los Angeles County Fair on the exposition's opening day Friday, and on the closing day, Oct. 2.

They are Drs. Karl Elliesen of Pomona, Doris Meggett of Claremont, Ronald Elser of Covina, William Gaines of Glendora, Robert Loehr of Rowland Heights, Eric Seibert of Chino, and J. K. Ariki of Montclair.

The doctors will be officed in a 34-foot Mobile Education Unit sponsored by the Los Angeles County Chiropractic Society. The unit, open to the public at no charge, features a series of informative and educational exhibits.

Being purely institutional and educational in nature, the exhibit will offer no examinations, nor will any specific individual health care advice be dispensed.

Political arena

SEN. WILLIAM CAMPBELL, R-33rd Dist., Whittier, chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Fire Services, is the author of legislation passed by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee to provide training to rural and volunteer firefighters in California.

Campbell said the bill, S. B. 456, is "the most crucial bill affecting the quality of our fire protection capability to come out of the Legislature this year."

There are more than 50,000 firefighters in California and the majority will train under the new program if it becomes law.

Three bills by SEN. RUBEN S. AYALA, 32nd Dist., Chino, have been signed into law by Governor Brown.

They are S. B. 887, which authorizes audits of losing primary candidates' reports immediately after the last date for filing, and the first report or statement following the primary election; S. B. 190 which requires coroners to inquire into and determine the circumstances of all deaths in state mental hospitals; and S. B. 811, which makes it a misdemeanor for a driver or owner of any vehicle knowingly to permit any person to discharge a firearm unlawfully from the vehicle.

"I feel this law will fill a gap in a previous law which only applied to the person driving or firing from a vehicle," said Ayala. "It would be especially beneficial in curtailing juvenile gang shootings."

REP. JOHN H. ROUSSELOT, R-26th Dist., San Moreno, says that at long last there appears to be serious discussion in Congress about reforming tax laws.

He points out that the average wage earner in this country pays anywhere from 35 to 40 per cent of every dollar earned in some form of taxation each year.

Federal taxes are 20 to 30 per cent and going up. Projections are that by 1980 taxes will go over 50 per cent unless government stops spending and taxing, Rousselot said.

"Let us hope the members of Congress do not prepare another reform package that glitters with promise while including hidden and subtle ways to increase revenues for more spending," he added.

In another statement, ROUSSELOT warned that the Social Security system is in "serious financial trouble."

He said that if the federal government continues to manage the Social Security trust funds under established procedures, the funds will be exhausted by the early 1980s.

"If Social Security were disbanded today," said Rousselot, "it would need more than $4 trillion in additional funds just to pay its present obligations — $20,000 to every man, woman and child in the country.

"We must, therefore, begin untangling this intricate problem."

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., West Covina, said Nov. 1 is the deadline for Congressional nominations to the nation's military service academies.

Interested individuals should contact Lloyd's West Covina district office at 100 S. Vincent Ave., Suite 507 or the Ontario district office at 520 N. Euclid Ave.

Applicants must be at least 17 and not more than 22 years of age, hold U. S. citizenship and live in the 35th Congressional District.

SEN. ALAN CRANSTON, D-California, announced that the Senate had passed a bill to provide new medical programs and improved health care for sick and disabled veterans.

He also said that more than 2.2 million veterans with service-connected disabilities will receive a 6.6 per cent cost-of-living increase in their benefits effective Oct. 1.

Cranston is chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee.

CRANSTON introduced legislation in the U. S. Senate to finance a land rehabilitation program in an expanded Redwood National Park in Northern California that could create 400 new jobs next year.

The employment figure, he said, would rise to 1,013 jobs by 1980.

He proposes an amendment to his Redwood National Park Expansion Bill, S. B. 1976, authorizing an appropriation of $33 million over the next three years to rehabilitate lands within the watershed area.

This is substantially more than the $12 million authorization asked by the Carter Administration in the original version of S. B. 1976 which Cranston introduced Aug. 1, to take 48,000 acres out of timber production and add it to the existing 56,435-acre park in Humboldt and Del Norte counties.

FORMER REP. JOHN G. SCHMITZ, R-Orange County, has filed a state Supreme Court lawsuit against state Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger to force the processing of an initiative ballot measure to prohibit forced busing in California.

Schmitz announced the lawsuit at a Los Angeles news conference in which he assailed Younger for "wrongfully and unlawfully" refusing to summarize and assign an official title to Schmitz' initiative effort.

Joining Schmitz at the conference was attorney Kenneth J. Kukuda, counsel for the Taxpayers' School Reform Committee, sponsor of the initiative drive.

Water ski show set at plaza

Water sport enthusiasts will be interested in the Los Angeles County Fair's 10th annual water ski show at the Sports Plaza area during the 17-day exposition.

Professional water ski instructor Craig Cunningham, accompanied by a team of stunt skiers, again will perform for fairgoers.

The ski pool is three feet deep and measures 135 feet in diameter.

Last year the trick ski segment included a knee ski, saucer, ski jump, and a three-man pyramid. More of the same is anticipated this year.

A regular part of the fair since 1967, the attraction has been viewed by an estimated 10 million people in its nine years.

The top drawing demonstrations display new skis and accessories, safety techniques, and basic instructions for the novice, reported Sonny Wilkinson, sports plaza manager.

Just part of the over-all recreational show, which includes vehicles, mobile homes, trailers, boats and cars, the ski show runs for about 25 minutes and is presented each day. A schedule will be posted at the arena for day-to-day show times.

The performers will arrange their act around the fair's 50th year theme of "A Salute to the Golden West."

Cavy competition expects big draw

An attractive animal which gains attention at the Los Angeles County Fair each year is the cavy, more commonly known as the guinea pig.

Mrs. Diane Ford, attendant in charge, but also a judge in the American Rabbit Breeders Association and the American Cavy Breeders Association explained that cavy is the scientific name for the loveable animal.

She said that although the cavy is a rodent, it is not immediately related to the hamster which has a gestation period of 25 days or a mouse which has 28 days, but to a capa bara and a porcupine.

Mrs. Ford said that the show this year should attract about 50 exhibitors showing 400 to 500 animals.

Classes open are American, with smooth, short hair; Abyssinian, with a rough coat; Crested, with a smooth coat and a white roseatte on the forehead; Peruvian, with a long coat; and Teddy, with a woolly coat.

Mrs. Ford said that most owners have cavies as a hobby, and that cavies need not be pedigreed for showing, although some are.

She explained that cavy fanciers belong to the American Cavy Breeders Association and the American Rabbit Breeders Association as well.

"Cavy breeders go by the same high standards as rabbit fanciers," she said. "In fact, those that raise cavies also raise rabbits."

The cavy show will be held in Building 8, where the Open Rabbit Show also is conducted.

Judging of the cavies will start at 7 a.m. Tuesday.

Pomona suspect released

A 19-year-old Pomonan, arrested in connection with the rape of a teen-age girl last Friday and the subsequent robbery of her boyfriend and family, has been released without charge by police.

The suspect, Melvin Carr, 1900 W. Orange Grove Ave., was freed after the district attorney's office in Pomona declined to issue a complaint against him. Reasons cited for the rejection were lack of evidence and physical identification.

The victim was attacked after she and her boyfriend were confronted by two young men, one armed with a pistol, at Montvue Park, San Bernardino Avenue and Cordova Street. After the attack, the girl was forced to drive her boyfriend's car to her home where members of her family also were robbed.

Carr was arrested Sunday.

Adult schools had 203 entries with two gold, one silver, one bronze, and six honorable mention awards as well as the Superintendent's Special Award.

Elementary and junior high schools received two gold, two silver, two bronze, and three honorable mentions out of 64 entries.

County urged to go ahead with building

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite a court order temporarily blocking distribution of funds to finance them, Los Angeles County should go ahead with $33 million in federal building projects, County Counsel John H. Larson has urged.

Seven school districts in mostly rural portions of the county won the order Friday in U.S. District Court on a claim that $5 million of the money should go to them.

Fair helps surrounding communities

When the first Los Angeles County Fair was held in 1922, its budget of $100,000 was considered big business.

In fact, some folks doubted that the fair could survive under such a financial burden.

Now, 49 fairs later, there's little doubt of its importance to the local economy and welfare, reports Phil D. Shepherd, secretary-manager of the fair association.

The fair's 1976 budget was $6.8 million, and the Pomona-Diamond Bar area benefited directly to the tune of $1.2 million, Shepherd stressed.

Employment, full and part time, was provided for 350 persons in that area.

Salaries and wages paid amounted to $448,084.18, and $809,040.18 was paid out by the fair for goods and services.

Local horse owners received $8,785 in purses and exhibitors in the fair's 20 major competitive divisions took home $3,182.25 in prize money.

The greater Pomona trading area of Claremont, San Dimas, Montclair, Chino, Ontario and Upland economy was enhanced by $959,638.64 as the result of the annual fair.

All other Los Angeles County areas benefited in the amount of $1,823,161.18.

The City of Pomona collected an admission tax on fair visitors as well as a sales tax for goods and services purchased by concessionaires and exhibitors.

Shepherd said that not reflected in those figures is the indirect revenue gained by the community from money spent by thousands of people who are an integral part of the fair: the concessionaires, exhibitors, racing personnel, their employes and families.

Shepherd said that another fair plus is the fact that tax dollars are not used for the operation of the 17-day exposition.

Aside from a $250,000 grant from the Division of Fairs and Expositions in Sacramento, the fair generates all its own operating capital.

That grant isn't tax connected either. Those funds come from a tax imposed on pari-mutuel wagering throughout the state.

Last year, Pomona paid more than $1 million to the state as its share of the pari-mutuel tax collected from the bettors during the 14-day race meeting.

Historical locomotives display returns to fair

The railroad exhibit was founded in January 1954 when the Southern California Chapter, Railway and Locomotive Historical Society, and the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department, decided to bring before the public a display of railroad equipment.

These groups, cooperating with the fair association, gathered the support of many companies and individuals to acquire and display pieces of historical equipment otherwise headed for the scrap pile.

Today the project represents one of the finest exhibitions of railway equipment in the United States.

Among the locomotives is United States Potash Co. 3, one of the last three-foot gauge engines in the nation, Outer Harbor Terminal Trailway Co. 2, built by Schenectady in 1887, and retired in 1955 as the oldest steam locomotive in daily service in the U. S., and Southern Pacific Co. 5021, American-built in 1925, and representing the most radical change in locomotives in a quarter century. The engine sported a new wheel arrangement and three cylinders, with the extra one under the smoke box. Of the 58 built, 5021 is the only one remaining, and was the last 4-10-2 locomotive to operate in North America. It was presented to the chapter in March, 1956.

Still another engine on display is Union Pacific Railroad Co. 9000, an American-built in 1926 as the world's largest non-articulated steam locomotive. It is three-cylinder, 4-12-2, and designed to pull mile-long freights at passengers speeds between Omaha and Green River, Neb. The tender holds 22 tons of coal and 18,000 gallons of water.

A historical railroad exhibit would not be a proper display unless it had a real railway depot. That has been taken care of with the acquisition of the former Santa Fe station from Arcadia.

The depot has appeared in numerous motion pictures and is a classic example of the gingerbread architecture of the 1890 era.

Beef cattle inspections to be daily

Fair officials offer an incentive to beef cattle herdsmen to keep an attractive exhibit all during the fair.

Judges will inspect all exhibits on a daily basis and score them on the condition of animals, cleanliness of stalls and aisles, with particular attention being given to neatness and orderliness of the area used for tack and equipment.

Sportsmanship and cooperation of the exhibitor will be taken into consideration.

Judging will be done in two separate categories. One will be for those showing five to 15 animals, with the second for those of more than 15 animals.

Winners will be announced each morning.

The high score winner in each category for the entire fair will receive a trophy.

Junior Livestock Auction slated

The top quality meat has been raised by 4-H, FFA, and college students involved in livestock projects.

Those youngsters seek buyers for their animals to help bring their learning and business experience to a successful close.

Buyers are restaurants, markets, banks, service clubs, individuals and other organizations that support such educational programs.

The auction will feature steer, hogs, and sheep.

A 1,000-pound steer will yield about 450 pounds of beef, a 200-pound pig about 130 pounds of pork, and a 100-pound sheep about 50 pounds of lamb.

In 1976, the average price per pound for swine was 84 cents a pound. For sheep it was 95 cents, and for beef it was 68 cents.

A sales catalog listing the animals for sale, their official weight, breed and owner, will be provided to buyers the day of the auction. Hogs will go up for bid at 1 p.m., lambs at 2:30 p.m. and beef will sell at 7 p.m.

Jill Lloyd of Cal Poly Pomona received $8 a pound for her 106-pound Hampshire-Suffolk Cross grand champion lamb in 1976. Successful bidder was Sam Periconne, representing Vernon Meatland.

Bonny Brown of Glen Avon 4-H Club became a three-time winner at the auction in 1976 when her grand champion market hog sold for $3 a pound. Clougherty Packing Co. of Saugus, packers for Farmer John, bought the champ.

O. H. Kruse Grain and Milling Co. of El Monte paid the high price of $2.90 a pound for a 1,132-pound Simmental Crossbred steer.

Anyone may bid at the auction.

Largest clear-span building to be used for the first time

What has been described as the largest clear-span building in the world has been completed at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds and will be used as a livestock pavilion during the 1977 fair.

According to its manufacturer, Pascoe Steel Corp. of Pomona, the pavilion is the largest clear span of its kind erected anywhere in the world.

The 66,000-square-foot structure will be used for the first time during the current fair.

Fred M. Bruderlin, the fair's assistant general manager, estimated that the total construction cost will be about $600,000.

Bleachers will seat about 400.

The pavilion has replaced a wood barn of about the same size.

Fair visitors will be able to view six breeds of show horses in one end of the building. Those include draft, Pony of the Americas, quarter, Appaloosa, and all breeds.

Sheep and goats will be exhibited in the remainder of the pavilion. A ring has been set up and will be used for judging of the animals.

Bruderlin explained that because of the portable nature of the stalls, he anticipates good use of the building during the interim season.

He said that it is ideal for horse sales and shows, and explained that interest for sales and shows already has been expressed.

Livestock costume contest planned

A new contest in the Junior Livestock division of the 50th Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona will be a costume class competition to promote the raising of sheep, and to call attention to the value of lamb and wool to the public.

The contest will be held Monday at 6 p.m. in Ring 1. A trophy and ribbon will be awarded the winner. Second through sixth place will receive ribbons.

The contestant, any person under 19 having a sheep background or an interest in sheep, must use the fair's theme of "Salute to the Golden West" in the presentation.

The contestant and sheep will be judged on originality, attractiveness, and artistry of the entry. Materials and design may be of the contestant's choosing, but harmful coloring will be disallowed.

Cholera epidemic spreads

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — New cases of cholera were reported Wednesday in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and in Iran. But health officials said the epidemic was being brought under control in Syria, the nation hardest hit.

Isolated cases of cholera were also reported in Britain and The Netherlands among recent arrivals from the Middle East.

Officials of the World Health Organization in Geneva said the disease is "not spreading unduly" beyond the epidemic centers.

The Iraq news agency said 30 persons were stricken with cholera in the town of Hamadan in Iran and two cases were reported for the first time in the West Bank of the Jordan River.

Kuwait called for a meeting of Arab League health ministers in Cairo for Sept. 24 to discuss ways of preventing new outbreaks of cholera.

Moslem priests throughout the Arab world opened the three-day holiday of Bairam with prayers asking for Allah's help against the disease.

In Syria, which reported the biggest outbreak, officials said the number of hospitalized cases dropped from 2,300 to just over 2,000. The number of new cases was "decreasing substantially," officials said.

About 70 persons died of the disease in Syria.

In Jordan, Health Minister Abdulrauf Rawabdeh said new cases were down by half and the total number hospitalized was down from 261 to 201 with no deaths.

In Lebanon, where 18 instances of cholera have been officially reported, officials were silent about new cases. Unofficial sources said the number of cases was somewhat higher with three deaths.

Cholera is a gastrointestinal disease spread primarily by microbes carried in human waste contaminating food and water. Flies are often instrumental in the spread of the microbes from fecal matter to food or drink. The symptoms are diarrhea, vomiting, severe dehydration, muscle cramps, weakness and a gray pallor of the skin.

Several Mideastern countries announced stiff measures to combat the disease, including inoculations, educational campaigns and attempts to avoid the spread of contaminated food.

But government warnings often went unheeded as Moslems began Bairam, the traditional feast that concludes the month-long Ramadan fast.

In Cairo, Egyptians munched chick peas sold in paper cups and ate spaghetti from bowls passed from one customer to another, washed down with water drunk from common glasses dipped in buckets. Often the food was swarming with flies.

In Syria, witnesses said health measures were more effective with security forces enforcing a ban on street sales of most foods and a cleanup campaign under way.

British health authorities said two persons are recovering from cholera in hospitals. One was an Iraqi man who arrived from Baghdad and the other a British woman who had been to Turkey.

But questions of ethnic balance brought up

High school site in Diamond Bar approved

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

The question of just how many high schools will be in the Pomona school district in the next five years made itself painfully obvious Wednesday night as the Pomona school board voted 3-1 to acquire and build a high school on a 43.5-acre site at the northeast corner of of Golden Springs Road and the Pomona Freeway in Diamond Bar.

Serious questions of ethnic balance were implied in the discussion surrounding the board's action as trustee Eugene Whitlock moved initially that the board acquire the $900,000 site and that the school built there become one of the district's three comprehensive high schools rather than an additional fourth high school.

This created a lengthy discussion, with trustee C. Allen Braswell renewing his opposition to the high school on what he termed insufficient enrollment projections to warrant a high school in the area.

Board President Don Donnelly said that making the high school in Diamond Bar the district's third high school would create "a great busing problem" for the district.

Donnelly said that public education does not belong in the busing business.

The issue became particularly hot when Braswell asked that the board approve a motion assuring the voters that the new high school would abide with the 14th amendment to the Constitution, that section dealing with citizenship rights.

Braswell had earlier asked for an amendment to the motion to acquire and build the high school that would have called for the ethnic ratio of the schoool to reflect the ethnic ratios of the entire district.

At one point, when Diamond Bar Municipal Advisory Councilman George Resh noted that many Diamond Bar residents send their children to parochial schools rather than Ganesha High School, Braswell retorted, "I have never actively sought to deprive a child of a religious education."

But it was Braswell's insistence on the Constitutional question that irked his colleagues.

Said trustee Frances Livingston, "I don't feel as though I have to reaffirm anything."

Mrs. Livingston said she felt the oath of office she had taken upon being seated as a board member was sufficient to meet any consitutional needs.

She was joined in her sentiments by both Whitlock and Donnelly. Whitlock said that such a motion implied on the board's part it would otherwise not meet its Constitutional obligations.

Donnelly denounced Braswell's request as a political ploy.

Should the district make the high school in Diamond Bar a fourth high school, considerable ethnic balance questions might be raised. The Diamond Bar high school area would be predominantly white and Ganesha High School area would be predominantly black.

If the Diamond Bar high school became a third high school and Ganesha High School were closed, then the new school's ethnic balance would be much the same as Ganesha's.

The board also voted 4-0 (trustee C. J. Mendoza was absent) to have the superintendent negotiate the fine points of a contract for the purchase of the land from the Transamerica Development Corp.

That purchase, of course, will be contingent on a bond election thus far tentatively planned for sometime next spring.

Bonita board unanimously approves pact

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

The 15-month long contract dispute between Bonita school district teachers and the school board has ended — but some teachers are still unhappy.

The board unanimously ratified the two-year contract Wednesday night which teachers had approved on a 191 to 28 vote Monday morning. That ended the negotiation stalemate, but evidently not the hostility expressed by teachers.

"I still don't feel they (the board negotiators) gave us a fair shake," Dick Gale, vice president of the Bonita Unified Teachers Association (BUTA) said after Wednesday's meeting. "Those people play rough — they try to intimidate you.

"I'm glad we got a contract, but I can't say we did that well."

Gale noted it was unlikely that teachers and the board will now become "kissing cousins" just because the dispute was settled.

The contract, which was the first one negotiated in the district under the state's collective bargaining law, calls for a 7.8 per cent salary increase over the teachers' 1975-76 pay schedule.

It also provides a 38 per cent increase in fringe benefits. Teachers will be getting an average of $1,100 per year for benefits such as medical and dental plans and tax shelter annuities.

The agreement includes wage and fringe benefit reopeners in March of 1978 and binding arbitration of grievances — considered a major victory for teachers.

An extra "sweetener" will be $500 in a lump sum given to those teachers who are returning from last year. Cost of that to the district will be $146,000.

Supt. James Johnson outlined the contract for trustees Wednesday, and they approved it without comment. "In my opinion, it's an excellent contract."

Johnson pointed out that class sizes will be kept to a maximum of 30 students per teacher. If the load exceeds 31 students per class, a new teacher would be hired, he said.

Cost of the entire package to the district will be $700,000, said Johnson. The agreement extends until June 30, 1979 but permits wage reopeners, giving teachers a chance to obtain an increase for 1978-79.

Gale stated that teachers "got nothing" for the 1976-77 school year, and the 7.8 percent is only for 1977-78.

He added that teachers had agreed not to strike for the remainder of the contract period under a "concerted activities" clause. Teachers also failed to gain an "agency shop" proposal which would require all Bonita teachers to be members of BUTA.

BUTA's original request for 1977-78 was a 15.36 percent pay hike. "We couldn't quite afford that," said Johnson. Teachers had rejected a 3 percent hike for 1976-77.

Board President Eugene Bowers said after the meeting he was "delighted" the contract was settled, "but I'm sorry it took so long to occur. Now we can get down to business and take care of the children in the district.

Johnson said the anticipated receipt of new state monies had given the district enough funds to afford the 7.8 percent boost. He had maintained earlier the district was too poor to afford more than a small wage increase.

RECREATION SITE

A bulldozer scoops up pieces of a wall of the old recreation building at the Montclair Civic Center to make way for a larger, 12,138-square-foot structure that will cost $1 million. The new center will house recreation offices, lounge, meeting rooms, stage facilities and meeting hall. Funds were provided by the federal public works act.

Illegal aliens' employers may have to pay medical bills

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

Employers who hire illegal aliens in Los Angeles County may soon have to foot their medical expenses.

The county Board of Supervisors is calling for an ordinance that would make the employers responsible for bills left unpaid by those who are living here illegally.

Supervisor Peter Schabarum says the county's medical services provide many million dollars in health care to illegal aliens who can't afford to pay for their own, from simple checkups to pregnancies and major operations.

The ordinance was requested by Supervisor James Hayes who said he was tired of waiting for help from other sources.

"We have waited too long and been disappointed too often in our hope that solutions to our problems would come from the federal or state governments," he declared.

Hayes said for many months now the mass illegal entry of aliens has been a prominent national and local issue, and "nowhere is the problem more pressing than in Los Angeles County."

He claimed that according to the Immigration and Naturalization Service there are 700,000 illegal aliens living in the county, about one out of every 10 residents.

"They impose a substantial load upon services financed by county taxes," he added. "Seven hundred thousand people, no matter where they come from, inevitably bring with them great needs for schools, fire protection, law enforcement services, courts, sanitation services and other things."

However, Hayes contended, nowhere is the extra load felt more heavily than in the department of health services. He said a report two months ago set the cost of such services for illegal aliens at more than $50 million a year.

"Although the county is paid back for some of these costs, I am advised that most of this amount is paid out of the county general funds," he said.

Hayes said he felt that while it would be cruel to withdraw medical services from aliens, the county had to recoup some of the costs.

He called for an ordinance within 30 days that would make the employers responsible for payment.

Four of 15 against incorporation

Tri-communities city council candidates split

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

The fight between Alta Loma separatists and proponents of the tri-communities incorporation continued to smolder Wednesday.

Four of 15 candidates for the Rancho Cucamonga City Council, which would be formed if the voters in Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda vote to incorporate, told a Cucamonga Chamber of Commerce audience they are against forming the city.

Each of the four, Earl R. Kunkel, Lee Nelsen, Carl P. Stark and Wanda R. Dixon, wants Alta Loma incorporated by itself.

"I am against incorporation of the three cities into one," said Kunkel. He said he was running for the Rancho Cucamonga council to serve as a "watchdog" on the new city in the event incorporation is approved.

"I believe in small communities, where the people have a bigger voice. I want to see the area maintain its identity," said Nelsen.

Stark and Mrs. Dixon, who was represented at the luncheon by Alta Loma Alone leader Mary Barlow, said taxes would be higher and citizen control reduced if the three communities become one city.

Those opinions were assailed by the remainder of the candidates, however.

"Incorporation should have happened before now. Some years ago I supported the incorporation of Cucamonga. Unfortunately it failed. Today we face the same problems we could have solved then," said Leonard R. Gorczyca.

If incorporation fails, said Gorczyca, Upland, Ontario and Fontana will reach out in annexation efforts.

"Time is running out. The area will be chopped up and will lose its individual integrity," he said.

Fragmentation of the tri-communities through annexation to surrounding cities, said Jon D. Mikels, will eventually mean higher taxes and little local control.

"A beautiful, well balanced city does not happen haphazardly. Incorporation is needed immediately," said Mikels.

"An elitist enclave is not feasible," she said.

Mrs. Godlin, a resident of Alta Loma herself, described the commercial and industrial areas in Cucamonga and Etiwanda as "essential" to creation of a balanced community.

"None of the three cities can successfully incorporate by itself without significantly increasing local property taxes," said Bob Prasser.

He and other candidates favoring incorporation said no property tax increase would be needed during the first year if incorporation is approved.

The tax rate for Rancho Cucamonga, if incorporated, would be set at 36 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for the first year.

Most of the candidates supporting formation of the city agreed that the first important step for the new city will be creation of a strong planning department and commission.

"Growth cannot be stopped. But we must work with developers to insure quality. All three areas have to work together," said Herman Rempel.

While the candidates generally agreed that incorporation would provide needed local control of growth, they disagreed with the contention that Rancho Cucamonga would erase the individuality of each of the tri-communities.

Nearly half of the candidates stated they would support the "village concept" or "two-tier" form of local government.

Under that system, the elected council would appoint or otherwise form citizen councils in Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda. Each of the citizen councils would review developments and other matters pertaining to its "village" and make recommendations to the elected council.

Census takers sought

Additional applications are being sought by the City of Pomona for temporary jobs being filled in connection with a special city census.

The city will need 175 persons to work on the special census to be conducted from Sept. 26 through Oct. 21. Canvassers will be paid $2.60 an hour.

Health law goes begging

Two-thirds of the children of the nation's poorest parents have never seen a dentist, and about 60 percent of those youngsters have chronic medical conditions which aren't being treated.

Compared with the children of more affluent families, the prevalence of heart disease among the poor is three times as great. Six times as many low-income youngsters have hearing impairments and five times as many have mental illness.

In theory, there is no more meritorious mission for this country's federal, state and local government health agencies than to identify the debilitating medical problems of impoverished youngsters and provide treatment at a cost their families can afford.

In practice, a federal law passed almost a decade ago mandated the operation of just such a program, known as Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment or EPSDT.

But little has been done to improve the lot of millions of sick and needy children because of a disgraceful record in insensitivity, incompetence and even hostility on the part of those who were supposed to administer EPSDT.

Although the law requiring the joint federal-state program became effective in January 1968, it gave the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) 18 months to draft the necessary regulations and explain to the states the addition of EPSDT to the Medicaid program.

When the target date of July 1, 1969 arrived, however, virtually nothing had been done. In fact, it wasn't until early 1972 — more than four years after the law was passed and 2½ years after the program was supposed to be operating — that HEW's regulations finally took effect.

The potential of the program probably was best described by then-HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger, when he cited EPSDT's few successes in 1974:

"We found children whose rotting teeth had abscessed gums and were pouring poisons into their systems. Dentists treated them . . . We found children who saw the writing on the blackboard as a blur. They were fitted with glasses."

But the Children's Defense Fund, a nonprofit Washington organization, has just completed a comprehensive study which concludes that only a quarter of the needed health screenings are being conducted on the approximately 13 million children eligible for assistance.

Among those who are screened, an inadequate follow-up system results in treatment for only slightly more than half of the cases of anemia, lead poisoning, parasite infections, respiratory ailments and a host of other major medical problems.

The study identifies numerous other EPSDT failures, including inability to link children with sources of continuing health care and the virtual refusal to deal with developmental problems such as speech impairments, learning disabilities and emotional disturbances.

Criticized in the report are not only the foot-dragging federal bureaucrats but also the state health administrators who have never been enthusiastic about the program as well as the city and county health officials who have brought neither inspiration nor dedication to EPSDT at the local level.

Several months ago, President Carter unveiled a package of reforms designed to improve the entire undertaking and rename it the Child Health Assessment Program or CHAP. Congress will begin considering that package soon.

But Wendy Lazarus, director of the Children's Defense Fund study, believes that although Carter's proposal "includes some very important provisions and improves the lot of many kids, it only goes 60 percent of the way toward what's needed."

The time has come to abandon such half-measures and fulfill the special promise of this program: to give the children of the poor the chance to compete — without the handicap of an unnecessary medical disability — for the best our society can offer in education, employment and self-advancement.

More dissent on canal treaty

Dear Editor:

Your issue of Sept. 7 contained a letter by Evelyn Rigby Moore recommending we ditch our canal by "cooperation." But in suggesting we follow the dictator Torrijos, she failed to mention that he does allow one political party — the Communist Party. She forecasts the future there by saying, " . . . a totally new generation of young Panamanians will grow up, educated to be proud of their inheritance and trained . . ." Right, but "trained" by the Communist Party.

Speaking to the American Legion convention in Denver Aug. 22, Sen. Strom Thurmond, who had just returned from Panama, told the Legionnaires that the Canal Zone was purchased in the same manner as Louisiana or Alaska. "If people started to riot in Louisiana or Alaska, would we just give up?" he asked.

Ronald Reagan, addressing Young Americans for Freedom in New York Aug. 25, said that the new treaty would eliminate our rights of sovereignty acquired by the original treaty. Without these rights, we must ask what is to prevent a Panamanian regime one day from simply nationalizing the canal and demanding our immediate withdrawal.

Paul Harvey, Sen. Thurmond, the writer of a former letter on Panama, Beth Page, basically agree that a new treaty is unnecessary and/or harmful to America. To "know better" is simply a case of "superfantasia."

Mississippi DA fails lie test

WASHINGTON — In an earlier column, we reported that some influential Mississippi politicians maneuvered behind the scenes to quash an investigation of a vice squad officer after he warned privately: "If I go down, I'm not going down alone."

The threat came from Lt. John Moulder, the former head of the Jackson, Miss., vice squad, after the FBI began investigating charges that he coerced a young woman to submit to his sexual demands.

Like the Watergate case, this attempt to cover up a minor, if sordid, offense may develop into a major scandal. We have learned, for example, that Moulder has been closely linked with Jackson's powerful and popular district attorney, Ed Peters.

An undercover agent for the state's organized crime task force has accused both Moulder and Peters of negotiating to take payoffs to protect prostitution. When we confronted Peters with the charge, he vigorously denied it and offered to take a lie detector test. We agreed to give him the test.

At first, he backed out of the offer but finally took the test from his own hand-picked polygraph operator. But he agreed to allow an independent operator to monitor the testing. Both experts reported back to us that Peters failed the lie detector test. Here are the details:

The task force hired 330-pound Manfred Baron, alias the Fat Man, four years ago to infiltrate the Dixie Mafia. This is a loose association of criminals who hijack trucks, fence stolen goods, procure prostitutes and engage in other illegal pursuits.

Baron started out on the wrong side of the law and wound up with a prison record for various crimes. But he has been using his knowledge of the underworld for the past 15 years to help lawmen catch and convict top criminals. A police officer, who has worked intimately with Baron for years, told us his secret reports have always been completely accurate.

In his reports to the task force, he related that he had posed as an out-of-state gangster seeking political protection for a stable of prostitutes. He was directed to a Jackson paving contractor named Leo Hall, who has been convicted of two felonies.

Baron's secret reports quote Hall as telling him that protection money should be paid to District Attorney Peters. Baron eventually was introduced to Lt. Moulder who was identified as the district attorney's personal representative.

Police officers staked out Baron's meeting with Hall and Moulder. The undercover agent also made a secret tape recording of his conversations with Hall.

With this evidence to back up his story, Baron reported to the task force that Hall and Moulder demanded a $600 weekly payoff for the protection of 10 prostitutes. The protection money would be shared, they said, with Peters.

All three denied Baron's account when we confronted them. The district attorney was the most emphatic, and offered to take a lie detector test.

But we could find no competent Mississippi polygraph operator who would touch the case. The head of the Mississippi State Polygraph Association, Sam Ivey, warned us that an out-of-state operator might risk arrest if he administered the test without a Mississippi license. Ivey is a friend, we learned, of the district attorney.

Finally, we agreed to let Peters' handpicked polygraph man administer the test, and he agreed to let an independent expert monitor it. We also agreed not to print the allegations against Peters if the tests showed he was telling the truth.

The respected Franklin Security Systems of Norfolk, Va., sent an expert to oversee the test. We were also represented by Dennis Smith, the Peabody Award-winning investigative reporter for WLBT-TV in Jackson, who has worked with our reporters on the story.

Peters was asked by the polygraph operator: "In 1974, did you send Lt. Moulder to meet with Leo Hall to set up protection for prostitution in Jackson or in Hinds County?" Peters said he did not, but the machine showed he was lying.

On the second examination, the question was reworded: "Did you tell John Moulder to go meet with Leo Hall for the purpose of setting up protection of prostitutes in Jackson or in Hinds County?" Again Peters denied it, and again the machine showed he was not telling the truth.

Both Franklin's operator, David Oller, and Peters' polygrapher, David Bethea, agreed upon the readings. Oller told us the polygraph is 96 to 97 percent accurate.

Peters, nevertheless, continued to insist he is innocent of any wrongdoing. The sex charge against Moulder has been dropped, meanwhile, after Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., complained to the Justice Department about the FBI investigation. There is no reason to believe Eastland had any direct knowledge of the case. He intervened, apparently, at the request of political friends in Mississippi.

Moulder was dropped from the vice squad but remains on duty with the police force. He has been assigned, interestingly, as the liaison officer between the Jackson police and District Attorney Peters.

Postal Service under fire

You want to know why the price of postage is soaring while the quality of postal service is declining? Hear this:

The Gary, Ind., post office is fairly typical.

The lowest-paid unskilled worker in the Gary post office gets $16,000 a year. That is more than the pay of the average schoolteacher or the average policeman.

No wonder the three-cent stamp now costs 13 cents and the post office wants it raised to 16!

Three states have initiated a federal court lawsuit which seeks to roll back the cost of mailing a letter.

In open court, the states of Maine, Massachusetts and Indiana are going to reveal some of the most grotesque extravagance ever attributed to any government agency.

At the same time, the National Association of Attorneys General is probing the Postal Service — documenting what may be construed as fraud.

Legally, that's strong language. But more and more the evidence appears to warrant strong language.

Indiana Attorney General Theodore Sendak, who initiated this investigation, believes that consumers are being defrauded — "even if only 13 cents at a time."

He says there is now no control over the post office. "It does not have the political control of the people. It does not have the control of the Congress. It does not have controls which any other independent business would have — with stockholders and profit-and-loss statements."

And of course it does not have any competition. Indeed, there is a federal law prohibiting competition. You — personally, individually — are prohibited from delivering a letter to your neighbor's mailbox.

Personally, Attorney General Sendak favors return of the Postal Service to congressional supervision. Then, at least, extravagances would be periodically ventilated and curtailed.

As is, he says, the cost of sending a 13-cent first class letter is eight cents. That indicates five cents worth of waste or fraud someplace.

It could be waste. In addition to the disproportionate pay scale for postal workers — and the fact that they cannot be fired even for inefficiency — there are grotesque examples of postmasters making more than $16,000 a year assisted by clerks making $6.91 an hour though they handle postal business amounting to only about $5,000 a year!

The National Association of Attorneys General has designated one of its own, Ohio Attorney General William Brown, as consumer protection chairman.

It was he who bulldogged the expose of GM engine switches.

It is he, in your behalf, who will probe the pricing, payroll practices and control of the Postal Service.

Hardworking, efficient and honest postal employees — instead of resenting and resisting this effort — should want to assist it in any way they can.

Just in jest

With the Disability Rights Group, the League of Women Voters, Council for Senior Citizens, Civil Liberties Union, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Americans for Democratic Action, League of United Latin American Citizens, Veterans Organizations, the National Rifle Association, Equal Rights for Women advocates, the Sierra Club, Ralph Nader and George Meany all telling him how to run the country, you'd think the president of the United States would have all the answers to all the ills this country could ever fall heir to. But with all that help, plus the advice of a hundred other equally all-wise groups and individuals, I still think it would be much simpler and a lot more fun just to be a president's brother.

Doubtful need to reveal age

By EARL G. WATERS

Is it really necessary to display one's birth date on the driver's license? The question resurfaces from time to time at the state Department of Motor Vehicles as a result of complaints from citizens. Although the protests are largely from women, customarily coy about their age, a surprising number of males also indicate sensitivity to the subject.

Until a few years ago the license contained both the date of birth and the age at time of issuance. But objections finally persuaded officials that the practice was redundant and the age was dropped. Date of birth, however, remains as part of the information presently required by law to be printed on the license.

But new impetus for deleting the birth date has been given by recent publicity given legislative efforts to protect individual rights to privacy.

Departmental authorities maintain it is essential to know the age of driver applicants. Since the laws prescribe the minimum age of eligibility for a license and statistics on driver performance make it incumbent for DMV to watch for certain indicators of impaired driving ability in the elderly, their position seems justified.

Not so meritorious is the claim of law enforcement officials that the showing of age on a driver's license is an aid when stopping motorists for traffic violations. As DMV personnel point out, in any question of identity or involvement in a serious offense, the police have access to almost instant computerized checks.

Even if law enforcement could make a convincing case for age information on the license, DMV says it would be a simple matter to devise a code which would not be known to the general public but would serve the police purposes.

What appears to be closer to the truth of the matter is that the age and other detail which appears on the license is there for the accommodation of merchants and other non-governmental operators who have increasingly come to rely on the license as an identification card. And it is this demand for the license, and the inevitable disclosure of one's age, when cashing a check or obtaining credit which ires the ladies the most.

The irony of this widespread useage is the almost blind acceptance of the driver's license as a bona fide testament of one's identity.

While it is true that for the majority of citizens the licenses presented are valid representations, it is also a fact that they are no guarantee of one's credit. More important, they are not reliable identification. For it is not difficult for anyone with intent to defraud to acquire any number of driver's licenses, each under a different name, replete with varying descriptions as to height, weight, color of eyes and hair, birth date and address. With wigs and theatrical makeup, even the pictures can be different.

Officials not only concede this is possible but admit it happens. As one DMV official stated, the situation will continue until the day when driver applicants are fingerprinted, something the Legislature repels at authorizing.

What it seems to boil down to is that the state unofficially is operating a program to benefit retail creditors which subjects honest persons to unwarranted invasions of privacy while dishonest and fraudulent people find the identification system easy to beat.

Ann Landers

Get rid of this woman

Dear Ann Landers: Six years ago, my only son, a bright, handsome 17-year-old died as a result of someone else's reckless driving. He lived several weeks with severe brain damage and a broken body. My battle with grief has been tremendous.

Last year someone I know had a young child who was killed in an auto accident. I went to the home to express my sympathy. The woman began to phone me almost immediately after my visit — "just to talk." Then she started to drop in unexpectedly at all hours because I had "been through the same thing and was the only one who understood what she was going through."

I prayed for strength to help her. I felt as if a drowning person had grabbed on to me and was pulling me down to the bottom of the sea with her. Now I feel guilty for resenting the way she has insinuated herself into my life. At the same time I know I must get rid of her or I'll crack up. What should I do? — Sinking

Dear Friend: You do not owe the woman emotional support at the expense of your mental health. There is something sick (maybe even punitive) about the way she has glommed on to you.

Be perfectly candid. Tell her you cannot allow your old wounds to be reopened and her presence does just that. Suggest she work through her grief with a professional therapist. Then ring off.

Dear Ann Landers: Quite a while ago you printed a letter from a girl whose boyfriend was constantly tickling her. Your reply made reference to the fact that tickling was once a method of torture. A bet is riding on this. Please reprint that letter and settle it. — Vitally Interested

Dear Vital: I had to dig back two-and-a-half years but here it is:

Dear Ann Landers: You have printed several letters about relatives who tickle children "All in fun." May I comment?

As a student of Oriental history and Far Eastern culture, I can tell you that tickling was a form of torture several centuries back. Any pediatrician will verify the fact that prolonged tickling can cause hysterics and even convulsions. The expression "tickled to death" is more than just a phrase. — Vallejo, Cal.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a few words for that Waitress in South Dakota who chastised women for being "stingy tippers." She said she would rather wait on men any day. I have had to endure many waitresses who ignored my presence, except to slap some food in front of me while they are asking my husband if he'd like more water, more coffee, or, "Was the food O.K.?"

If waitresses gave women the same attention and courtesy they give men, the tips might be bigger. — Irate In Oklahoma

Dear Okla: I received dozens of letters from women who wrote to express the same sentiments. The volume of mail and the intensity of their wrath convinced me that there's something to it. There's got to be a lesson in here someplace.

Wrist cutters don't mean it

Medical researchers contend that few women who cut their wrists in seeming attempts at suicide really mean to kill themselves. Three fourths of them reveal in subsequent mental examinations that they're all mixed up in matters of physical romance. Mostly, those so described are categorized as promiscuous, but some admit frigidity, and others list different aberrations. For some mysterious reason, men are far less likely than women to do that thing that way. A lot of women who take poisons to commit suicide don't really mean to kill themselves, either, but they're generally much more serious about it than the cutters, the researchers claim.

WRINKLES

Q. "How come only the palms of my hands and the soles of my feet wrinkle when they're in the water too long?"

A. Because there aren't any fat glands therein. Elsewhere under the skin those fat glands lubricate the tissue so as to repel water instead of soaking it up.

Q. "What kind of special wood is needed in the making of pianos?"

A. That's up to the maker. It's not like a violin, that piano. The tone doesn't depend on the kind of wood. So the wood is picked for cabinet looks, mostly.

Q. "How can the capital city of Albany, N.Y., have high and low tides when it's 150 miles inland?"

A. Because so much of the Hudson River lies below sea level. Albany's tides on that river run 4½ feet.

PHOTOGRAPHIC MEMORY

"Eidetic imagery" is scientific jargon for that phenomenon known as photographic memory. Some scholars have said there's no such thing. They didn't possess same, evidently. But others claim about 12 people out of every 100 are thusly gifted at one time or another in their lives. That's the key line, gifted at one time or another in their lives. That's the key line, "at one time or another." It's exceedingly rare among grown-ups. The year in which a person is most apt to be able to recreate a visual image of a page or picture just seen for a moment is age 7.

Albert Del Masso of Oakland, Calif., says he's seen some African natives so hungry for protein that they answer drum calls to converge on an eight-ton elephant, cut it up in less than an hour, and eat it entirely in one night.

Dr. Miller

Take his word on skunks

DEAR DR. MILLER: I've heard a couple of pointers about getting sprayed by skunks or, rather, not getting sprayed, that I'd like to verify. First, that a skunk will never spray you as long as his tail is down, and second, that you can pick up a skunk by the tail and it can't spray. Am I correct? — K.O.

DEAR K.O.: One: A skunk doesn't spray with its tail down, that's true. But it can put its tail up rather rapidly. Two: Skunks can spray when hoisted by the tail. In fact, they usually do.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Grandfather's what you might call a parakeet nut. He's always bringing home a new (or an old) bird from who knows where.

He keeps them in his aviary on the back porch. This has been all right with me up to now, but I just heard about this psittacosis disease that people get from parakeets and that it can be fatal. Is there any treatment for it? I'm especially worried because my young son is becoming interested and beginning to hang around these birds. — D.E.

DEAR D.E.: A parakeet infected with, and capable of transmitting, psittacosis is most likely to be a bird newly introduced into the family. His habit of frequently picking up birds from here and there would mean Grandpa's much more likely to pick up a parakeet with this disease sooner or later. In humans, the disease may resemble an attack of the flu and, if ignored or improperly treated, it may indeed terminate fatally. The antibiotic tetracycline is the drug of choice in treatment.

In contrast to many diseases, children are especially resistant to psittacosis, and people over 50 (presumably Grandpa would be included in this group) are highly susceptible. It's within this older group that the mortality rate is highest.

Battle over smoking heats up

Mark my word. The next group of militants to dominate the American scene will be the non-smokers. I've seen it coming for a couple of years now.

The face-off started out civil enough. First, the non-smokers displayed a small sign with, "THANK YOU FOR NOT SMOKING." The smokers retaliated with a polite, but stiff, "YOU'RE WELCOME."

The smokers countered with, "Do you mind very much if we smoke?" to which the non-smokers replied with a smile, "Of course not. Just don't EX-hale."

The exchanges have continued to gain momentum and every day in this country a bumper sticker proclaiming, "I QUIT!" crashes into a bumper sticker maintaining, "I DIDN'T."

Airlines have become a battleground for the dissention. The segregation of smokers and non-smokers has divided wives and husbands, executives and clients, and has gotten some illicit weekends off to a shaky start.

Recently, on a guided tour, the sightseeing buses were divided into smoking and non-smoking. One day when a man boarded the non-smoking bus, someone noted he had a pack of cigarettes bulging in his shirt pocket. "He's one of them," cried a non-smoker. "We don't want your kind on this bus," he said. "Take your nicotine breath and your stained index finger back to your own group!" For a minute, I thought the poor man was going to be stoned as he made a hurried exit.

"You shouldn't have talked to your Father that way," said the woman. "I know Mom," he said, "but sometimes being cruel is a kindness."

The battle is going to get worse. There are evidences everyday. Little things. Like a Marlboro man rode his horse on the lawn of a non-smoker in Wyoming the other day and made do do.

There is an underground movie being circulated showing that clean air causes bleeding gums.

Rumors have it that small fires are being started by militant smokers, but I don't for a minute buy that. I mean, have you ever known a smoker in your life who has a match on him?

Dr. Lamb

Protein in the urine

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter is 12 years old and about two years ago a urine specimen showed excess protein. A year later another specimen showed too much protein. A 24-hour specimen showed the same thing.

She had X rays of her kidneys using dye and everything was normal, kidneys, bladder, urethra. A pediatric urologist said there was no disease present that could be causing it. He did say that some people produced protein in their urine just from being overactive but my daughter is not active athletically. He also said some people could get it from standing.

What are the consequences of having too much protein in the urine if everything else is all right? Can she just continue on with this condition or is there a chance something might develop later? I don't know if we should pursue this or just think that happens to be the way she is.

DEAR READER — Having had a good examination and having been told that your daughter has no disease I would think you could relax about it.

Your daughter probably has orthostatic albuminuria, which is what your pediatric urologist meant. Albumin is one of the blood proteins we all have. It actually leaks into the urine from the kidney and is reabsorbed by the kidney so that we don't lose very much of it in the urine. Anything that increases the amount leaked by the kidney will increase the amount that shows up on a urine test.

In some people standing seems to increase the leak into the urine or the failure of the kidneys to reabsorb albumin in sufficient amounts. Orthostatic refers to standing. Hence, the term orthostatic albuminuria. Sometimes this can be demonstrated by studying the urine collected during a period when the person was lying down the entire time. That urine will be normal. Another specimen is taken after standing which shows the protein, albumin.

When that is the cause and there is no disease it is not medically important. It is not an indication of kidney disease or future kidney disease.

If you want to check this further I would think you should have her empty her bladder completely and lie down. A couple hours later collect another specimen and have that one checked. If it is normal you can be pretty sure that the variation associated with standing is the explanation.

Albumin can occur in the urine because of a variety of kidney diseases. A simple infection of the kidney may cause it or it may be associated with nephritis. Increased amounts of albumin also appear in the urine during heart failure. It must always be regarded as an indicator. The next step is finding out if it indicates something important or is just a normal variation.

In basic bridge responders to Blackwoods are in the position of Tennyson's light brigade. "Their's not to reason why, their's but to do or die." They don't have to die, but they do have to respond as asked.

In advanced bidding there are several situations where responder will take independent action.

Today's hand illustrates the simplest one. South follows up his Blackwood four notrump with five notrump to ask for kings. This follow up also informs partner that they have all the aces. There is no reason to invite seven when you know there is an ace against you.

At this point North revalues his hand. South was clearly thinking of seven when he bid five notrump. Could there be a trump loser? How about another loser?

South could not know that North held four sure and five very probably club tricks so North bids the grand slam which makes easily in spite of the bad club break.

Ask the Jacobys

Several readers have asked us if it is proper to show your hand and claim after trumps are drawn and the rest of your cards are good.

The answer is that it is perfectly proper, but you had best be sure of your claim, because there are various possible restrictions on future play. In general, it is better just to play the hand out quickly and save possible arguments.

IN RUNOFF ELECTION — Mayor Coleman A. Young talks to reporters in Detroit after vote count placed him and Councilman Ernest Browne in runoff election Nov. 6.

Two blacks in Detroit runoff

DETROIT (AP) — Two black candidates for mayor will square off for the first time in Detroit's history when incumbent Coleman A. Young faces challenger Ernest Browne this November.

Browne, a 51-year-old career city employe, drew strong support in the city's white community to finish second to Young in Tuesday's nonpartisan primary election. They outdistanced two major white challengers among the 11 candidates.

With the final results in from all 1,222 precincts, Young finished with 163,853 votes to Browne's 62,834.

Thomas Dailey, a suburban contractor who moved into the city specifically to enter the mayor's race, finished with 33,990. John Mogk, a Wayne State University law professor, was fourth with 22,598. The remaining challengers were far behind.

Browne, a two-term city councilman, had the backing of the predominantly white police officers and firefighters associations. He ran strong in Detroit's white areas while Young gathered the bulk of his support from the city's black precincts.

Detroit, the nation's sixth-largest city, has about 1.33 million residents, 55 per cent of them black. The black-white voter split, however, is about 50-50.

"We knew the people of Detroit were interested in qualifications for office, sincerity and not in color, and we have been vindicated," Browne said.

Young, 59, whose $300,000 primary campaign concentrated on his ability to secure federal money and make tough decisions, pointed to his margin of victory and said Browne was "still playing catch-up."

The Democratic mayor was an early supporter of Jimmy Carter's presidential candidacy. Browne has not announced a party preference.

"We have just begun," he told cheering supporters.

WILL FACE MAYOR — Detroit Councilman Ernest Browne, who will oppose Mayor Coleman Young in November mayor's race, and wife, Evelyn, greet supporters after primary results put him in the running.

Pushing for saccharin warnings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is pressing Congress to support plans to place cancer warnings on diet foods, soft drinks and other products containing saccharin.

Four administration officials urged the Senate on Tuesday to pass legislation requiring the health warnings on product labels and in advertising.

Canadian studies have shown that saccharin, widely used in diet foods and diet sodas, causes cancer in animals and may cause bladder cancer in humans.

The administration apparently is resorting to health warnings in view of indications that lawmakers, under pressure from many voters, are unwilling to permit the government to ban most sales of saccharin.

The Senate is preparing to act on legislation that would delay for 18 months a proposed Food and Drug Administration prohibition on the marketing of foods and beverages containing the sugar substitute.

The heads of the FDA, the National Institutes of Health and the Federal Trade Commission issued a joint statement supporting inclusion of the warning requirement in any bill delaying implementation of the ban.

FDA Commissioner Donald Kennedy, NIH Director Donald Fredrickson and FTC Chairman Michael Pertschuk said, "Any legislation imposed by Congress that stays regulatory action against saccharin should, we believe, at least contain provisions designed to provide fair warning of the potential hazards of continued consumption of this compound."

The three were supported by Hale Champion, undersecretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Champion said he opposes the saccharin legislation as a bad precedent for congressional interference in the regulatory process "on a product-by-product basis."

Champion is the highest government health official in a position to speak out on the issue because HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., removed himself from the controversy several months ago.

Califano wanted to eliminate any possible conflict of interest. While practicing law in Washington before his appointment to the Cabinet, Califano had represented the Coca Cola Co., the nation's largest single manufacturer of diet soft drinks containing saccharin.

The FDA, after studying the results of Canadian laboratory tests that showed saccharin caused bladder cancer in rats, announced plans last spring to ban sale of saccharin, the only artificial sweetner on the market in foods, beverages, drugs and cosmetics.

In a compromise move to permit continued availability of the sugar substitute to diabetics and others on sugar-free diets, the agency proposed to permit continued sale of saccharin as a single-ingredient, nonprescription drug bearing a cancer warning on the label.

The FDA has held up implementation of its regulations pending congressional action.

Panel approves child pornography measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved unanimously Wednesday a bill to make it a federal crime to use a child under age 16 in the production of pornographic materials.

It also would prohibit the interstate transportation of any child, boy or girl, for the purposes of prostitution.

In addition, the bill would sharply increase penalties for the sale or distribution of pornographic materials.

Sen. John C. Culver, D-Ind., chairman of the committee's subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, said the bill was designed to enable the federal government to take effective action against the sexual exploitation of children.

The Senate committee approved the bill without dissent after rejecting by a 9-4 vote an amendment by Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, to ban the sale or distribution of any obscene material depicting sexually explicit conduct by children.

New secrecy rules?

Carter wouldn't keep secrets under wraps for 10-year period

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is proposing rules that cut four years off the normal time the government may keep most top secrets, but he suggests agencies can make employes sign promises to stay mum while the secrets are under wraps.

In a draft of an executive order obtained by The Associated Press, the President suggests a standard secrecy agreement be developed for all agencies that want employes to sign them "as a precondition of access to classified information and material."

Under present rules, the government can keep its top secrets for 10 years without a special extension. Some agencies now use secrecy agreements. But only a few, including the CIA, require them from prospective employes before they are hired.

The Supreme Court said two years ago that such secrecy agreements give the CIA the right to censor the writings of former employes.

Because of the agreements, the court rejected First Amendment freedom - of - the - press claims by Victor Marchetti and John D. Marks, who said they should be permitted to publish "The CIA and the Cult of Intelligence," a critical account of the agency, without prior censorship.

Carter, who has pledged an open administration, asked his staff last June to review the government's entire secrecy system. The executive-order draft resulted. In a first for such orders, the draft will be sent this month to agencies, congressional committees and interested non - government groups for their comment.

Then the National Security Council and Carter's domestic affairs staff will decide on the final form to present to Carter for his signature. With Carter's signature, the order will replace secrecy rules set by former President Richard M. Nixon in 1972.

Asked about the Carter draft, Gary Barron, a member of the National Security Council staff who helped write it, said the secrecy agreements were "a thing the lawyers did. ... The whole idea was to have something uniform. This thing was not put in there to enjoin any publications. That was not the intent."

Barron called the six-year limit on classification in all designations, including top secret, "the most effective part" of the executive order.

The draft places a six-year limit on secret classifications as well. Presently, the normal limit on classifications in that category is eight years. The draft maintains the present six-year limit on confidential classifications.

But it lets anyone with top-secret classification authority grant extensions in all categories for up to 20 years. After review at that time, the extensions could be renewed for up to 10 years at a time.

Barron conceded this could keep information classified indefinitely. But he said making lower-authority classifiers seek out top-secret classifiers for extensions would mean fewer extensions.

Relatively few persons have top secret authority, Barron said, and "hopefully someone with top secret authority would be more responsible and say no."

Like the Nixon rules, the Carter draft bans any classification "in order to conceal violations of law, inefficiency or administrative error, (or) to prevent embarrassment." But, like the Nixon rules, it provides only administrative sanctions.

Barron said Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell rejected anything stronger.

Under other terms of the draft:

—Except for presidential papers and material originated by his advisers, all classified materials are subject to review for possible declassification at the request of "an agency or member of the public, provided the request describes the material sufficiently to enable the agency having custody to locate it with a reasonable amount of effort."

Under the Nixon rules, classified materials were not subject to such review for 10 years. However, they were subject to review anytime under the Freedom of Information Act. Under both the Carter draft and the Nixon rules, presidential materials are exempted from any review for 10 years.

—Nothing may be classified in the first place unless it meets at least one of 13 criteria, all related to national security. Taken together, the criteria spell out precisely what comprises national security.

The Nixon rules contained no such criteria.

You don't worry about acting with gals like Farrah, Marilyn Monroe, says former press agent

STEVENSON, Wash. (AP) — The question of Farrah Fawcett-Majors' acting ability is irrelevant to her fans, says the one-time press agent of the 1950s' ultimate sex goddess, Marilyn Monroe.

"When I handled Marilyn, in her happy days, she was extraordinary," said Roy Craft, recalling his five years, 1952-1957, with the actress. "The difference is, perhaps, that Fawcett-Majors is more of a personality. But an extraordinary personality."

Craft, editor emeritus of the weekly Skamanis County Pioneer who says he finds Miss Fawcett-Majors "delightful," said there is a simple rule in show business: Hustle what you have.

"If you are talking about popularity, marketability, the acting isn't important. Any fine dramatic actress will play the role to which she's assigned," he said.

"But when you get a personality, I think it's a mistake to have her play anything but herself ... The thing is, when someone turns to Farrah Fawcett-Majors on TV, they want Farrah Fawcett-Majors. The question of her acting ability is beside the point."

Milk process featured at county fair

The milking process, from the animal to the bottle, is being demonstrated daily during the 17-day run of the Los Angeles County Fair.

Sponsored by the Southern California Dairy Industry in cooperation with the fair, milk demonstrations are presented at noon, 2, 4, and 6 p.m.

Visitors to the dairy exhibit, located next to the new livestock pavilion, may watch as milk goes through a six-step process.

Besides the dairy, the fair has more than 1,000 animals in open and junior competitions. They range from hefty steers to rabbits and cavies.

Bakersfield woman with bubonic plague

The woman, whose name was not released, apparently was bitten by fleas which had been infected with the disease from wild rodents, said Dr. Leon M. Hebertson, Kern County health officer.

She felt ill a few days after a Labor Day weekend camping trip and went to a local hospital where the rare disease was diagnosed.

The private campground at which they were staying east of Tehachapi Mountain Park has been sprayed with insecticide to kill fleas. Public campgrounds in the Tehachapis have been inspected and showed no evidence of rodent infestation, the health officer said.

SNOOPY BANKS RECALLED — Consumer Product Safety Commission has recalled some 60,000 toy banks because the lead content in paint used on the product exceeds the agency's standard for permissable level. No injuries or illnesses have been reported.

But it could cost taxpayer more

W.H. fuel-eater fleet on way out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is giving the kiss of death to its flet of fuel-hungry, luxury sedans.

Despite the switch to fuel-efficient compacts, the Carter administration — and the taxpayer — will wind up paying more money to lease them.

Those sleek Chrysler sedans that are still cruising through the White House gates at 14 miles to the gallon have been leased for $600 a year. But Chrysler intends to raise the basic rate to $900 per car, even though the White House wants to switch to the economy-sized models.

That's a 50 per cent increase in rates, though the smaller cars will save an undetermined amount of gasoline and further burn in the image of a downhome administration that pooh-poohs such trappings of power as fancy autos.

The new leasing contracts are still being negotiated, so what kinds of cars the White House will get isn't definite. And that means no one knows just how much gasoline the move will save.

Cousin Hugh Carter, the presidential assistant in charge of cutting White House expenses, said he wasn't sure why the rates are going up so much.

In the old days, the Ford Motor Co. leased cars to the White House for $1 a year. And businesses and individuals that lease cars today pay anywhere from $115 to $700 a month.

"It's part of our exposure program," said a Chrysler spokesman. "It's the same general idea as Ford giving their cars to Starsky and Hutch," a popular television show. "You know, everybody except the bad guys drives a Ford."

After a year in the White House motorpool, a car is sold at auction to dealers, who often pass the word to prospective buyers that this was a car fit for a Carterite.

"We don't flaunt it. We don't capitalize on it," said Ike Jarvis, government fleet coordinator for Chrysler, about the White House connection.

"But if someone wants to know where the cars are from, we tell them. I remember selling a car that Mrs. Nixon rode in once, and that seemed to mean a lot to the buyer."

Homicide leading cause of death of young black men

BOSTON (AP) — The leading cause of death among young black men in America is not accidents or any single disease but violent, intentional killing, a study says.

Researchers surveying homicides in Cleveland discovered that the overall homicide rate increased 320 per cent between 1958 and 1974.

They found that about 20 nonwhites died of homicide in Cleveland for every white from 1958 to 1962 and 12 nonwhites for every white from 1963 to 1974.

The study also showed that the age of most victims dropped from the early 40s to the late 20s.

"The homicide trends reported in this study shock us," the researchers wrote. "What happened in Cleveland reflects, in a magnified way, national trends during the same period."

In Washington, Alice Haywood, a spokesman for the National Center for Health Statistics, an agency of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said that nationally homicides were the leading cause of death among nonwhite males, 25 to 34 years old.

She said that in 1975, for example, homicides accounted for 2,506 of the 8,114 young nonwhite deaths in that age group, compared with 1,913 accidental deaths, 439 suicides and 3,256 deaths from diseases of all kinds.

Heart disease, accounting for 525 deaths, and cancer, responsible for 263, led the list of deaths caused by disease.

The researchers, most of them doctors from Case Western Reserve University, published their findings recently in the New England Journal of Medicine.

One of the researchers, Dr. Amasa B. Ford, said the results should convince doctors to take up gun control as a medical issue.

"I think doctors looking at the mortality that results from the casual use and ready availability of guns in this country ought to be strongly opposed to the handgun in particular," Ford said in an interview.

"I think doctors should favor that kind of control as much as they do the reduction of smoking."

Ford added in the interview that the homicide rate seems to have remained fairly stable since 1974, but cited no specific figures.

Between 1958 and 1962, 82 of every 10,000 black men between 25 and 34 died in homicides in Cleveland. The rate rose to 344 of every 10,000 between 1969 and 1974.

Billy says he, Jimmy mind own business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Carter says he has not discussed the propriety of his paid public appearances with his brother, Jimmy Carter.

"I don't tell him how to be President, and he doesn't tell me what to do," said Billy, who estimated he will earn from personal appearances this year about the same amount of money — $200,000 — that his brother will earn as President.

While declining to disclose the fees for individual performances, Billy Carter indicated his total earnings for 1977 from his appearances, his interest in the family peanut warehouse and his gas station will be less than $300,000.

Carter made the comments in an interview in U.S. News & World Report released Sunday.

Mandatory work requirement

EDITOR'S NOTE: President Carter's proposed welfare reform program features a mandatory work requirement for "employable" recipients. Here, in the second of a three part series, is a look at the newest, and probably the most troublesome element in the Carter plan.

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
AP Urban Affairs Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Out here, in a day-care center 2,700 miles from the White House, welfare expert Willie Williams sees a wild card in President Carter's complicated welfare package.

A seven-year welfare veteran who took a job as a day-care counselor and worked her way off the dole, Mrs. Williams says, "The jobs program will be a big help. But the pay is so low, people will need welfare anyways. So what's the point?"

The point, say Carter aides, is to hold down costs and to provide an incentive for public workers to seek jobs elsewhere. In hearing that are secedule to begin this month, administration officials will try to convince Congress that his jobs approach will work.

Subpoverty wages are just one of the of problems that make the jobs plan the most troublesome element of Carter's package of expanded welfare coverage, tax refunds and work.

—Carter wants to move poor people out of the welfare system and into private jobs, but his program offers almost nothing to aid the transition. And in many areas, the private jobs just don't exist.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall says this is the most serious weakness of the jobs plan.

—A huge welfare work force could hold down salaries for regular public employes doing similar work at higher wages. For this reason labor unions vigorously oppose minimum-wage welfare jobs.

—There is a serious danger that some government officials will replace regular employes, paid from local tax receipts, with "bargain basement" public service workers paid from the welfare fund. The process, Marshall's No. 2 worry, is called "substitution."

San Francisco manpower boss Eunice Elton says: "If welfare workers are of any use at all, there will be a tendency to rely on them."

—As Mrs. Williams points out, the minimum wage won't allow the welfare work force to escape poverty without also drawing cash welfare benefits — especially in expensive cost-of-living areas like New York or California. Dependency on welfare will continue.

Typically, a mother or father heading a family of four would receive benefits of $1,444 to supplement the minimum wage of $5,512.

These are the key problem areas that surfaced in discussions with public officials, manpower experts, union leaders and welfare recipients from Seattle to Baltimore, San Francisco to New York.

Carter's "program for Better Jobs and Income" would put 2½-million poor people to work in 1.4-million public service jobs, either full or part time. Federal welfare money would pay the salaries.

But the political opposition and built-in pitfalls threaten chances for success as the program begins its journey through Congress.

In an interview, Secretary Marshall acknowledged the problems and said administration leaders already are working to correct them.

The work requirement would force "employable" recipients to accept a job if one is available.

But where other mandatory work plans failed, Carter's could succeed because he offers more than ultimatums — he also offers jobs. And there is a wage incentives for people to keep them.

Carter's plan has plenty of those: 8,800,000,000 dollars ($8.8 billion) earmarked to pay for the public service jobs.

The number of current public service jobs would be doubled at only a 49 per cent increase in cost because the current program for 725,000 jobs pays prevailing wages, usually much higher than the minimum.

Carter's plan would require an estimated seven million people who are eligible for welfare to work. Some will find low-paying, nongovernment jobs and will receive income aid from the government. But the economy doesn't absorb everyone who wants to work, and the public service jobs are planned to take up the slack.

Work requirements are attractive to many taxpayers who support the costly welfare system, but experts agree that jobs — not required participation — are what's needed to make the work plan succeed.

Study after study indicates that poor Americans want to work as much as the rest of us. Most recently the 10-year

DAY-CARE WORKER — Willie Williams, 43, received income benefits for seven years before working her way off welfare as a day-care counselor. She is critical of the Carter welfare plan, noting the proposed jobs will not pay enough to get people off welfare.

Can Carter welfare plan help stabilize family?

"My husband just walked out on me with 25 cents in my pocket," said the frail redhead, her eyes rimmed with crimson as she walked from an Ingham County welfare office.

In her left hand she clutched a bundle of welfare application forms. In her right hand was another in the day's chain of cigarettes. Her lined forehead made her look older than her 26 years. She and her two daughters were joining the ranks of literally millions of deserted families on welfare.

Does she want her husband back? "I don't know," she answered quietly.

Would more money help? "No."

Would a measure like the Carter plan help? "No," she says. "That's not what's going to do it for my family. It's him. It's my husband. He's got to work out a few things for himself."

The President is selling his plan partly on grounds that it is "profamily." It is true that his proposed combination of expanded benefits, public jobs and tax breaks eliminates current financial incentives for husbands to desert their wives and children, leaving them for the taxpayers to support.

But the findings of current research question whether these incentives really cause much family splitting. And Carter's plan does not do very much to cure what many social researchers, welfare administrators and welfare recipients say are the real causes of broken families on welfare: alcoholism, drug abuse, wife-beating and mental cruelty.

Experts interviewed by The Associated Press suggest new federal services, such as family counseling, are what is needed.

In a recent message to Congress, Carter picked a hypothetical Michigan family of four, similar to Mrs. Dankenbring's, to illustrate the family breakup incentive which he proposes to remove. The fictional father worked at the minimum wage and had a total income, including food stamps and tax credits, of $5,922.

"But if the father leaves, the family will be eligible for benefits totalling $7,076," the President said.

For one thing, Mrs. Dankenbring said her husband worked for far more than the minimum wage, so no incentive to go on welfare existed. "He made $230 a week. We could make ends meet just fine on that and even had a little left over to go out every now and then," she said.

Says welfare mother Pamela, who asked that her last name not be used:

Mandatory work wild card in Welfare program

University of Michigan survey — "5,000 American families: A study in Economic Progress" — said poor Americans usually take work whenever they can find it.

It is hoped that the welfare work force will use public service jobs as a stepping stone to private employment. Public jobs lapse after 12 months and jobholders go on reduced welfare benefits for eight weeks in which they are supposed to seek a regular job.

If they come up empty, they are again eligible for a public service job. If one isn't available there is a safety net, a guaranteed income of $4,200 for a family of four.

"The safety net is critical here," says Arnold Packer, an assistant secretary of labor. The income net is especially important in areas of high unemployment where private jobs just don't exist.

Some poor people — "We don't know how many, exactly," says Marshall — will get help from state or local manpower officials in finding private employment.

Public service workers would be required to accept any private sector job that is offered, but the only dollar-and-cents incentive to find private employment is a tax refund of $54 a month. Even Labor Department experts say that might not have much impact.

Carter did not propose tax credits for companies that hire welfare workers. A credit now exists under the Work Incentive Program and Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long probably will want to retain it.

The welfare work force will be working at a wide variety of low-skill jobs such as cleaning up public parks, emptying hospital bedpans and tending day-care centers.

Unions will seek assurances that regular workers, punching the timeclock at prevailing wages of $4 to $8 an hour in some cities, will not be replaced by low-paid members of the welfare work force.

The AFL-CIO says it will use its clout in Congress to defeat the low-pay provision and replace it with a prevailing-wage scale. And Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, says: "We stand together on this."

However, Baltimore manpower chief Marian Pines notes, "It would be next to impossible to move people out of public service jobs if we paid the prevailing wage. And it would cost a fortune."

The manpower officials believe one way around the thorny wage and subsitution questions is to have welfare workers divide their time between public service jobs and training or job-search programs.

Another troubesome problem is that the Carter plan would phase out the current public service jobs, paying prevailing wages, established under Title VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Mrs. Pines warns, "We've got big trouble if we lose this aid. A lot of cities would be totally screwed up."

In some troubled cities — San Jose, Calif., Hartford, Conn., and Newark, N.J., for example — one of every five city workers is paid with CETA money. New York City will count 28,000 city-CETA workers by the end of this year. These workers are paid the prevailing wages; many do regular jobs and they are eligible to join a union.

Some of the biggest welfare states actually lose money in the switch from Title VI to the welfare jobs program, and Jerry Wurf warns, "If Carter's program doesn't work in the big cities and the big states, it doesn't work at all."

The nine states that lose CETA money in the transition are New York, California, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Conneticut, Oregon, Hawaii, Nevada, Alaska and the District of Columbia.

Stabilizing family a key element

"I wouldn't want my husband back if we got more money on welfare as a whole family. My home is more stable without him here. I feel much better without him."

The present welfare system "doesn't appear to have an effect on family disruption," says Maurice MacDonald of the University of Wisconsin Institute for Research on Poverty.

He says the incentive to split up exists, but that it doesn't seem to motivate many people.

Blanche Bernstein, deputy commissioner of income maintenance in the New York State Department of Social Services, interviewed 500 welfare mothers in a 1975 study she prepared at the New School for Social Research. She found 12 per cent of those whose with broken families said their marriages common-law relationships broke up because of "husband's inadequate earning capacity or financial irresponsility." The remaining family breaks were caused by drugs, alcohol, extramarital affairs, physical and psychological abuse.

She said many welfare families need more than financial aid.

"They've been marked by traumatic experiences, but we're not looking at these families to figure out how we can help," she said.

"We do nothing to help youngsters with their schooling, dropout problems or drugs. Also, there is a group of families who come into the welfare system as intact families," she said. "Every month, those families split up. No one was there to see what to do to prevent the split. That's the kind of service I would give. The Carter package doesn't deal with this at all."

The Carter plan proposes cash assistance and jobs for intact families, but "doesn't even look at the question of services," says John Dempsey, director of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

"We think of problems of battered spouses, money management assistance," he says. 'We're spending well over $2 million on services. We think the federal government should expand its participation."

Isabel Sawhill of the Urban Institute in Washington, author of a 1975 study on the growth of families headed by women, found no hard evidence that the current system causes families to break up.

She and others do say welfare may increase the tendency toward instability by providing women and children with a source of income other than a husband's earnings. This would remain true under the Carter plan.

Even so she and others say that sometimes it could be better for the children if bad marriages break up.

"We know that family stability is associated with low income and with parental conflict and that both of these are generally poor environments for children," she says.

Carter's package would provide 1.4 million public job positions and job training, which social workers say might help the self-esteem of some welare families, especially those with small children. This could ease the tensions of poverty that researchers blame for tearing families apart.

"The kids are often embarrassed when the other kids at school ask them what I do," said one welfare mother of five, who asked not to be identified.

"It's really worse on the kids," adds another welfare mother, Pamela. "They're not dressed as well as other kids in school whose parents work. But my kids don't know what money is anyway. Food stamps to them is money."

Claim management deteriorating each year

Postal employee groups ask Carter to seek more control over service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Groups representing postal employes, saying management of the mail system is deteriorating each year, are asking President Carter to seek greater control over the Postal Service.

The seven organizations, representing supervisory employes as well as unionized workers, say postal management is curtailing services and in some cases letting private businesses take over functions formerly provided by the government.

The groups made their appeal this week in an Oval Office meeting with Carter. But the President made no promises, leaders of the employe groups said afterward.

"He said he would devote attention in the next several days to the problems of the Postal Service," said Emmett Andrews, president of the American Postal Workers Union.

A statement released by the groups said the postmaster general should be appointed by the president "to assure greater accountability."

The postmaster general now is appointed by the governing board of the Postal Service, whose members in turn are named by the president. Since the governors are appointed to nine-year terms, a president has little opportunity to control postal policy.

"Within the next decade, if action is not forthcoming, the Postal Service would be left with economic and social options which would be limited to the delivery of non-profitable mail to remote areas, agricultural produces and large, hard-to-handle packages," the critics said.

The administration has several times postponed testifying on legislation that would give the president the power to appoint the postmaster general and would increase postal appropriations.

Seattle's street sleepers prepare for added misery

SEATTLE (AP) — Their beds are made with cardboard sheets and concrete pillows. The more determined ones drag rusty springs and mildewed mattresses under an abutment or a clump of bushes.

They are the transients — the bums — who live near downtown Seattle's elevated highways, under bridges, in alleys and open doorways.

There are bags and rags and bottles and heaps of clothing — and then the pairs of feet, protruding from doorways and holes in hillsides.

Around the city, along the waterfront and Skid Road, there are dozens of feet.

Under bushes in parks, behind walls, atop ledges, in all the places a man could comfortably lie down or sit propped up, there are either the trappings of the street campers, or the men themselves.

Their lot — never an easy one — is made even tougher with the onset of winter.

"In the summer, it's not so bad, because the weather is not so bad. But here come the rains now, and then the cold, and then the misery," says the Rev. Wes Durland, director of the First Avenue Service Center.

"One of the big problems down here now is that it has suddenly gotten dangerous to sleep out. We've had repeated cases of men being beaten, by bums with wine bottles as well as by people, thugs, who come along in cars," he said.

"That's why so many of them, dozens at a time, are cuddling up together down at Western and Battery under the viaduct — for protection."

Not all of them are winos or unable to get jobs.

The young couple sleeping on a hillside under the Alaskan Way Viaduct were different. They had $1,000 in cash, a 4-month-old baby, and they lived under the viaduct for two months.

"The woman was still breastfeeding the baby," said Bill Bell, a volunteer worker

"I was down there one day, having a spot of wine, and they just put this money out there — 50 $20 bills. The man, named Glen, said, 'Take what you need.'

"Well, I need the money. But I couldn't take theirs, with the baby and all," said Bell. "They said, 'We don't need it. We're God's children. The Lord will provide.'

"I think they left last week," Bell said. "Man, I couldn't figure that one."

"A few years ago, I spent a few nights under the stars," said Jay Wagner, also a volunteer at the center. "There's some freedom to it. Some won't take a bed even if you paid them to sleep in it.

"But mostly these are desperate people, broke, drunk or with no place to go," said Wagner.

"You don't really hear about them until winter. They'll be out here every night, and eventually one of them will freeze to death, and then you'll hear about it."

JOHNNY WONDER

The game was invented only 86 years ago by Dr. James A. Naismith, a teacher at a YMCA training college in Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Naismith wanted to create a game that could be played indoors during the winter months. He thought tossing a ball into a basket might make an exciting game.

He fastened two old peach baskets high on the walls of the gymnasium for goals and called his new game "basketball." At first each team had nine players. But the number was soon cut down to five.

After a player made a basket, someone had to bring a ladder to get the ball out again. A hole was later put in the basket.

Backboards were added to keep the early basketball fans from leaning over the balcony railings and tipping the ball into the basket.

Today basketball is played in more than 150 countries.

Ice Follies makes a hit

By MAE TATE

An ice show never fails to be among the last havens of good clean fun. Shipstad & Johnson's Ice Follies, playing though Sunday at the Inglewood Forum, has surpassed the usual level of family entertainment and offers the best in skating, comedy and specialty routines.

Richard Dwyer, without a doubt, is the star in front of the lights and behind the scenes. In the spotlight he is difficult to imagine as manager of the company and production for he has a quiet charm and skillful grace of an artist, not a businessman.

Dwyer and partner, Gerty Desjardins burst upon the scene in an energetic, quick rendition that matches the music and the mood of a receptive audience. The transition from the uptempo beat to the smooth melody of the ballad an adagio ballet is easy for this pair. He's equally impressive in a Fred Astaire-type routine titled "Mr. Debonaire."

Paul Heath is an outstanding addition to the Ice Follies this year. A strong, dramatic skater with powerful even strokes of the blades, he sails across and over the ice in an astonishingly acrobatic style, complete with expertly executed backflips.

Cathy Mishkin and Don Bonacchi are the adagio highlight with their daring flips and turns in mid-air. Little Lito, another newcomer, is a comic cut-up in the style of Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin. Veteran comic Hahns Leiter is once again ludicrously funny. Jill Shipstad fascinates in a special effect karate routine. The Sesame Street Gang create a wonderland of fun for both youngsters and the young at heart.

An ice show not only means the dazzle of figure skating. The unseen stars — the costume designers and pit orchestra — should also be applauded for they play an intricate role in the success of the show.

The ice follies musicians and designers saw their finest hour in the delicate costumes and musical notes that created illusions of dreams, winter, a renaissance festival and the allure of the American West.

Tickets are still available for the performances.

First-timers get in free

In an effort to familiarize the community with the Claremont Playhouse, the Actors Repertory Theater will give complimentary tickets to everyone attending the new theater for the first time. It is located at Foothill and Indian Hill boulevards.

In addition, because the current play, "The Innocents," has special interest for students, all students will be admitted to the 3 p.m. matinee this Sunday for $1. The William Archibald chiller is based on "The Turn of the Screw," by Henry James. Director Richard Dow and members of the cast will discuss the play with the audience after the performance.

Reservations can be made at 621-5005.

Merit Breakthrough Remains Unduplicated.

Since the introduction of MERIT, a number of other low tar brands have come along. But MERIT remains unique—the only low tar cigarette with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

MERIT delivers what others can only promise: the flavor of higher tar cigarettes. The kind of flavor made possible by a breakthrough in tobacco technology.

Here's how it was done:

By cracking cigarette smoke down into separate elements, researchers were able to isolate certain flavor-rich ingredients that delivered taste way out of proportion to tar.

Taste tests against a number of higher tar cigarettes proved it.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested. Cigarettes with up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And you can taste it.

A neurosis is a conflict in the mind of a fundamentally healthy person; a psychosis represents a distortion in the personality.

GOSH
Chalk Talk from
Griswold's OLD Schoolhouse

Popped into the ART GALLERY and found a most interesting show of three fine artists: ROBERT WEE — famous for his fine seascapes. This artist is recognized for his exceptional work — his art will certainly be a good investment to appreciate in value over the years. JOYCE CAMPBELL — interesting and striking fibre sculptures. If you want something bold and unusual for your home—I strongly recommend these. CARL HOUBEIN — beautiful oils with warm glowing colors. . . . realistic landscapes and harbor scenes.

"THE INNOCENTS" opened in the CLAREMONT PLAYHOUSE for September — what a super experience! The special effects are outstandings. For GOSH sakes don't miss this one. You'll probably want to see it twice.

It's fun to sit on the deck and let STUART SAKS sketch your portrait in pastels or charcoal. He's "on deck" Wednesdays through Sundays from 11 to 6 p.m. and specializes in portraits, animals and Indians.

The handsome carving in the window of the TIBETAN ARTCRAFT shop is so rare that it is almost priceless . . . a collector's piece — for a special home or for a museum.

DECOR 8 has an old fashioned remedy for acne — oatmeal soap! Folks get excited about bathroom ideas when they get loose in DECOR 8 — the most complete BATH SHOP in the San Gabriel Valley. The toilet seat collection is amazing — some are inset with fishooks, razor blades, coins. One is gorgeously inlaid with fishing flies — another with butterflies. For the golfer — golf tees, balls, and tiny clubs. Another with tennis items . . . Decorate the favorite seat in your home.

A most unusual fashion show is planned during the evening. Members will model what the well-dressed woman will wear from "Morn to Dusk." Joyce Brothers

Look for real reason

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: I'm a 40-year-old widow and lately I've been having a lot of minor accidents. My doctor advised me to take a few glasses of wine before going to bed so I could relax and sleep. He thinks my accidents might be the result of insomnia. The wine helps me to sleep and I haven't had any mishaps since this new treatment, but now I have headaches when I wake up. My neighbor says these are just old-fashioned hangovers. If I stop my nightcaps, I'm afraid I'll have accidents again. — D.Y.

Dear D.Y.: There are some studies that indicate the accident-prone person becomes even more susceptible through boredom, loneliness and frustration. It might help if you tried to set goals for yourself, perhaps looking into some subject that's always interested you. I also suggest that you try to analyze why you have these accidents and pinpoint the occasions. Try to determine if a specific worry or anxiety precedes the accident.

I suggest you limit the wine to one glass before bedtime. This shouldn't produce a hangover. However, a sleep researcher found that while liquor makes a person sleepy, it also produces a restless sleep that may contribute to the morning-after effect.

With insomnia and your accident-proneness, I believe you should look for the real reasons. It's a psychological problem and alcohol will not be of much help. If you can't solve these problems on your own, try professional help.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: Since my friend's boyfriend left her four months ago, she's been depressed and in a kind of mourning. She has suddenly gained tremendous weight and I couldn't understand why until I spent a weekend with her. She does practically nothing but eat and watch TV. She doesn't want to meet anyone else and she's decided she hates all men. She used to have a lovely figure. Her mother says she did this another time, before I knew her. Don't you think this is a little sick? — C.P.

Dear C.P.: Compulsive overeating often occurs at a time of tension, at some especially critical period in a person's life.

Instead of dealing with her problem and her feeling of loneliness, your friend is trying to deny her frustration and rage by temporarily comforting herself with large quantities of food. This is her security blanket, but it is a very dangerous one, for as long as she buries her problems, she'll never be able to overcome them. Food isn't a substitute for human contact.

It isn't abnormal to experience loneliness or even depression but if we know how to handle them we can learn from these emotions. The healthy way to cope with such problems is to confide in a friend or find something constructive and creative to do. Contact with others is essential at such times.

Diet changes

The type and amount of carbohydrate in our diet has changed considerably over the years. Complex carbohydrates, those found in whole grains, fruits and vegetables, now account for a smaller percentage of total calories. An increase in this food group would not only supply the essential nutrients found predominately in these foods but would also provide fiber, an essential component of our diet.

Pennant party holding

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — The Dodgers' pennant party will have to change its guest plans.

The former champion Cincinnati Reds won't be attending.

After seven innings Wednesday night, it certainly looked like tonight could be the night when the Dodgers officially wrap up the National League West pennant race.

L.A. had a comfortable 8-3 lead thanks to home runs by Davey Lopes, Steve Garvey and Steve Yeager with Cy Young Award candidate Tommy John on the mound cruising to his 19th victory.

But the Reds kept the race alive a little longer by scoring four runs in the eighth inning and two in the ninth on Ken Griffey's home run to record a wild 9-8 victory before 50,203 Dodger Stadium fans.

Cincinnati makes its final visit to Dodger Stadium this season tonight with Tom Seaver (17-6) going for his 200th career victory against the Dodgers' Doug Rau (13-7).

With the magic number stalled at four, the Dodgers will now have to wait for the weekend series against the last-place Atlanta Braves to wrap up the pennant while the Reds are at San Francisco.

"At least, they can't clinch it against us here, and that means something," said the Reds' Pete Rose about Wednesday's amazing comeback victory.

Even though John opened the bottom of the ninth by walking pinch-hitter Joe Morgan, it looked like he was in good shape when Morgan tripped trying to steal second and was out.

Dodger manager Tommy Lasorda went to the mound to talk to the obviously ineffective John but he elected to keep him in there to the cheers of the crowd.

However, it was a wrong move since Griffey followed with his 11th home run of the season to put Cincy ahead.

After one out, Lopes and Bill Russell connected for back-to-back singles. But Murray got Manny Mota on a fly and Ron Cey on a grounder to end the threat.

It was obvious from the beginning John wasn't sharp.

Home run king George Foster ripped his 48th of the season in the first inning after Dave Concepcion doubled. An unearned run followed in the second to give the Reds a 3-1 edge but John settled down to blank the former champs through the next five innings.

Griffey, Foster and Johnny Bench opened the eighth with singles and Cesar Geronimo cleared the bases with a three-run homer.

John entered the game with a 4-0 record against the Reds this year and 9-1 lifetime but instead saw his ERA jump from 2.48 to 2.73.

"The ERA is the least of my worries," John said. "I wanted to win the game, but with two or three more starts I still got a shot at 20."

With three home runs, the Dodgers did set a Los Angeles club record with 173 for the campaign, surpassing the mark of 172 set in 1958.

Garvey connected for his 30th of the season as L.A. has a good chance of becoming the first team in baseball history to have four players finish the year with 30 or more homers.

Cey has 29 followed by Reggie Smith (28) and Dusty Baker (27).

Bethke feels home in Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. — From Covina to Las Vegas, back to Walnut and finally to Lawrence, Kan. It may sound like a Greyhound bus schedule, but such are the football travels of Brian Bethke.

If Lawrence isn't mentioned in quite the same social breath as Los Angeles and Vegas, Bethke can be forgiven. He didn't come to the University of Kansas looking for entertainment.

"I haven't had any real problems adjusting to the Midwest," said KU's junior quarterback. "I like the people and I really like the tempo out here. I like to fish and hunt. I can drive two miles out of Lawrence and feel like I'm really in the outdoors. In L.A., you can drive for 50 miles and still be surrounded by concrete."

But game birds and bass weren't the only reasons Bethke left California where he starred at South Hills High School in Covina and last year at Mt. San Antonio Junior College in Walnut. Nor were they the sole motivation for leaving Nevada-Las Vegas where he was a part-time starter two years ago as a freshman signal caller.

Foremost in Bethke's mind was the chance to play in the powerful Big Eight Conference and to quarterback an option team. He didn't get that chance at UNLV and a coaching decision at UCLA kept him from staying at home.

"I left Las Vegas to get an opportunity to play option football," said the 5-10, 185-pounder, who took over the KU quarterbacking job in last week's 28-14 loss at Texas A&M. "We ran the I at Vegas, and then a new coach came in and said they were going to throw even more."

He transferred to MSAC in the hopes UCLA might take another look at him. In fact he can still picture himself wearing the Bruins' blue and gold. But he'll be in Kansas' crimson and blue this Saturday when UCLA and KU clash at 7 p.m. in the Coliseum.

"When I came out of high school," he said, "UCLA looked at me and tried to recruit me as a defensive back. That's when Dick Vermeil was coach, but I wasn't too keen on the idea of playing defense.

"At any rate, when Vermeil left and Terry Donahue came in, I though they might pick me up again. I knew coach Donahue and would have liked to play at UCLA, but they eventually decided to stick with the quarterbacks they had and just recruit a couple of freshmen."

That left Bethke with two choices: Texas and Kansas. Almost immediately after making a verbal commitment to the Longhorns, Bethke changed his mind and picked KU.

"Without a question, Brian was our No. 1 prospect at quarterback," said KU coach Bud Moore. "We needed someone with maturity and talent. Brian fills that bill. The only thing he lacks right now is the experience he would have gotten if he hadn't been hurt in the spring."

A broken bone in his left hand kept Bethke out of almost all of spring practice — a time he needed to master the Jayhawks' Wishbone offense. In fact, the intricacies of the triple option may be the only thing unfamiliar to him Saturday.

Bethke played in the Coliseum as a high school senior when he led South Hills to the California Interscholastic Federation 4A championship. He teamed up on that squad with Jon Van Vuren, now a back-up safety for the Bruins. He also played against and with (in all-star games) a number of other Uclans.

"The one I remember most is Jerry Robinson," Bethke said, "I met him at a football camp while I was in high school. He was a skinny little wide receiver than and now he's an All-American linebacker. I don't think he even remembers us, though."

Prep season opens tonight

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Three of the valley's prep teams will get the jump on the rest when the 1977 high school football season opens tonight.

Claremont will host Bonita at Citrus College and Garey will entertain Royal at Mt. San Antonio College. Both games have 7:30 kickoffs.

Friday will be the first night of the season for the rest of the local prep squads, except for Ganesha and American Christian, which will wait until Saturday to debut, and Webb and Don Lugo, which will play their first games next week.

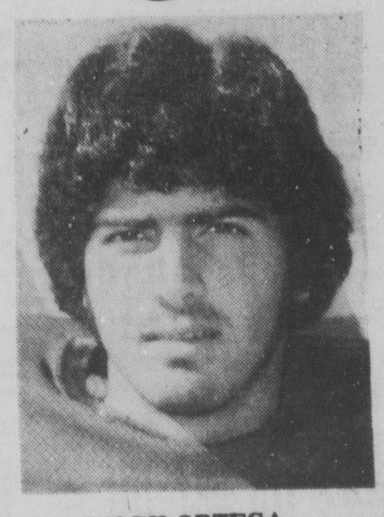
Last year Bonita embarrassed the Wolfpack with a 31-7 thrashing but Esper Keiser's squad should be able to make more of a game of it this time around. Claremont's varsity roster included 24 juniors in 1976, meaning that Keiser's current team has a good deal of maturity.

Pete Lopez's charges also have a good deal of varsity experience, most of it on defense.

Ralph Ortega and Bob Vidaure lead a very strong secondary and Mark Shamblin and Greg Lopez (the coach's son) are back at linebacker. Rich Doyle, Mike Sly and Tom St. Clair anchor the defensive line.

The Bearcats don't figure to give up many points, but the question is how many they'll be able to score. Last year's quarterback, Sanford Coggins, is now at the University of Texas and Lopez also lost most of his offensive line to graduation.

ELIJAH TURNER . . .
Garey High



RALPH ORTEGA . . .
Bonita High

Ortega, a varsity running back since his sophomore year (he's now a senior), will probably start at quarterback tonight.

Claremont will also have a new quarterback, Mike Pirolo, who was a tight end last year. He'll be handing off to either Grant Warhurst or Scott McBride at fullback and Fred Flye, Kevin Britton or Jeff Smith at tailback.

Keiser has several good linemen returning, including All-Valley tackle Robert Villanueva, Neil Anderson and Elias Contreras.

The coach's first priority is to improve his defense, which was a bit porous last year. Defensive back Scott Kegans may be one of the league's best but the Wolfpack is inexperienced at linebacker.

The Bonita-Claremont game will be the first of five matchups between a SAL team and a Hacienda League team over the next two weeks. Last year the HL won four of the five contests, with Montclair's win over Ontario the only SAL victory.

Garey used a last-minute touchdown pass to defeat Royal last year in Simi Valley. Quarterback Al Clay threw for three TDs and a two-point conversion in that game, but Clay is now at Pasadena City College.

Clinton is fortunate enough to have a flock of talented running backs to hand off to, including fullback Elijah Turner, Roosevelt Lett, James Moore and Kirby Lofton. Doug Brissette will be back at running back next week but will miss tonight's game due to a late start in practice.

The new Garey QB also has an excellent aerial target in wide receiver David Forte.

Garey's defense was the best in the league last year, surrendering just eight points per game, and coach Lawson Bush thinks this year's unit may be even better. He has yet to be convinced, however, whether the offense will be as effective as last year's.

Bush expects Royal to be a bit tougher than last year since the Highlanders have most of their 1976 defense back.

Last year's score was 26-20.

Foothill Stakes kicks off Fair

Nine of the ten nominees to Friday's opening day feature, the $17,500 added Foothill Stakes, were entered for the six furlong dash which kicks off Pomona's 14-day meeting at the Los Angeles County Fair.

The Foothill is for three-year-olds and highlights an 11-race program. The Fair will present an Appaloosa race, two quarter horse races and eight thoroughbred contests beginning at 1 p.m. Exacta wagering is offered on the fourth, eighth and 11th races.

Jules Bihari's Winsor Pete, trained by Dave Hofmans, has won four of his 11 starts and finished second on four occasions this year. The son of Pete's Ruler, second last out in the Bay District Stakes at Bay Meadows, drew the disadvantageous outside post position. However, he will be ridden by the leading jockey in 1976 at Pomona, Francisco Mena at 119 pounds.

Expected to garner much support in the Foothill is Cold Courage, a swift son of Snow Sporting from the barn of Warren Stute. Cold Courage, a sprint winner this summer at Del Mar, has Raul Ramirez named to ride from post six at 114 pounds.

Century Chief was a front running $53 upsetter of his last start in 103/4 at Del Mar. The son of Delaware Chief will wear blinkers for the first time in the Foothill, and jockey Ismael Valenzuela has the call from post position two at 117 pounds.

With no scratches, the gross purse will be $19,425 with $11,540 to the winner.

The half-hour conversation will be staged on the bandstand in front of the half-mile racetrack.

Lakers waive Dwight Lamar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers announced Wednesday that they have released guard Bo Lamar.

The Lakers acquired the 6-foot-1 Lamar the day before the 1976-77 season started in trade with Detroit. Lamar, 27, appeared in 71 games for the Lakers, averaging 7.1 points and 2.5 assists.

The release of Lamar brings the number of players reporting to the Lakers' training camp which begins next Monday to 17. Included are eight guards, six forwards and three centers.

Track star helps Cal Poly gridders

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Cal Poly has an outstanding freshman prospect at fullback from the local area and it's all because of track.

Bronco football coach Jim Jones can thank track mentor Jim George for Poly's good fortune of landing Pomona High product Ricky Fairman.

In Poly's opener last week at Puget Sound, Fairman made his collegiate debut a big success.

After getting in on only one play in the first half, Fairman ended up by being Poly's top rusher with 42 yards on eight carries.

The Red Divil product is now battling junior Dominic Licavoli, a Chaffey College transfer and Upland High graduate, for the starting fullback assignment this Saturday at San Francisco State.

Fairman, who was an All-San Antonio League selection last year despite playing on a winless Pomona team, has already made it big and Jones still has the pleasant dreams of having him for four full seasons.

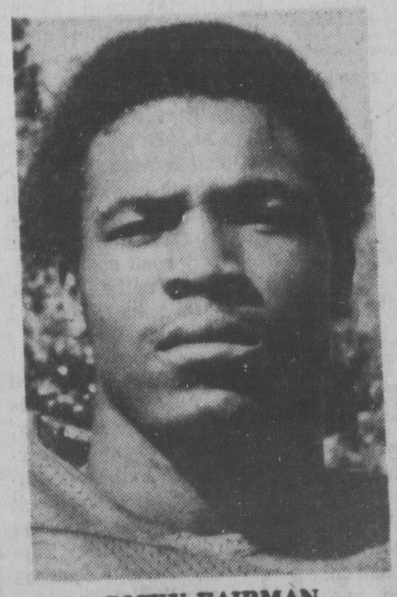
Fairman, who rushed for more than 500 yards at Pomona, came to Poly on a track scholarship which is understandable since he won the SAL in the shot put last year with a 58-2 3/4 and took fifth in the state meet at UCLA with a 60-2 3/4.

George has no fears about Fairman playing football and has cooperated fully with Jones.

"We're planning on using Ricky for all of the weight events," George said. "We want to use him in the shot put and discus and try the javelin. My feeling is Ricky can participate in spring football practice and still compete for us. I can live with it."

"I will tell you we will have Ricky in excellent shape for football," the track mentor continued. "He is a super guy and easy to recruit since he was planning to come here all along anyway."

Jones is pleased with George's attitude.



RICKY FAIRMAN

"We talk about it constantly," says Poly's new head football mentor. "Our major concern is making sure Ricky Fairman gets a good college education. I am confident everything can be worked out. Quickness is everything in football and he really learns it in track."

Fairman admits football was his first love in high school. He really never took track too serious until he got into CIF competition.

"I'm just getting into track now," Fairman said. "I planned to come to Poly since I wanted to stay near home so I'm kind of lucky."

Actually, Fairman is excited about throwing the javelin. "I think I will really enjoy that," he says.

After just one game, Fairman can already discuss the big difference in college ball from the high school level.

"It's like having the best players from every high school coming together," he said. "All of the hard hitters seem to be on one team."

Asked if he was surprised to see so much action in his first game, Fairman answered, "I was hoping to play. I'm just trying to do the best job I can."

Fairman, who came to Pomona when he was in the sixth grade, feels Poly will be improving each week during the season.

"We have a pretty good team and everything should work out once everybody gets to know everybody," he said.

BRONC BUSTERS — Poly is chartering a flight to San Francisco for Saturday's game. The flight leaves Ontario at 2 p.m. Friday and returns home after the game. The price of $85 includes a night at a downtown hotel in San Francisco. Additional information is available at 598-4611.

Linebacker Scott Pickwith, who played for Jones at South Hills High and came to Poly from Mt. San Antonio College, was named the school's Miller Player of the Week for 15 unassisted tackles, five assists and forcing a fumble.

Starting quarterback Sammy Ross is nursing a jammed index finger from the Puget Sound game but he's expected to be ready for San Francisco State

with Adrian Mercado and Willy Keo

THE SIERRA MADRE-ARCADIA AYSO region invited us to conduct a coaching seminar last week and much to our delight we were greeted by an enthusiastic group of coaches and officials whose ebulation became contagious. This 200-team AYSO Region is not only well organized under the baton of our good friend Larry Littleton, but they were proudly announcing the inauguration of their very own Regional Office at 820 Santa Anita Avenue, Arcadia. We give 'em a tip o' the hat for their fine achievements.

POMONA REGISTRATION — Pomona AYSO will hold two registrations this month. The first one will be held on Saturday, Sept. 24, at Palomares Park between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., and the final registration will be held at Lincoln School on Wednesday, Sept. 28 between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Regional Commissioner Ross Martin, and the Board of Directors expect that this year will be a boom year for Pomona AYSO and they have been busily working to get the word out to all youngsters to join.

CLAREMONT AYSO TRYOUTS — Claremont AYSO is holding tryouts for all players who have signed-up to play this coming season. Everyone must participate even if they have played in previous seasons.

Tryouts for ages 7-9 will be from 10 a.m. to noon and ages 10-18 will tryout from noon until 2 p.m. at Griffith Field located behind Sumner School on Saturday.

The final Claremont AYSO sign-ups will be held at Taylor Hall on Friday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

ONTARIO-MONTCLAIR AYSO — This Region will kick-off its Coach Development Program on Wednesday, when the Pele film "The Master and His Method" will be shown at 8 p.m. The film will be preceded by a presentation on "Positive Coaching" by the AYSO National Director of Coaching starting at 7 p.m. at the Ontario Community Building. We will be there . . . hope to see you there.

NASL SETS NEW ATTENDANCE RECORD — The final total of attendance for regular season play in the NASL this year hit a new record of 3,171,780 for 234 games eclipsing the old mark of 2,474,078 set in 1976 for 240 games. This represents a 31 percent increase over last year and also set a new record for average attendance at 13,555.

The Cosmos with Pele, Beckenbauer, and Chinaglia led the league in attendance with a record home draw of 443,847 representing an average of 34,142 for the 13 home games.

The Minnesota Kicks followed with an average of 32,771. Other cities around the nation also had a great year at the gate. Seattle averaged 24,226, Tampa — 19,492, San Jose — 17,739, and Dallas — 16,511.

What about "our" Los Angeles Aztecs — they averaged an announced 9,643 fans at home while doing better while on the road with an average of 17,510. L.A. is a proven soccer town, but it is obvious that the Aztecs Managing General Partner must be doing something or somethings wrong to alienate the soccer community. Possibly a survey around the Coliseum neighborhoods and in the East L.A. area might provide some clues.

WORLD CUP '78 — The next phase of the CONCACAF eliminations leading to a spot among the final 16 nations that will be vieing for the FIFA World Cup in Argentina next year will take place in October (Guatemala vs. Surinam, Canada vs. El Salvador, and Mexico vs. Haiti). Just think, we came this close to getting into that round-robbin but lost it to our good neighbors to the north. Let's not think about it anymore . . . anyway, Iran beat Australia 1-0, but will Tunisia beat Nigeria in November? Will the U.S. beat Canada in 1981?

THE RISE OF SOCCER IN THE UNITED STATES has been further emphasized by the success of the USA team in the recent Cup of the Americas tourney last week in New York. Our boys walked off with the trophy in undefeated fashion by beating University Sports Club of Ecuador 3-0, Millionaires Club of Colombia 3-1, and Alianza of Peru 2-1.

Scoring in two of the games was our valley hero Rick Davis, ex-Damien star and Claremont AYSO product who cut out from his sophomore year with Santa Clara University to do duty with the USA Olympic and National teams.

The three South American clubs are highly rated pro clubs and the Alianza Club of Lima is particularly strong with six of Peru's World Cup members aboard.

SOUTHLAND FANS WILL BE TREATED to two games this weekend at the Coliseum involving a Friday night contest between Alianza and the Universidad de Guadalajara team, and a Sunday afternoon clash between Alianza and the Mexican National team . . . the latter prepping for October World Cup action.

Alianza's World Cuppers include Cubillas, Stoil, Velasquez, Salguero, Gonzalez and Duarte who have already carried Peru into the final 16 to compete in Argentina in June of 1978 for the world title. The Incans were successful in retrieving both Cubillas from Portugal, and Sotil from Spain where they played for high salaries. They can only play World Cup for their own country.

The South American coaches paid tribute to the success of the USA. ECUADOR noted "it did not go well for us . . . we underestimated the United States. The USA is no longer the freshman in world football. They are now taking steps that will put them into international orbit." COLOMBIA: "The USA is promoting soccer very well and they have the money to do it with, and an economy that can make it a success. It is all very good for world football." PERU: "We were surprised by the ability and technique of the Americans and we remember their defeat of England in 1950 in Brazil. Now it seems they are really concentrating on reaching for a rung on the international sports ladder."

THE TOURING COSMOS tied Portuguesa of Venezuela and beat Japan's champs so far where they still have some games set with China. Pele met and embraced with Oh, Japan's homerun king who is so much in the news today. Their mutual respect for each other surmounted the language barrier.

AS SUDDENLY AS THE PRO SEASON ENDED the college season is quickly upon us. The Univ. of San Francisco will be trying for its third straight NCAA Division One crown . . . a feat no one has yet accomplished. St. Louis University has thrice won twice but could not hurdle the challenge of three straight. USF hopes to do it but will have such strong local opposition in the Bay Area as U of Calif., Santa Clara, San Jose State, Stanford and the southern powerhouses of UCLA, Fullerton and USC.

Across the country time finds St. Louis U and Southern Illinois U and Indiana U (they were runnersup in '76) bracing for strong assaults for the number one NCAA spot while Howard, Clemson, Connecticut, Brown and Philly Textile have similar ideas farther toward the Atlantic. This should be the best college season of all time . . . in all divisions. The spread of youth soccer has provided a base for soccer talent that was not available in previous years. Bob DiGrazia, coach of UC Berkeley is just back from a coaches trek to Brazil and remarks that "three or fours years ago a college coach had to teach his rookies how to kick . . . but today they have already become pretty good players in high school, and in some cases even earlier in the youth league."

SOCCER FOLK IN MARYLAND are jubilant. After a rough publicity campaign on behalf of the soccer athlete the State Board of Education has lifted the embargo on a high school player's outside team affiliation. All high school athletes in Maryland can now play with an outside team . . . except for football, basketball and baseball.

Wins game anyway

Jackson is no bunter

By Associated Press

Bunters build runs a base at a time. Home run hitters, an impatient lot, deliver them in four-base clusters.

Reggie Jackson is no bunter.

In the ninth inning of a scoreless game between the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox, Jackson was flashed the bunt sign to advance Thurman Munson to second base. He squared around on the first and third pitches, but didn't offer at tosses by Boston's Reggie Cleveland.

"I had to talk to (third base Coach Dick) Howser about the sign because I don't bunt often enough to know it," said Jackson.

Unable to gently lay the ball down, Jackson worked the count to 3-2 and instead laid out the Red Sox, smacking his 26th home run of the season and giving the Yankees a 2-0 victory Wednesday night.

"I didn't expect Cleveland to be taken out," said Jackson. "He had pitched a great game. Sometimes Cleveland gets me out with slow stuff down, but not today."

The triumph, the Yankees' second in two games in a crucial three-game series with the Red Sox, lifted New York 3½ games ahead of third-place Boston in the American League East. Baltimore, with 6-5 and 4-2 victories over Toronto, sneaked into second place, 2½ games behind New York.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit swept a pair from Cleveland, 5-3 and 2-1; Kansas City beat Oakland twice, 5-2 and 6-0; Minnesota blanked the Chicago White Sox 7-0; Texas edged California 2-1, and Milwaukee beat Seattle 8-5.

Jackson, who has slugged 307 career homers, has trouble remembering his successful bunts.

"I think I got one back in 1974 and I know I got one in 1971," said the slugging outfielder who has driven in the winning run 17 times this season, tops on the Yankees. "In '74, I fouled the ball off and ended up hitting away. In '71, I got it down and it led to us (Oakland) winning."

The last time he played a great defensive game might also challenge Jackson's memory. But Wednesday night he made two spectacular plays, protecting Ed Figueroa's shaky seven-hit shutout.

He made a leaping catch against the wall in the fourth inning and a diving grab inches above the grass in the seventh. On the second catch, the Red Sox had a runner on second base with one out.

"I didn't get a good jump on the ball but I got the ball squarely in my mitt," said Jackson of the seventh-inning gem. "I'm not the greatest fielder in the world, a Paul Blair or (Joe) DiMaggio or anything like that.

"But I caught that one. The catches help build my confidence and prove I can field. But the home run is where it's at.

"This was my most satisfying game with the Yankees, perhaps the best game of baseball I've played in. There was great defense by both sides and great defense by me and then I hit it out to win it."

Orioles 6-4, Blue Jays 4-2

The Orioles, who have six games left with the Red Sox, continued moving up on the outside lane, while New York and Boston battled each other inside.

Lee May belted a two-run homer, his 23rd, in the first game and smacked a run-scoring double in the nightcap, pacing the Orioles to their sixth and seventh straight victories.

Royals 5-6, A's 2-0

The Royals continued to make a mockery of the race in the AL West, winning their 13th and 14th straight games, a club record and a major league high this season. The Royals' magic number now is nine; they lead second-place Chicago by nine games.

Dennis Leonard hurled an eight-hitter in the second game and Jim Colborn scattered seven hits but needed relief help from Larry Gura in the final two innings of the opener.

In an oddity, Jeff Newman of Oakland started the second game as a catcher and finished as a pitcher, giving up one hit and no runs in one inning. He hit Hal McRae with a pitch, then gave up a single to George Brett before retiring the next three batters.

"He's a catcher and he should stay behind the plate," said McRae. "Before I came up, Brett said it would be embarrassing to make an out by a catcher. I said I wasn't worried about making an out, I was worried about getting hit."

"I selected him," Winkles said. "You got to pick someone. I can't waste my only reliever, (Doug) Bair, on a 6-0 game when I might need him in tomorrow's doubleheader."

Tigers 5-2, Indians 3-1

A sacrifice fly by Ron LeFlore in the 10th inning gave the Tigers a doubleheader sweep. The Tigers had ended a six-game losing string in the opener, in which Tim Corcoran doubled home two runs and Ben Oglivie pounded out four hits, including a solo homer.

Twins 7, White Sox 0

Dave Goltz, 18-9, checked the White Sox on seven hits and became the first pitcher to throw a complete-game shutout against them this season. The Twins snapped a six-game losing streak.

Brewers 8, Mariners 5

Sixto Lezcano's three-run homer in the fifth highlighted a Milwaukee comeback that enabled the Brewers to wipe out a 5-0 Seattle lead. Reliever Eduardo Rodriguez allowed Seattle just four hits over the final 7 1-3 innings.

Bruins work to come back

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA had more than its share of difficulties in opening its college football season Monday night.

Houston overcame a 13-3 halftime deficit to hand the Bruins a 17-13 setback on national television. That was discouraging enough. But it was worse.

UCLA lost a pair of key players at the Astrodome and the team is now involved in a unique situation brought about by its schedule — the Bruins have little time to prepare for their next game.

That comes Saturday night when Kansas visits the Coliseum in the Bruins' home opener.

"The problems of the game at Houston were difficult enough," said UCLA Coach Terry Donahue Wednesday. "Now we've got to face the problems of this week's game with very little preparation.

"We're obviously two days behind," added Donahue. "We'll work harder Thursday and Friday than we normally do. We think we'll have enough time to rest after Friday with the game being Saturday night.

"We've never done this before."

Few teams have. And Donahue says Kansas is not an ordinary team in terms of preparation.

"Kansas is an excellent football team," said Donahue. "They present preparation problems for our defense because they run out of both the wishbone and I-formations.

"We'll have our hands full trying to win Saturday night, I promise you that."

The 6-foot-1, 177-pounder from Fountain Valley, Calif., completed 16 of 27 passes for 245 yards and one touchdown.

Bashore's passing yardage was the most for a Bruin quarterback since Dennis Dummit compiled 252 yards through the air against Southern California in 1970.

"I thought under the circumstances Rick did a nice job for his first start," said Donahue. "He did some very fine things and although he had some difficulty with fundamentals, he kept his poise throughout the game.

"I anticipated playing both quarterbacks against Houston and I anticipate playing both against Kansas," added Donahue. "But the game might change those plans as it did Monday night."

Kansas is 0-1, having lost its opener to seventh-ranked Texas A&M, 28-14, last Saturday.

The Bruins, 14th in this week's poll despite their loss, will be without Brown and Corral for at least six weeks. Donahue said sophomore Ernie Saenz will probably replace Brown.

THE WINNER — Heavyweight Ken Norton is held in the air by his handlers. Norton KO'd Lorenzo Zanon in the fifth round at Las Vegas' Ceasar's Palace Wednesday night.

Norton unsure about Ali

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Ken Norton continues to wonder whether Muhammad Ali will ever fight him again.

"I'll believe it only when I climb into the ring with him," said the No. 1 challenger from Los Angeles, who beat Ali once and then lost two disputed decisions to the current heavyweight boxing champion.

Norton, 223, first has a date with Jimmy Young on Nov. 5, and the two tuned up with easy victories in nationally-televised bouts at Caesars Palace here Wednesday night.

Norton says Ali wants to avoid him, but the heavyweight champion—who has a title fight on Sept. 29 against Earnie Shavers—has gone on record saying he would put his title at stake against the Norton-Young winner.

Young, a 213-pound Philadelphian, started slowly but picked up speed and boxed his way to a one-sided 10-round verdict over Jody Ballard, 205, of Houston.

Norton started even slower and got tagged a couple of times. But at the end of the fifth round he knocked out No. 10-ranked Lorenzo Zanon, an awkward 207-pounder from Milan, Italy. There were only two seconds left in the stanza when a left hook started Zanon on the way out, so the time goes as 3:08, eight seconds after the round's scheduled end.

Neither Young nor Norton said he was impressed by each other's showing, but each made a point of watching the other.

"I hope Norton doesn't think he's going to do the same thing to me," said Young after watching the kayo on television. "He doesn't hit hard enough to hurt me," said Norton of Young. "He can't punch, but he does have speed."

The two showcased in the Sports Pavilion of Caesars, where they'll fight for more than $1 million each in the Fall.

Three other ten round bouts were closer:

Ron Lyle, the 220-pound No. 3 contender from Denver, said he suffered from the flu but barely outpointed little-known Stan Ward, a 236¼-pound newcomer from Sacramento, Calif. One judge scored the bout even and the other two had Lyle just one point ahead.

The end came after 47 seconds of the seventh round, when both of Houpe's eyes were bruised to mere slits. Holmes, 211, knocked down Houpe, 199, a split-second after the third round ended. When the referee stopped the fight, the ending went as a technical knockout.

Leroy Jones, the 271-pound gargantuan from Denver, took a unanimous decision from Greg Johnson, 207½, from New York.

Norton looked more impressive in knocking out Zanon than did Young in outpointing the unranked Ballard.

But, says Ballard of his conqueror:

"He's got the best head movement in the world. He's fast, slick and he knows what he's doing. Your shots can be on time, but he just gets out of the way. Young is a better puncher than most give him credit for. He hurt me three or four times."

On those occasions, Young, who also has lost a decision to Ali, slammed home right hands to a head that virtually was unprotected.

Young says he's in top shape right now, but Norton says this was only the midpoint in his preparations for the November fight.

Angels bow to Alexander, 2-1

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Doyle Alexander is making some $150,000 a year for the Texas Rangers and the sinkerball-pitching right hander was worth every nickel of it Wednesday night.

The only problem is that Alexander hasn't possessed his sinker ball all season, even though he's the winningest hurler on the Ranger staff at 15-10.

He muffled California on three hits and the Rangers nicked the Angels 2-1.

"The last two games I've been able to throw the sinker that I haven't had in the last two or three years," Alexander said. "The ball is starting to move for me now."

Alexander should have had a shutout, but he was his own worst enemy.

After walking the leadoff batter in the seventh inning, Mario Guerrero hit a grounder back to Alexander and he promptly threw it into center field.

"If I can keep pitching every three or four days, then I can be an effective pitcher," Alexander said. "It kills a control pitcher like me not to get on the mound regularly."

Ranger Manager Billy Hunter said: "Doyle definitely figures in our plans for next year. We are counting heavily on him. He is the type of pitcher who's capable of going 15-7 for you.

Asked if Alexander was an "untouchable" in the winter trades, Hunter said quickly, "everyone is untouchable."

Hunter received some heat two weeks ago when he said Claudell Washington and Jim Sundberg were the only two untouchable players on the team as far as trades were concerned.

In the final game of a four game series tonight, Texas' Nelson Briles (5-4) was scheduled to meet John Caneira (10).

MSAC wins in water polo

Returning letterman Dave Earwood struck for seven goals as Mt. San Antonio College opened its 1977 water polo season with an easy 22-11 win over Rio Hondo College Wednesday afternoon.

Next match for coach Roy Wilks' crew will be Monday afternoon at 3:30 p.m., when the Mounties will host cross-valley rival Chaffey.

OAKLAND (AP) — Pete Newell, former general manager of the Los Angeles Lakers, has been hired by the Golden State Warriors as a scout and talent consultant, it was announced Wednesday.

Scotty Stirling, the Warriors' chief executive, said Newell will begin work with the National Basketball Association team next week. Cotton Fitzsimmons, now coach of the Buffalo Braves, had a comparable job with Golden State last season.

Newell had a successful college coaching career, including a stop at the University of California which resulted in an NCAA title in 1959, and coached the United States' championship Olympic basketball team in 1960.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks drifted aimlessly early Thursday as investors waited for the Federal Reserve Board's weekly money supply report. Trading was sluggish.

The Fed recently tightened credit to counter a $3 billion surge in the money supply and, as a result, Chase Manhattan Bank raised its prime lending rate a quarter point to 7¼ per cent. Other banks are expected to follow soon.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported business inventories rose 0.6 per cent in July, compared with a 0.8 per cent boost in June. Sales fell 0.3 per cent, however.

Citidank economists said the economy was continuing to recover at a strong rate, despite negative government reports, which hey called "noise." Such reports, they said, "don't reflect any fundamental weaknesses."

Against that background, the Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 0.18 point to 858.89 shortly before noon EDT. Of the 1,564 issues crossing the tape, 567 advanced, 472 declined and 525 remained unchanged.

New York Stock Exchange volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 7,300,000 shares, compared with 7,740,000 traded during the comparable period Wednesday.

Analysts said one reason for the light turnover was the fact that many Wall Streeters were watching the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee meeting at which President Carter's budget director, Bert Lance, testified.

Middle SKOUTH Utiliies was the most active NYSE-listed issue, unchanged at 16⅞ following a block trade of 100,000 shares at 16⅞ on the Midwest Stock Exchange.

Inernational Telephone & Telegraph, which Wednesday won a $19 million Navy contract, was the second most active NYSE issue, off ⅛ to 30⅝. General Telephone & Electronics was third, up ⅛ to 30¾.

Cone Mills was ahead 1⅜. The firm late Wednesday said it planned to buy 500,000 of its shares from Moses Cone Memorial Hospital in Greensboro, N.C., for $24 a share.

Prices were higher in moderate trading of American Stock Exchange issues. Houston Oil & Minerals was the most active issue, off ½ to 37¼. WUI International followed, unchanged at 29¾. Damson Oil was third, off ⅛ to 10.

CMC economists

Stronger economy is predicted

A stronger economy, a jump in short term interest rates, increased government spending and a "moderately out of control" higher inflation are forecast for the next few months by the Claremont Men's College economists in their recent quarterly update of the Applied Financial Economics Center.

The economists also expect the housing market to continue its cooling trend as moderating price increases slow speculators.

AFEC directors James Meigs and John Rutledge said the future of the nation's economy will depend upon many administrative decisions and they are hoping that "President Carter's apparent flair for surprises stays under control well through next spring."

For instance, the economists pointed out, the replacement or reappointment of Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns when his term expires next spring is now causing a great deal of uncertainty in the financial markets as traders seize every scrap of information about the future of the Federal Reserve-White House relationship.

As a result, the economists expect substantial volatility in stock, bond, and foreign exchange markets over the rest of the year. They believe that stock and bond prices and the value of the dollar in international markets will rise or fall according to Burns' reappointment or replacement. But either way, they still believe the "Burns Plan" of gradually reducing money growth to achieve eventual price stability has very little chance of ever being implemented.

Rutledge, who takes a dim view of the way things are shaping up, said the "real Jimmy Carter is finally taking shape out of the confusing impressions left with us during the Presidential campaign." He said that Carter advertises himself as a "bleeding-heart conservative," — a man who wants to make everybody better off but who also has the common sense of a farmer and a businessman.

"Instead," said Rutledge, "Carter has proven himself to be a man who wants more — more spending, more taxing, more government regulations — a free spender and a price controller who believes that he can 'fix' the economy and should redistribute income, and who prefers mandatory rules over the free market as a way to allocate scarce resources."

In view of these uncertainties, Rutledge and Meigs warn that short-term and long-term rates will resume their upward march within the next several weeks, continuing on through 1978, and they expect inflation to continue above 6 per cent at least the next two years.

The economists will provide more valuable information on the financial market's future on Oct. 13 when they hold their conference for the Two-year Outlook for U.S. and World Financial Markets at the college.

Corporate TV and films

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The business of corporate television and film is becoming big business.

According to Ilene Kahn of the Terry Kahn Organization, a film and television production firm headquartered here, the market for business and industrial television and film production will reach $2 billion a year by 1985.

Kahn, a producer-director, says her estimate is a projection of the current level of more than $500 million annually being spent by companies on film and television productions for their own use, according to a recent survey published by the International Industrial Television Association. This rate of expenditure, says Kahn, is growing at the rate of 50 percent per year according to the survey.

"In 1978, over 50,000 films and programs totaling 20,000 hours will be produced by American corporations for their own use, including image films, sales films, training films and other types of public relations visual communications."

Kahn concludes that "corporate television programming exceeds that of all of the three major television networks and public television and corporate filmmaking results in more releases than the combined output of all of the major studios.

"It wouldn't be at all surprising if sometime in the near future a fifth network — the corporate network — was developed to serve the business audience."

Housing starts up

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — New housing starts in California increased in July to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 274,000 units, Bank of America reported.

The July rate was up 8.3 per cent from June, and 41.2 per cent above the 194,000 starts in July 1976.

Single family units continue to account for about two-thirds of the total starts in the state, bank economists said.

Hoople tabs 1977 season

By AMOS B. HOOPLE
Grid Expert Supreme

Har-rumph! It has been a mighty tough week for your fearless football forecaster! In addition to my weekly picks, I've spend many long hours pondering and repondering my seasonal predictions in order to bring you the most accurate, up-to-date results possible.

And, ah-hem, I have succeeded!

Let's go to the national scene first, where the famous Hoople system foresees this top ten:

1. Notre Dame; 2. Oklahoma; 3. Michigan; 4. Southern Cal; 5. Ohio State; 6. Alabama; 7. Penn State; 8. Pitt; 9. Houston; 10. Maryland.

Others to watch include Texas Tech, Texas A&M, Colorado and UCLA.

Obviously, my picks for the 1978 Rose Bowl would be John Robinson's Trojans and Bo Schembechler's Wolverines. Remember, you read it here first!

Closer to home, let's take a peak at how our own Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference will come out.

The Hoople crystal ball foresees Redlands prevailing at the top, but not before locals La Verne and Claremont-Mudd put up a real battle in finishing second and third respectively.

Fourth will be Occidental, fifth Whittier and sixth poor old Pomona-Pitzer. The Fighting Sagehens are an improving ballclub, but still are in over their heads with this group.

Shifting to the junior colleges, this year figures to be a most exciting one in the South Coast and Mission conferences, with the races in both going right down to the wire.

The potent Pirates from Orange Coast appear to be back on the beam this year after a sub-par 1976, and that calls for them to be favored by this writer in the SCC.

Second will be Fullerton, third the improving Mountie squad from Mt. San Antonio, fourth San Diego Mesa, fifth Grossmont, sixth Cerritos and seventh Santa Ana.

Even more thrills will be generated locally in the Mission Conference, where the Hoople method tabs Citrus and Chaffey as the frontrunners. Look for John Strycula's Owls to prevail over Mike Merandi's Panthers by a narrow margin in a conference which figures to be decided on Oct. 22 when these two clash at Chaffey.

Third will be Saddleback, fourth Southwestern, fifth San Bernardino, sixth San Diego City, seventh Riverside City and eighth Palomar.

I, kaff — kaff, have saved the best for last — my 1977 prep predictions for the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues.

In the SAL, the good Major has to go with tradition, and in this case that means he favors Dick Larson's Damien Spartans to claim that crown once again.

Chino looks like a strong

Spartans favored in SAL race

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

An All-CIF quarterback and a large group of returning players from a 1976 San Antonio League co-championship squad figure to stretch Damien High's tenure as kingpin of SAL football.

Dan Marconi, who passed for over 1,900 yards and was elected to the All-CIF 3A second team as a junior last year, is back to direct the fortunes of the Spartans, who will be shooting for their third straight league title.

The Spartans have finished as co-champions in both of Dick Larson's seasons as head coach. Damien shared the title with Chino in 1975 and with Garey last year.

Larson welcomes back 26 varsity lettermen from his 1976 team, which reached the 3A quarterfinals. But he doesn't feel that's enough to ensure success this time around.

"I don't put a lot of stock in numbers like that," he said, though several SAL coaches would like to have a similar situation.

"You can have a lot of kids coming back and still not be successful," Larson asserted. "I'm always surprised by a few kids who weren't that good as sophomores or juniors but bloom when they're seniors. And sometimes you have the opposite situation — a kid who stars as a junior but isn't as enthusiastic when he's a senior."

Among the returning Spartans are Gil Garcia, an All-SAL first team selection at safety who will also play wide receiver on offense this year, and three all-league second teamers: offensive tackle Charles Vess and linebackers Pete Huysman and Mark Leavens, who will see duty at defensive end this season. Huysman and Leavens will also play on the offensive line this year, since Vess is the only returning starter there.

Though they may be slight favorites, the Spartans have anything but an easy road before them. The SAL, traditionally one of the CIF's most balanced leagues, may be even tighter than usual this season.

It is doubtful that any team will go undefeated through the league schedule and even more improbable that any team will go winless, as Pomona did in 1976.

The teams that look most capable of unseating the Spartans are Chino, Garey and Ganesha.

Chino wound up 3-4 in SAL play last year but won three of its final four games, with a narrow (21-17) loss to Damien the only blemish during that span.

Coach Jim Rawls is fortunate enough to have his entire offensive backfield back from last year's squad, though quarterback Dan Reyes is injured and will miss the Cowboys' two non-league games. Seniors Bill Young and Mike Bertschinger and junior FerRell Johnson are back with a year's varsity experience under their belts and Reyes will be replaced for two games by Narcie Sousa, who led his squad to the league's sophomore championship last year.

Rawls will be counting on several players from that soph team to come through in key positions this fall. Linebackers Lyle Pelletier and Blake Cash, running back Ernesto Lujian, kicker Tony Zendejas and wide receiver/defensive backs Tim McGrath and Peter Brun are all juniors this season.

Chino should have a deadly kicking game, with Zendejas, who kicked seven field goals — including two from 50 yards — for the sophs last year, and Tony Gonzales, who did not miss an extra point all year for the varsity.

Garey also returns a number of talented performers at skill positions, including linebackers James Moore and Doug Brissette, running backs Elijah Turner, Brissette and Roosevelt Lett and receiver/defensive back David Forte.

But the problem coach Lawson Buch faces is replacing quarterback Al Clay and two-way star Ralph Dixon. Stepping in for Clay will be senior Anthony Clinton, who played as a sophomore but not last year. How well he performs will be crucial to Garey's bid to repeat as league titlist.

Sophomore Carey Shepard will be Clinton's backup at quarterback. Other prominent Vikings this season should be linemen Frank Charles, Larry Reyes and Devi Parks and running back/defensive back Kirby Lofton. Moore will also carry the ball some this year, giving the Vikings quite a group of running backs.

Depth, as usual, is a problem for Garey.

Hoople's forecast

runner-up squad from the SAL, with a major surprise in the Hoople forecast being Montclair as the third-place finisher.

The three Pomona schools look to be very even in talent, but that talent is spread a bit thin for this forecaster to consider any one of the three a real title contender.

The rest of the H.L. teams could be far behind these top two. I see Bonita third, San Dimas fourth and Alta Loma fifth. Alsorans figure to be Gladstone (sixth), Ontario (seventh) and hapless Sierra Vista (eighth).

As they say on TV, there you have it! Hate mail may be addressed to my good wife Martha, care of the Hoople Manor. Complimentary letters should be sent to the editor of this newspaper. That way I may, dear readers, warrant a raise next pay day!

Tigers seek third title

Chaffey High is seeking its third consecutive Citrus Belt championship after finishing in a three-way tie for first in 1976.

However, the Tigers may have a tough battle ahead of them in quest of a third straight title.

Coach Ray Stark's club is entering the 1977 season without a veteran quarterback and with a young defensive squad.

Gary Koustik will replace John Gable as the Tigers' signalcaller. He is untested in varsity competition as he directed Chaffey's junior varsity offense in 1976. He'll have three reliable recievers in seniors Stan McDonald (flanker) and Jamie Deason (tight end) and junior Scott Bennet (wide receiver). Chuck Cohn and Steve Lehor will be returning to help anchor the Tiger backfield.

SAL teams try to dethrone Damien

Ganesha also boasts a fine group of running backs but coach Garry Norvell is searching for some offensive linemen.

Bennie Gooden, the SAL's only returning all-league running back, will play halfback alongside Floyd Williams, a junior who was a wide receiver last year. Junior Ron Hughes will handle the quarterbacking and Craig Parm and Kevin Jones, the defensive ends, will alternate at fullback.

Defense figures to be the Giants' strong point. Seven defensive starters are returning and Norvell moved Parm to defensive end to beef up the line. Among the returning defenders are tackle J.W. Melton and linebackers Mike Brown and Tony Chambers. Unfortunately for the Giants, all-league honorable mention defensive back Darryl Shaw moved during the off-season.

Montclair improved its SAL record from 0-7 in 1975 to 3-4 in 1976 and coach Rich Bare feels his squad is a legitimate title contender this year.

Bare has 28 lettermen back for the current campaign, including eight defensive starters from 1976. Since the Cavs had the league's second-best defense (behind Garey) last year — allowing just 13 points a game — it could be quite difficult to score against them this year.

Leading Montclair at offensive and defensive back will be Kent Gurney, back for his senior year. He'll also run back kicks and will punt, but will placekick for just three games — until sophomore Gerard Solorzano turns 15 and becomes eligible for varsity competition.

Fullback Tom Weaver moved over the summer but Todd Dahl, who played at Montclair as a soph before spending a year in Alaska, will be back at guard. Terry Shanks will move to fullback and Steve Jetton will call the signals.

Claremont's Esper Keiser hopes his team's experience will produce more than last year's two league victories.

Keiser is especially looking for improvement in his defense, led by defensive backs Scott Kegans and Steve Tipping, tackles Robert Villanueva and Neil Anderson and ends Elias Contreras and John Mix.

Grant Warhurst will be back at fullback with Fred Flye, Kevin Britton and Jeff Smith trying for the tailback spot. Mike Pirolo will be at quarterback.

Pomona coach Mike Clifton plans to take to the air to avert a repetition of last year's winless season. He has moved John Bullock from tailback to wide receiver so that he, along with tight end Vann Andrews and wide receiver Daryl Swanson, can serve as target for Darrell Keepers' passes.

Besides the aerial crew, Pomona's only returning starters are linebacker Reggie Doby and defensive backs Mitchell Hall and Donnie Milner.

Upland's Bob Holycross is another coach whose squad is long on good offensive backs but short on defenders and offensive linemen.

Holycross thinks quarterback Steve Davenport will be as good a passer as any in the league — including Marconi — and is high on running backs Matt Reichman and Rick Votaw.

Arrowhead has new lineup

Now that Notre Dame, Aquinas and Big Bear have been transferred to the De Anza League, the remaining six Arrowhead League football teams don't have to feel that they are just battling for fourth place.

With the "Big Three" gone, local schools Webb and Lutheran of La Verne hope to be involved in the championship struggle for the first time in recent memory.

Unfortunately for the Gauls, Hassler's son Jim, who was one of the school's top performers last year, has gone with him.

John Richards, a talented halfback and safety, is back for his senior year. Kerry Bensinger, another returning senior, will handle the quarterbacking and the other safety spot.

Other returning Gauls include Tom Wolfe (running back, linebacker), Kerry Tims (tight end, linebacker), Grant Cramer (linebacker), Devin Ben Hur (cornerback) and Bart Del Rio (center, defensive lineman).

Blair feels he has a talented passing game and a sound offense but his offensive line is almost entirely new. He has good size, however, on his defensive line, which averages about 200 pounds.

Rode welcomes back just five returning starters — Craig Downey (a guard the last two seasons who has been switched to running back), Ron Hint (running back), Bob Swick (tackle), Perry Storkson (defensive tackle) and Tim Patton (offensive guard, defensive tackle).

San Jacinto and Orange Lutheran should challenge for the Arrowhead crown along with the two local entries. Sherman and CSDR are expected to be also-rans.

Walnut team to beat in Hacienda League

By RAY NELSON
PB Correspondent

After capturing last year's Hacienda League crown with a perfect 7-0 conference record, the San Dimas High football team was ravaged by graduation to the point where only two starters are returning for this year's campaign.

Because of the Saints' demise, most observers feel, the title fires are being fanned on other campuses around the Hacienda League.

After finishing one game behind San Dimas in 1976, the Mustangs boast 19 returnees and, according to coach Ken Gunn, have a fair amount of depth.

While most teams utilize their players on both offense and defense, Walnut's number of athletes (60 players) affords it the advantage of being able to have its players perform one-way.

"If we can keep injury-free so that the youngsters can develop, it could really prove to be an asset," said Gunn.

While the Mustang mentor believes that Walnut's weaknesses lie in the inexperience of the offensive backfield and some spots on defense, perhaps the strongest point is the offensive line.

Kenny Wilson and Bill Spaulding give Walnut two "of the strongest tackles we've ever had here." Spaulding (6-1, 205 pounds) is the strongest athlete on the squad, according to his coach, while Wilson is a compact 5-9, 220-pounder.

Gone is senior quarterback Kevin Loggins and All-Hacienda running back Kevin Morgan, who was a workhorse in the Walnut backfield the last two years.

Gunn is confident of his passing corps. It is at that position that two seniors — Pat Flaherty and Steve Green — are waging a fierce battle for the starting assignment.

"It is probably the closest battle on the club," said Gunn. "If I had to choose now, I'd have to flip a coin. Both are excellent passers, both are intelligent, and both run well.

"Whoever wins," the coach went on, "should be a contender for all-league honors. I know everyone is high on Strycula (of Royal Oak) — and he's good — but whoever wins this position should make people sit up and take notice."

Replacing Morgan will prove to be a tougher task. Currently vying for the running back positions are five talented athletes, but only junior Dave Wronkiewicz has seen any varsity action there. The 5-9, 187-pounder started alongside Morgan last season.

On defense, the Mustangs will be relying on returnees Murray Packer (defensive end) and All-league Mike Porter.

Andy Crowe and David Browner will anchor the linebacking while safety Doug Vind will provide secondary strength, providing he ends his bout with mononucleosis by the time league play opens.

"We have talent. It (how well Walnut perform this year) will depend on how long it will take to change inexperience to experience," said Gunn.

If Walnut hopes to grab the Hacienda title in 1977, it may receive its most stiffest challenge from rival Royal Oak.

The Romans, who finished last season with a 4-3 league slate, will be guided by senior quarterback Jeff Strycula who can be a threat both through the air and on the ground. Strycula managed to gain 620 yards rushing while also completing 58 percent of his passes for 11 touchdowns last year.

Royal Oak will also have the services of three of its four 1976 backfield artists, as Jack Bron and Doug Cunningham in addition to Strycula. Matt Rundle, who was selected first-team all-league in '76 and was also Strycula's favorite passing target, will also be returning.

While the Roman offensive line is strong with tight end Ken Brown and center Jeff Dunlap coming back along with a tackle and guard, the defense is also similarly intact.

Royal Oak has its entire secondary returning and two of its three linebackers including middleman David Burns, in addition to two of its four defensive linemen.

While Bonita has almost its entire defense returning, its hopes for a crown probably hinge on how well its offense comes around, according to head man Pete Lopez.

"Offensively, we're very young," he said. "We have a long way to go, but we're happy with it."

Perhaps Lopez' biggest problem is finding a replacement for All-Hacienda quarterback Sanford Coggins. The

Valley JCs have high hopes for '77

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Coaches at the valley's three junior colleges are in an optimistic frame of mind for the 1977 season, and with good reason.

Mt. San Antonio, Chaffey and Citrus all have the talent, on paper at least, to challenge for the titles in their respective leagues. And there's always the outside chance that one of the three will impress enough people along the way to be California's representative in this year's Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

But first the trio will have to battle past some tough non-league opposition and out-duel some even tougher squads in conference action.

Veteran MSAC skipper Mal Eaton is coming off a 5-3-2 year, his first winning mark in six years at the Walnut campus. With some key personnel back from that team, plus a very good group of freshmen, Eaton's squad could well improve on their 1976 ledger.

The big question for Eaton and company is: Will the Mounties improve enough to unseat traditional South Coast Conference grid powers Fullerton and Orange Coast?

There are indications that MSAC could well be ready to give both those teams a tussle for the SCC crown.

The Mounties opened impressively with a 35-24 win over a good Rio Hondo team. They seem to have a well-balanced offense and a opportunistic defense.

Eaton's biggest concern right now is for his team to cut down on its mistakes. Mistake-free football is what characterizes both the Fullerton and Orange Coast grid teams, and MSAC will have to play at that level to overtake those two.

STAN WEBSTER . . .
. . . Mountie RB

"I've found that to win in our conference you have to be one, very talented; two, avoid injuries; and three, a little lucky," said Eaton. "The South Coast Conference will be a dogfight as always. We think we can stay with the top teams in the conference if we accomplish these three things."

Talent doesn't seem to be a problem for Eaton.

The Mounties have two quite capable quarterbacks in sophomore Jon Hattabaugh (Baldwin Park High) and freshman Butch Stocking (West Covina High). Both impressed vs. Rio Hondo last week.

Eaton also has the "horses" at runningback, with Tulsa U. transfer Stan Webster (from Garey High) heading a list of speedy rushers. A pair of sophomores, Maxie Hamilton and Greg Butler, team with Webster to give Eaton a lot of security in the offensive backfield.

On the offensive line, returning starters Kevin Pertula (West Covina), Curtis Allen (Ganesha) and Bill Tussy (Edgewood) anchor that unit.

MSAC also has ability in the receiving corps with lettermen Chancey Abney and Phil Frierson as the wide receivers and Mark Booth as the tight end.

The MSAC defense is paced by experienced performers like defensive backs Larry Vicino (Royal Oak), Jerome Covington (Manual Arts) and Mike Hall (Pomona), linebacker Jim LaBouff (La Puente) and tackles Marc Mitchell (Pomona) and Bill Martin (Charter Oak).

Top defensive newcomer is Bob Epps, an all-CIF performer from West Covina High. Epps will play nose guard for Eaton.

Eaton is also pleased with his kicking game. QB Stocking doubles as the Mountie place kicker, while Andy Ayala (Los Altos) will do the punting and Dick Dikranian (Fresno) will handle the kickoffs.

At Chaffey, speed will also be very much in evidence, as Panther mentor Mike Merandi has three real flyers in the backfield in Marcus Jennings (Ontario), Gary Carr (Upland) and Bob Pleasant (San Dimas). Pleasant is the only freshman in that trio. All three performed well in the Panthers' 21-6 season-opening win over Reedley, Jennings picking up 179 yards himself.

At quarterback, Merandi will go with three freshmen, Mike Potter (Damien), John Gable (Chaffey) and Don Hargett (San Dimas), in the pre-league games before settlveteran coach is currently trying to decide between senior Ralph Ortega and junior Cory Miller as to who will fill the vacancy.

"They're doing a real fine job," remarked Lopez. "Miller is running the option well and Ortega is throwing the ball well. We just have to put the two together."

Lopez views the interior line as the key to the squad's success, as only Mike Sly and Tom St. Clair are returners.

The defense will be led by Ed Forbes (NG), Dave Pearson (DT), Oretga (monster), Bill Green (DE), and Richard Doyle (DT). Alta Loma will be trying to improve on its 4-3 1976 finish with what coach Tom Cook refers to as "a balanced passing and running attack."

With either Jeff Holloday or Gordon Reed (both seniors) acting as signal-caller, Dave Taylor will provide fullback strength while Stuart Charleston (RB) and Dave Edsill (RB) will also see action.

San Dimas has only rushing star Perry Aris and defensive standout Mike Nunley returning as starters from last year's title team and also will be guided by first-year coach Don Warhurst, who served in an assistant capacity at San Dimas the last seven seasons.

"The games are definitely going to be a learning experience," said Warhurst. "It will be the first time under varsity fire for most of these players. There is a big difference between junior varsity and varsity."

The Saints were further hurt when Kevin Burke, last year's JV quarterback and signal-calling hopeful this season, suffered a shoulder separation while on vacation this summer and is sidelined for the entire campaign.

Ontario will aim at bettering its 2-5 record of last year, but lacks overall depth.

One of the few bright spots for the Jaguars is running back Tom Jefferson. The 6-2, 210-pound senior performed admirably in the Ontario backfield last year and, once again, returns to action.

Led by safety Cliff Egleston and quarterback Bob Alvarez on defense and offense, Gladstone's Gladiators hope to progress from its 1-6 Hacienda record of last year.

Coach Tom Bergquist hopes newcomer Dale Ephraim and quarterback David Ruize can help Sierra Vista get in the win column for the first time since 1975. The Dons start the present campaign mired in an 0-10 losing streak.

Calvary, American youthful

American Christian and Calvary Baptist will be displaying youthful squads in their 1977 season openers.

American Christian is a very young squad and is not very big even for eight-man football. Rod Price will quarterback the American outfit. Tailback Don Cameron will spearhead American's option type offense as he is the only man returning from last year's squad.

Calvary Baptist hopes to improve its 1976 slate of 2-5-1 in 1977 behind the powerful running of fullback Robert Turner.

Calvary finished third in the Christian League last season and will rely primarily on a running attack to win ballgames in 1977.

Steve Arrechea, a sophomore, will quarterback the Calvary squad again this season. Dan Betz (center) and Jeff Bryan (offensive and defensive end) will be back to aid Calvary's offensive attack.

"I think the Mission Conference will be the most competitive JC league in the state," Merandi predicts. "All the teams in the conference are improved, so it's very difficult to pick a favorite. We hope to be there right along with the others."

Merandi's talented backfield will have a very good offensive line to run behind, headed by returning lettermen Keith Bolock, Dave Rodricks (Damien), Jim English, and center Dean Sanchez (Upland). Top newcomer is San Dimas High product Sonny LaFargue.

Chaffey is also strong at tight end with sophomore Dave Hood battling freshman Pat Krysiak (Chino) for starting honors. Hood also handles the team's punting chores.

Returning starters safety Vivi Bernal and lineman Marty Edens, both from Chino, top a talented unit which also includes lettermen in linebackers Lance Riggs, Kirk McJunkin and Mike Dragoon.

Some grid observers feel that Citrus is down a bit this year, but Owl coach John Strycula always seem to come up with a winner and his te certainly can't be overlooked in the Mission Conference title race.

The Owls opened a loser to Fullerton, 26-7, in a game which was much closer than that final score would indicate.

"We have 17 new people starting for us and I think that caused some problems vs. Fullerton," Strycula noted. "Defensively, we played real well. Offensively, we were disappointing.

"Right now, we have a lot of question-marks still unanswered. We have to cut out our mistakes, but I'm sure we'll be ready for conference."

Strycula indicated that he has settled on Ken Eriksen, a freshman from Glendora High, as his quarterback.

At running back, Strycula is counting on another freshman, Barry McManus from South Hills, to carry a lot of the load. Others to watch include fullback Leo Burke (Damien) and tailback Charles Cole (Pomona), along with sophomore Bill Darrell (Charter Oak).

Lots of new faces at SCIAC schools

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

The three local members of the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) have one thing in common this year.

There are a lot of new faces on each team.

La Verne, by virtue of having by far the biggest squad, naturally has the largest number of returnees.

However coach Roland Ortmayer has a hole to fill this year that presents a major problem to La Verne football. For the first time in two years, Ortmayer will open the season without a proven quarterback.

Claremont-Mudd has so many new players, nearly two-thirds of the squad is new, that John Zinda says it will take three games to sort things out.

Pomona-Pitzer once again has the fewest players (34), but coach Walt Ambord is basing his hopes of improvement on having a larger number of quality players.

La Verne's major loss through graduation was three-year starter Randy Brown.

"Our biggest single problem will be getting the quarterback situation resolved," said Ortmayer. "Right now Dave Maloof (senior from San Dimas) is in front of two other candidates for the job."

The other two, both freshmen, are Mark Beaty from Workman High and Pat Wade from Burbank.

"For example, we have blocking patterns for linemen and offensive patterns for the backfield. In a game we simply put those two together.

"The quarterback describes the play in the huddle and indicates when the snap will come."

Since the Leopards have no playbook, the signal caller has to "create" each play in the huddle. It's easy to understand why developing a quarterback in the La Verne system usually takes anywhere from three games to a full season.

Maloof, a slotback last year, was a quarterback at San Dimas High and for his first two years at La Verne.

He was moved to slotback in order to give him more playing time and thus gain game experience.

Returning to the Leopards' backfield are running backs Brad Frick and Ben Morrow. Frick, a sophomore last year, made both the All-SCIAC and All-District III first teams.

Frick gained a total of 1,012 yards and averaged 5.6 yards per carry.

Morrow, a second-team SCIAC selection, is carrying 240 pounds on his 5-11 frame. But Ortmayer says he will run him enough to get him down to 235 by the time the season opens, Sept. 24.

The Leos have 64 players out for football and Ortmayer expects a few more. He has 32 returnees from last year's team that went 5-4 overall and 3-2 in conference play.

Among the returnees are wide receivers Ted Pedvin and Steve Hines, center Glen Mayer and offensive tackles Dean Buttress and Lucio Sagasta.

On defense, the returnees include tackle John Rome, middle guard Dave Poling, linebacker Ole Ellingson, ends Mike Bustos and Scott Bowser and defensive backs Bruce Hines and and Bernie Wendling.

Buttress and Rome, like Frick, were first-team selections on both the all-conference and all-district squads.

Steve Hines, Mayer and Ellingson were second-team all-conference.

Claremont-Mudd has a squad of 39 of which only 15 are returnees. And 24 of them are linemen!

"Two years ago I was crying for linemen," Zinda remarked. "That certainly isn't the case this year. We feel we'll be strong up front.

"We're almost ALL new. We'll wait and see what happens in our first three games and use them to get ready for conference play. We have too many new people to jell before then."

One of the returnees is running back Jim Reed. The 5-8, 190-pound Reed led

Defense is the key to Trojans' hopes

LOS ANGELES — If the USC football team is hoping to have the momentum of last season carry over into this year, a lot will depend on how well its defense can overcome the loss to graduation of some of the 1976 stalwarts.

After a season-opening loss to Missouri, the Trojans reeled off 11 consecutive triumphs, outscored their opponents 361-93, advanced to the Rose Bowl for the eighth time in 11 years, and beat UCLA, Notre Dame and Michigan down the stretch enroute to a ranking of No. 2 in the nation on both wire service polls.

Second-year head coach John Robinson believes the key to the Trojans' 1977 success depends on their replacements, especially on defense.

"The key to our team is the improvement of our defense," he says. "The offense has the potential to be outstanding.

"Putting together a cohesive defense is an early problem for us," the coach continues. "And we're going against some very good football teams with varieties of attacks."

The Trojans opened with a most impressive 27-10 triumph at Missouri, but still have to face highly-regarded Alabama in their fifth game (at the Coliseum) and then travel to Notre Dame for the seventh game.

Robinson remains concerned about the Trojans' inexperience despite the return of six offensive starters and four defensive starters.

"The inexperience on this team is definitely a question," he says. "Now some people go from inexperienced players to veteran ones in about three weeks. Some take two years. How quickly we make that trip from relatively inexperienced to being a competent veteran team is a big key.

"And what is the intangible difference in losing a

CIF playoffs restructured, league memberships altered

A completely revamped playoff system and massive releaguing over a two-year period are two of the major ingredients in the changing local prep football scene.

Beginning with this season, the sprawling CIF Southern Section has been divided into eight regional conferences (plus the eight-man division) for football playoffs rather than the familiar 4A, 3A, 2A and 1A classifications.

Objectives of the new system, according to CIF commissioner Tom Byrnes, include (1) giving more teams a chance for postseason play; (2) stimulating interest in playoff games by making pairings more regional and (3) decreasing the length of the season one week for teams that reach the CIF finals.

The main objection to the new structure, voiced by some coaches and fans, is that championships will not mean as much since there will be eight of them instead of four. Many observers feel that there should be a "final" playoff, between conference winners, to determine the "real" CIF champion. But the CIF's position is that such a final game would defeat the primary purposes of the new plan.

At any rate, one of the most interesting facets of the new playoff format from the local standpoint is that the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues will be members of the same playoff grouping, the Southeastern Conference.

The Southeastern Conference will also embrace the Montview, San Andreas and Desert Valleys leagues. The SAL was a 3A league last year and the other four were 2A loops.

Under the new system, 16 teams will be in the playoffs of each conference. That means that each league will be guaranteed at least three playoff berths, and one league from each conference will get a fourth spot. There will doubtless be a number of teams with losing overall records in the playoffs.

Chaffey High and the rest of the Citrus Belt League schools are now members of the Big Five Conference, the most prestigious of the new groupings, which includes the tough Sierra, Angelus, Del Rey and Sunset leagues.

Ontario Christian (Olympic League) and Webb and La Verne (both Arrowhead League members) are in the Desert-Mountain Conference while American Christian and Calvary Baptist (both Christian League schools) are still in the Eight-man Confernce.

Chaffey, Webb, Lutheran, American Christian and Calvary Baptist all find themselves in slightly different league alignments this season and next year both the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues will be changed, if a proposed realignment is approved later this month.

The Citrus Belt League, of which Chaffey is a member, expands from six to eight teams this year with the addition of Corona and San Bernardino to the loop. Other CBL schools are Eisenhower, Fontana, Pacific, Redlands and San Gorgonio.

The Arrowhead League has gone the other route, becoming a six-member circuit instead of nine. Notre Dame, Big Bear and Aquinas, the three schools which have dominated the league in football and basketball in recent years, have been transferred to the De Anza League. That leaves La Verne Lutheran, Webb, CSDR, Orange Lutheran, San Jacinto and Sherman in the Arrowhead League.

The Christian League has not been realigned, but six members will field grid teams this year. Bethel Christian and Capistrano Valley Christian will join American Christian, Calvary Baptist, Liberty Christian and Victor Valley Christian in the football wars.

But the biggest news for local fans is the shuffling that will almost surely take place next year in the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues. (Final CIF approval is needed for the releaguing.)

Alta Loma and Walnut, whose enrollments have outgrown the HL, will leave that league as of 1978-79 for the SAL and Sierra League, respectively.

Don Lugo High of Chino, a free lance football squad this year, will join the HL next year and Charter Oak will fill out the eight-team league roster.

All the current SAL schools will stay put, so that with the addition of Alta Loma the league will have nine members.

Cal Poly rebuilding . . . once again

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Unfortunately for Bronco fans, it's that way again this season.

New coach Jim Jones, who is getting his first taste of collegiate ball after a very successful 11-year career at South Hills High, is faced with the problem of building from the ground floor once again.

Of the 46 players Jones took last week for the season opener at Puget Sound, 33 were newcomers to the Poly program. The Broncs had only 13 lettermen, four starters.

"I feel the biggest thing we have to work on at Cal Poly is building a winning tradition," Jones said about his task. "A big plus for us is our new appointed president, Dr. Hugh LaBounty."

After accepting the Poly job in late December, Jones went right to work building for the future by recruiting 32 freshmen, believing it is better to build from the ground up and have talented players for all four seasons.

"We're happy with our freshmen," Jones said. "We have some excellent people."

The problem is time. Jones realizes it will take some game experience for his rookie class to get used to college ball and learn the Poly system.

A rugged schedule also makes it very tough for the young Broncos, who must face three Division I opponents plus the strongest Division II teams on the West Coast.

The Broncs head for San Francisco State this Saturday to meet a team which has always been rough on Poly. Following a bye next week is the home opener against UC Davis on October 1.

Compiling a winning record against that type of schedule is extremely difficult.

At Puget Sound, Jones started an offensive lineup consisting of three returning starters, two other lettermen plus six junior college transfers. On defense, it was one starter, four lettermen, four JC transfers and two freshmen.

On the second unit were eight freshmen on offense and six on defense.

Ross, who suffered a sprained finger at Puget Sound and may be doubtful this week, won the starting job after a battle with Steve Taylor, a transfer from Mt. San Antonio College and former Pomona High star, and freshman Gordy Bohannon from South Pasadena High.

Jones has good depth at tailback in JC transfer Larry Strange from Mt. San Jacinto College plus freshmen Bill Hilliker, the CIF 2A Player of Year at Antelope Valley High, and Kevin Morgan, the Pomona Valley Offensive Player of the Year at Walnut.

Two local products, Dominic Licavoli from Upland High and Chaffey College, and freshman Ricky Fairman of Pomona High, are the fullback candidates.

Myles is Poly's top candidate for post-season honors. The senior from Monrovia was an All-CCAA choice last year when he caught 32 passes for 369 yards.

Dan Beebe, a transfer from Walla Walla, Wash., JC, opened the season at center but suffered a knee injury at Puget Sound and may miss three or four games. Gary Hallstrom from College of Sequoias will take his spot.

Bill Henry (6-2, 240) and Jay Fleming (6-0, 220) are the offensive guards while Jerry Bellettiere (6-4, 240) and Bill Drummond (6-3, 255) are the tackles with Tom Mondok (6-6, 275) being the chief back-up.

Freshman Ed Kelly from Bishop Amat and letterman Joe Pratchard, who also suffered a knee injury in the opener, were the starters at defensive tackle at Tacoma. Freshman Don Drake, who played for Jones at South Hills, may take Pratchard's spot.

Four JC transfers are the starting linebackers for the Broncos. They are Jay Giangregorio (MSAC), Scott Pickwith (MSAC), Bob Price (Walla Walla, Wash.) and Peter Guariglia (Walla Walla, Wash.). Freshman Jim Wilson of Los Altos High is a promising newcomer.

the Stags in ground gaining last year.

Zinda lost both his quarterbacks, Carl Bostick and Robert Neilson. Bostick is in business and Neilson transferred to Sequoia JC.

Don Chester, who was moved to split end last year, has been moved back to quarterback. Matt Kawamura, a 5-8, 150-pound freshman is the other signal caller.

Among the outstanding newcomers, Zinda is very high on defensive tackle Adam Bercovici (6-4, 252) and noseguard Dave Flatten (6-3, 235).

Last year the Stags were 2-6 overall, but both wins came in conference play.

Biggest news at Pomona-Pitzer is that coach Walt Ambord has dropped his pro style attack and will run out of what he calls a "T box formation."

John Buzzard, who didn't come out for football last year, is back this season at tightend. But running back George Bushala transferred to UNLV.

"We were embarrassed two or three games last year," said Ambord. "I think we'll be better this year. We have 34 guys out. But there are 35 in school who have played football and didn't come out."

OCHS Knights aim for CIF playoffs

Aiming at a possible CIF berth at the end of the season, Ontario Christian High football coach Laing Stevens says his team is approaching the coming season with the goal of self-improvement which would result in success.

"We have goals for ourselves as a team," explains Stevens. "Being a Christian school, we don't care so much as to how we compare with others. Our attitude is to achieve as an individual and improve. The by-product is winning."

Stevens believes that by putting Jesus Christ into the program, it strengthens the individual athletes' personal attributes. And it is in the area of personal characteristics that the coach believes the success of this year's football squad lies.

While boasting only 10 returning players, Stevens feels the key to the season will be "developing confidence and experience."

Junior Joe De Hoog is expected to be the quarterback, who Stevens envisions will be "the best in the league." He will be joined in the backfield by returnees Pete Van Ginel, Garrett Bosman, and Dave Hooyenga, who will play flanker.

While the defense is "fairly decent" and will be anchored by Tom Lanting (DE), Jeff Vanderhuvel (NG), and Bernie Mulder (LB), Stevens hopes his team can outquick their opponents with a balanced offense and defense.

How ell they accomplish this may determine how well Ontario Christian fares in 1977.

Bruins must go without two stars

LOS ANGELES — Despite boasting an extremely strong defensive unit, the UCLA football team's fortunes this year have been clouded by injuries.

Bruin coach Terry Donahue apparently found his quarterback Monday night vs. Houston in sophomore Rick Bashore, but in the process lost top running back Theotis Brown and talented kicker Frank Corral to injuries.

With Brown out for four to six weeks, the potency of the UCLA Veer offense now could well depend on Bashore's passing ability and what kind of holes the Bruin line can open for Brown's understudies.

Senior Gus Coppens (6-6½, 260) is the lone returnee to that line, and will be expected to provide the leadership for the rest of the group.

Junior Bruce Davis will come over from the defense to vie for the other tackle position along with Max Montoya (a 6-5, 257-pounder from Mt. San Antonio College).

After seeing limited action in reserve roles last year, Bryce Adkins and Jim Main will graduate to the starting unit in the guard spots. They will be at either side of Brent Boyd, who is listed as the number one center.

Despite the loss of Wendell Tyler, UCLA's all-time leading rusher, the Bruins again boast a strong ground game in junior fullback Brown, when he returns, and roommate James Owens.

Teaming with Brown in the Bruin backfield will be Owens, who also was the 1977 NCAA champion in the high hurdles. A reserve last year, the swift back still managed to exceed the 100-yard mark twice.

The Bruins also have depth in the backfield. Freeman McNeil, the 1976 Los Angeles City 4A Player of the Year, will see some action and will provide reserve strength along with redshirt Ernie Saenz and sophomore Glenn Cannon.

The Bruins face the same problem at the quarterback spot that they faced last year — they must replace an All-American.

Last year, Jeff Dankworth filled the shoes of his predecessor, John Sciarra, by receiving national honors. The UCLA coaching staff, headed by second-year man Terry Donahue, is hoping the same thing will happen this time around.

While the junior Steve Bukich has more experience, Bashore received extensive work with UCLA's Veer attack when Bukich was sidelined the final half of spring practice with an injury. Bashore's showing vs. Houston appears to have won him the starting job, with Bukich in reserve.

Don Lugo to launch 1st varsity season

Don Antonio Lugo High will launch the first varsity football campaign in the school's history next week, a week after most prep seasons get under way.

The Conquistadores will play a free lance varsity schedule this season, despite having only freshmen and sophomores enrolled.

Don Lugo will open Sept. 24 at Orange Lutheran. Also on the Conquistadores' eight-game varsity schedule are local Arrowhead League members Webb and La Verne Lutheran.

The Chino school will be a member of the Hacienda League for the 1978-79 season, if a proposed league realignment is approved by the CIF later this month.

Coach John Monger has compiled an amazing 43-3 frosh record in his five years at Don Lugo. The Conquistadores won the SAL freshman title last year with a 9-0 mark, which stretched their winning streak to 21 games.

Though Monger has no seniors or juniors, he has the advantage this year of coaching exactly the same squad he led to that SAL title last year.

Knox, Rams in for a long season?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What has happened to the Los Angeles Rams?

It appears that the four-time division champions of the National Football Conference West will have a tough time winning a fifth for Coach Chuck Knox, who was wooed by Detroit after the 1976 season.

Olsen, who has turned to television and movie acting, was the wheelhorse of the Rams defense, and without him the Rams haven't seemed the same, as a 1-5 record shows.

They also traded away quarterback James Harris. He returned with the San Diego Chargers, who beat the Rams 26-25 for their first triumph over their Southern California rivals since 1972.

Quarterbacks are all important. The Rams have Pat Haden and Namath, either of whom could be starters.

Atlanta, New Orleans and San Francisco, who are challenging the Rams in the division, are more positive in the quarterback department.

And, believe it or not, Meyer also was on the Knox staff last season.

Just so it won't appear a family affair in the West, Hank Stram of New Orleans isn't related in any way to the Rams and Knox.

The 49ers have undergone the most changes since last season. The widows of Tony and Vic Morabito, the men who founded the club, sold it to Edward J. DeBartolo, whose 31-year-old son now is the club president. Joe Thomas, formerly of the Baltimore Colts, is the vice president and general manager.

The West division boasts outstanding runners. The Rams are expected to start Lawrence McCutcheon and Ricky Bell, a Gary Jeter, a Marvin Powell, a Donnie Hickman, a Shelton Diggs?'' he goes on. "We've replaced them and the other seniors with quality people, we think, but certainly many of them performed much better their senior year than at any other point in their careers.

"Perhaps the people we have replacing them will be great performers as seniors, too, but many of them now are juniors and a few are sophomores.''

Junior Rich Dimler (nose guard) and senior Vinny Van Dyke (right tackle) will join Underwood on the Trojan defensive line. Garry Cobb and Mario Celotto will join the linebacking corps as will either sophomore Dennis Johnson or Chaffey College transfer Charlie Moses.

Despite losing Bell, Evans and Diggs on offense, Robinson is confident his team will rebound to have a highly successful year.

At the receiving end of the seniors' aerials will be split end Randy Simmrin, who gathered in 32 for a 20.4 average and five TDs last year.

Also returning to the USC offense will be fullback Mosi Tatupu, who boasts a 5.9 career rushing average, junior tackle Otis Page, senior center Gary Bethel, along with junior Pat Howell and sophomore Brad Budde. Chaffey High product Anthony Munoz should also see plenty of action.

Also playing key roles in the USC offense will be tight end William Gay, flanker Calvin Sweeney and 1974 JC Player of the year, Lynn Cain, in addition to Kevin Williams, Brad Green, Dwight Ford and Rod Connors.

Rams could be in trouble

John Cappelletti, the Saints have Chuck Muncie and Tony Galbreath and the 49ers have Wilbur Jackson and Del Williams. The Falcons have moved Haskel Stanback to a starting halfback position with an open battle for the No. 2 position in the offensive backfield.

Rookie Coach Bennett observed that the running back could be the strongest position for his Atlanta club. "We may not have the best two or three in the league, but I think our six or seven are as good as anyone's got."

Defensively, the Rams have been the class of the division for years, but that's probably not the current case. The 49ers have the best front four with Cedrick Hardman, Cleveland Elam, Tommy Hart and Jimmy Webb. And their secondary is solid despite the retirement of linebacker Fran Nunley.

In the draft, it was Atlanta that probably did the best—getting first-round choices for both offense and defense. The picks were Warren Bryant, 6-feet-6 and 275 pounds from Kentucky on the offensive line and Wilson Faumuina, 6-6 and 275 on the defensive line from San Jose State.

Injuries hurt Bruins

The Bruins averaged 13.5 passes per game last season, a figure Donahue would like to see increase.

If a stronger passing game is desired, a heavy burden will undoubtedly fall on the receiving corps.

The Bruins have a capable pair of tight ends in Rick Walker (who was the recipient of All-Coast honors in 1976) and Don Pederson.

Homer Butler and Severn Reece will see action at the flanker position, while James Sarpy will vie with a host of newcomers for the split end spot.

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A youth kidnaped a taxi driver in order to be arrested and sent to the prison where the confessed murderer of his mother is being held, police said.

Kenneth Lynn Curry, 17, was arrested Wednesday and charged with kidnaping and robbery after allegedly kidnaping a 49-year-old taxi driver at knifepoint and allegedly taking $50 from him.

Police said Curry told the taxi driver, Benny Dillard, that he wanted to go to prison to avenge the death of his mother, who was raped and murdered.

Whisenhant recently was sentenced to die in the electric chair for one of the murders. He had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

He is being held in the death row unit at Holman Prison near Atmore in south Alabama awaiting the outcome of appeals.

All 20 aboard killed

Air Force plane slams into mountain

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An Air Force plane slammed into a mountainside on a high security Army base, killing all 20 persons aboard when it exploded on impact a half mile from a bunker containing fissionable material, authorities said.

The four-engine plane crashed on Manzano Base, where nuclear weapons are stored, three minutes after its take off from Kirtland Air Force Base at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Kirtland base operations confirmed there were no survivors, said Walter Sprick of the Federal Aviation Administration.

"One big fireball and that was it," a nearby resident said.

Air Force crews using flares and helicopter spotlights recovered at least 15 bodies in a pre-dawn search. Authorities said all those aboard were military personnel.

A spokesman at the plane's base said it was used frequently by high ranking military personnel and American and foreign dignitaries.

Former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is among those who have used the plane, the spokesman said.

The aircraft, which was scattered over 10 acres after impact, was used as a model for modifications to Air Force One, the president's plane.

An air traffic controller said he tried to warn the pilot the plane was in trouble.

"The first indication we had he was in trouble was when the radar showed he was too close to the mountain and flying too low," said the controller.

"We hit him on the guard frequency and told him to turn right and climb ... but he never did," he said.

The jet was a communications aircraft based at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in Goldsboro, N.C. An Air Force spokesman said it was on a training mission and was on its way to Nellis Air Force Base in Nevada.

The EC135, described as a "modified 707," stopped in Albuquerque to refuel, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the pilot made what was probably a routine attempt to contact departure control just after take off. The tower responded, but the pilot didn't return the communication.

The plane crashed about 8,500 feet up the Manzano Mountain range, about five miles east of the Kirtland runway.

Dr. Crosby Eaton, a resident of the Four Hills subdivision located near the crash site, said he was taking out his trash when he heard the plane flying very low toward his house.

He said the plane sounded like it was flying on "one or two of its four engines."

The aircraft flew over his house at about 300 feet, then turned into the mountain, he said.

"If he had turned north instead of south, he would have turned right into Four Hills," he said.

Dolores Welch, a convenience store clerk, said she was waiting on a customer who was facing the mountain when the plane hit.

She said the man suddenly asked, "did you see that" and she turned.

"It looked like the whole sky lit up," she said. "It looked like the sun had come up."

She said area residents gathered in the store parking lot to watch the flames from the wreckage, which she said burned for 30 to 40 minutes

Might have made mistakes, but no wrongdoing or cover-up—Lance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance, appealing to the American people to be "the jury in this proceeding," told the Senate today that while he may have made mistakes running his Georgia banks he engaged in no wrongdoing and no cover-up.

"I am secure and comfortable knowing that my conscience is clear and that the people's verdict will be a fair and just one," the burly director of President Carter's Office of Management and Budget told the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee.

Drawling slowly and solemnly, Lance told the two senior members of the committee to their faces they have been unfair in their public statements before this, his day in court. Speaking "more in sorrow than in anger," Lance told the senior Republican, Sen. Charles Percy, that his actions were "puzzling ... regrettable."

Percy replied that he had questioned the dates on some of Lance's personal checks and whether they were timed to help him obtain a tax deduction.

"It was wrong for me to even raise the possibility," Percy conceded.

Then, one by one, the President's long-time personal friend replied to allegations made in past weeks that his personal and bank dealings, most of them before he joined the Carter government, were marked by irregularities and improprieties. When he finished reading his 1¾-hour statement, he got a half minute of hearty applause from spectators in the hearing room.

Lance told the panel and a national television audience that his rights had "been treated in the most irresponsible and destructive manner" and allegations against him have been "erroneous ... misrepresented ... and exaggerated." Moreover, he said, "some are completely misunderstood because those making the charge do not have all the facts ..."

"I did not ask for this fight, but now that I am in it, I am fighting not only for myself but also for our system," Lance declared. "I was a successful businessman in my home state, and I thought I had an important contribution to make by coming into government service."

The budget director has said again and again he will not quit. His demeanor and his words appeared to underscore that determination.

But even as he spoke, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill told reporters that because of Lance's financial problems "the image of the President is going down a little bit."

Seated at a long table covered with green felt and emblazoned with a nameplate — "Mr. Lance" — the budget director told the committee: "The rights that I thought I possessed have gone, one by one, down the drain ...

"Were my rights protected?" he asked. "We'll let the American people answer that."

He declined to "contend that I made no mistakes" when he ran the Calhoun First National Bank of Calhoun, Ga., of which he was board chairman, and the National Bank of Georgia, in Atlanta, which he served as president.

"But to accept the assertion that I could not even manage a small country bank, one must ignore the objective facts," he told the committee, which recommended his confirmation as the nation's budgetmaker last January.

Lance told the panel he had answered questions from its members and from its staff fully and accurately in January and had withheld nothing.

Lance vigorously denied he had backdated any checks to allow him to take income tax deductions for 1976, a possibility suggested by Percy last Friday.

Alaska issue

Andrus plea may spark epic battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus is asking Congress to preserve nore than 90 million acres of Alaska wilderness, a move expected to spark an environmental battle of epic proportions.

At issue is the future course of the nation's last frontier, thousands of square miles of wilderness lands whose development will be determined by Congress.

The battle pits preservationists against developers.

Andrus seeks to protect an area almost the size of California for national parks, wildlife refuges, wild and scenic rivers and national forests. Estimates of the amount of land Andrus will ask Congress to preserve range from 91.6 million acres to 92.8 million acres.

Environmentalists want even more land to be protected from development. In bills before Congress, they are asking that nearly 120 million acres be preserved.

Developers argue that the amount of land to be preserved is far too extensive and would block future development of oil and gas reserves, minerals and timber.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce filed suit Wednesday to block Andrus from testifying today before a House subcommittee, arguing unsuccessfully in U.S. District Court that the secretary is required by law to file an environmental impact statement before testifying.

According to Fred Krebs, a chamber attorney, the suit was prompted by "a fairly good cross section" of the mining, timber, oil and gas interests within the chamber.

20 to 32 million need care

Shocking mental health report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Between 20 million and 32 million Americans need mental health care, a new report to the government says, but help is often unavailable because of inadequate community services, costs that are too high or the stigma of mental illness.

"The time has come for mental health care to become part of a broader effort to deal with human needs," concludes the preliminary report of the President's Commission on Mental Health, released today.

The report notes that 15 per cent of the population need some form of help, ranging from counseling to long-term care, not counting the six million who are mentally retarded.

At any one time, the report adds, about 25 per cent of the country is under enough emotional stress that a doctor might diagnose such people as suffering from depression or anxiety.

About 15 per cent of the school-age population needs help at a time, the commission found, while noting that people aged 65 and over have the highest incidence of mental health problems.

The report says minorities and the country's rural population have special problems. Social and economic conditions make these people vulnerable to psychological and emotional distress, the report said.

The commission said individuals who need attention include those who "suffer the effects of a variety of societal ills ... the alienation and fear, the depression and anger associated with unrelenting poverty and the institutionalized discrimination that occurs on the basis of race, sex class, age and mental and physical handicaps."

First Lady Rosalynn Carter is the honorary chairman of the 20-member commission which is making 14 specific recommendations to President Carter.

These proposals "if implemented ... offer the hope of immediate improvement in the avilability of services to many of those we have identified," wrote Dr. Thomas E. Bryant, commission chairman, in his letter to the President.

The recommendations, according to a commission spokesman, would require no new legislation, virtually no additional funds and could be implemented by executive action.

Hometowners stomp, cheer, pray for Bert

About 1,500 people — more than one-fifth of Calhoun's population — turned out in a demonstration of support for the director of the federal Office of Management and Budget on the eve of his appearance before a Senate panel investigating his financial affairs.

The crowd gave a standing ovation as the high school band played "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "I Did It My Way."

They had placards saying "Calhoun for Bert" and "Bert's A Good Ole Georgia Boy." They used words like "love," "friendship," and "honesty" to describe Lance, who did not attend the rally.

"I'll tell you what kind of a guy he is," said Jack Purcell, who used to be the catcher on the softball team when Lance was pitcher.

"I called him up last year to come speak to the graduating class of the school where I was principal. And even though it rained and the loudspeakers didn't work, he came and he spoke. And when I sent him a check for speaking to the class, he sent the check back because he didn't do it for the money. That's the kind of guy Bert is."

Lance's minister, the Rev. Emory Brackman, told of the "very generous" contributions of time and money that Lance and his wife, LaBelle, made to the First Methodist Church. He recalled that Lance received "the highest honor" a United Methodist can receive when he was elected to the church's General Conference.

Lt. Gov. Zell Miller, who shared a double desk with Lance in grammar school, accused the news media of distorting the Lance affair. He denied a statement in an article in a national magazine that quoted him as saying Lance was a poor arithmetic student.

"Powerful and ruthless forces" — whom he later identified as the federal bureaucracy — have attacked Lance, Miller said.

They wanted to talk about the back-slapping, joke-telling Bert Lance who married his high school sweetheart and helped his neighbors as he rose from a 19-year-old bank teller to a 32year-old bank president.

"He treated a man like a man wants to be treated," said John Houser, who carried a sign saying "Bert Lance Was Fair To Me ... We Need Him In D.C." He said Lance helped him get back on his feet several years ago when he lost "a lot of money" investing in a mill.

Five high school bands and drill teams will lend their color to the opening day parade of the Los Angeles County Fair Friday at 2 p.m.

Ensembles from Pomona, Walnut, Ganesha, Garey and El Rancho high schools will join Pomona Mayor Charles Bader, G. Grenville Whyte, fair association president, and five fair princesses in the march around the fairgrounds.

The 50th Los Angeles County Fair will open at 10 a.m. with colorful displays in many buildings.

One will be crowned queen. The others will serve as princesses and also represent the fair at public events.

The coronation will be held before the first performance of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association rodeo in the Grandstand area.

About 45,000 visitors are expected Friday on the first day of the fair's 17-day run.

Record for an opening-day crowd is 49,666 set in 1966.

'All-adult' apartments challenged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Steve and Lois Wolfson like their apartment overlooking a yacht harbor at Marina del Rey, and they say they're not about to leave just because they have a baby.

Now they have asked Judge Harold I. Cherness of Culver City Municipal Court to rule on a suit they brought to keep the $390-a-month apartment. Testimony begins today.

Mrs. Wolfson said nobody objected for more than a year after she brought Adam home from the hospital in September 1975.

"We've never had any complaints about Adam," Mrs. Wolfson said. "In fact, all of our neighbors have signed affidavits saying they like him and want him to stay in the building, and they're appearing in court on our behalf."

In November 1976, after the Wolfsons had signed a lease renewal, they got a letter from their landlord, Marina Point Ltd., telling them they would have to leave because of the baby. They chose to fight eviction.

"We love it here. It's a terrific buy," Wolfson said. "There's a great view of the marina from both bedrooms."

Several other children already live in the apartment complex. They lived there before the ban was imposed.

"The children from adjacent buildings who come over to play in front of this one are a lot noisier than Adam's ever been," said a neighbor, Robert Smith.

Lorne Despres, a director of the Fair Housing for Children Coalition, said the refusal of landlords to rent to families with children raises discrimination questions as profound as those of the early civil rights struggles.

"Landlords make unfair generalizations about children, using pretty much the same arguments given by all bigots," she said. "They say they won't rent to persons with children because children are noisy and destructive. Well, all children aren't noisy, and all adults aren't quiet, and it's unfair to discriminate against them as a class."

A LITTLE TROUBLE

Steve and Lois Wolfson pose outside their apartment near the beach at Marina Del Rey with their son Adam, 2. Their landlord has told them Adam's presence will require them to leave. The Wolfson's filed suit, contending the apartment's ban on children violates state law. They've lived in the apartment three years.

More debris discovered in aqueduct

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Northern San Diego County residents were facing imminent water shutoffs and 300 Riverside farmers had no relief for their parched crops as workmen discovered even more debris than expected clogging the vital Colorado River Aqueduct.

Sand, gravel and rock were found as far as 1,000 yards into the pipeline Wednesday, causing Metropolitan Water District Officials to estimate the water route won't be clear until next Tuesday, rather than Sunday as they had predicted.

The aqueduct, a major source of water for 11 million Southern Californians, was shut down when a flash flood tore away a 2,500-pound access hatch at a Desert Hot Springs transition structure last weekend, pushing mud and muck into the adjacent siphon and pipeline.

If the pumping stations don't start operating until Tuesday, desperately needed water won't reach Riverside County's Lake Mathews distribution point and into San Diego County until Thursday.

About 200 San Diego County residents in the Rainbow area northeast of Fallbrook and others at Valley Center northeast of Escondido were facing critical shortages and possible shutoff because of limited water storage.

MWD officials were trying to set up emergency transportation of water from Lake Perris in Riverside County to San Diego water users but they said it would take 24 hours to complete the preparations.

With that plan in the works, the State Dpartment of Parks and Recreation promptly prohibited swimming and water sports in Lake Perris, but said fishing and boating will be allowed.

In Riverside County, two water districts which draw directly from the aqueduct shut off water to agricultural users because they only had enough in storage for householders. About 200 citrus growers in the Woodcrest and Gavilan Hills areas were affected, as well as 100 farming customers and two golf courses at Sun City and Edgemont.

Riverside County supervisors declared a state of emergency for the desert communities hit by last week's flash floods to open the way for federal aid.

The county's Disaster Preparedness Office said that 143 homes in Thousand Palms, Rancho Mirage and Palo Verde Valley were damaged by mudslides and 10 were destroyed.

It's all Spanish for young students

SAN DIEGO (AP)—It's not one little, two little, three little Indians that U. S. tots in city school kindergarten classes sing about, but instead "un pequeno, dos pequenos, tres pequenos indios."

"Your child is going to learn to read through the Spanish language and automatically will read English without having been taught to read English," is what Hal Wingard, a school system language specialist, tells parents worried about ability of their tiny youngsters to survive in an all-Spanish classroom environment.

"The kids look at me, look at each other and usually they finally get what I'm saying," said Carmen Quintana, one of the teachers of 650 English-speaking children being tossed directly into the pool that is the Spanish language.

For these kids, the crayons they are using are "rojos" and "verdes" and other colors of the Spanish rainbow.

Spanish is virtually the only language pupils in some kindergarten and first grade classes will hear from their teachers for the remainder of the school year. In grades two through six in these optional classes, the teacher will give half a course in English, then the conclusion in Spanish.

The pupils will still learn the three R's, but for the most part in Spanish.

The intercultural language program, which is part of a court-ordered desegregation plan, is being offered for the first time in the school term that began this week.

Wingard said San Diego is among the first U. S. cities to use a technique called "total immersion," which denies the child reliance on English and makes him or her communicate in another tongue.

Montreal, a Canadian city in which English and French are used, has been conducting a similar program for more than a decade.

"We each learn to read only once in our lives," he said. "If we learn to read in one language and speak another language, we naturally will be able to read in that other language. The results over a dozen years in Montreal confirm this."

Ms. Quintana is one of 20 bilingual teachers who were recruited and intensively trained for the San Diego program.

"This involves some of the most disciplined and rigorous teaching." Wingard said. "Not only do the teachers have to deal with just communicating with students—like in the traditional language classes—but they have to get ideas across."

Wingard said the program is getting a good reception from parents, although many can't conceive how it works.

"Parents find it hard to believe because they can't imagine themselves in a total immersion program, but the kids really do learn the language, and their regular school curricula," he said.

Versatility of G.D.'s cruise missile described

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The versatility of the Tomahawk cruise missile, General Dynamic's entry in the missile production race with Boeing, was illustrated to members of the Pomona Kiwanis Club Wednesday.

Dennis Zeugschmidt of General Dynamics' Convair Division in San Diego explained that his firm has completed the validation stage of the Tomahawk and is in the development stage, one step from production.

A federal contract has not been awarded yet on production of a cruise missile, but General Dynamics officials are optimistic.

If General Dynamics were to receive the federal contract, the Tomahawk would be manufactured by Convair.

Zeugschmidt explained that the Tomahawk, a modular missile, is 18 feet long and 21 inches in diameter.

He said that it can be launched externally or internally from a B-52 bomber, from a truck on the ground, from a surface vessel or a submarine.

He explained that the same test missile, equipped with a parachute, has been recovered as many as five times, and evaluated after each flight.

Recovery after testing means a 90 percent savings in refurbishing, he explained.

He illustrated how the various modules of the missile, the guidance system, payloads, airframe, and propulsion system may be varied depending on the target and the launch base.

He explained how the missile is delivered to its base in a steel or aluminum casing which is discarded after launch.

Zeugschmidt said that Tomahawk has a speed of 550 miles per hour at less than 300 feet altitude.

Equipped with an on-board computer and a modified Harpoon guidance system, Tomahawk in flight matches land elevations with data programmed before flight.

He noted that since it is the same size as a Navy torpedo, it can be launched from a submarine.

Zeugschmidt said that the Tomahawk will go "several thousand miles."

He said that the Soviets are concerned about its capability, although they already have cruise missiles.

He was accompanied to the meeting by Don Luchsinger, General Dynamics Pomona.

State briefs

UC policy change?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After years of debating the issue of South African investments, the University of California regents appear ready to change university policy.

Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally concedes the change almost certainly will not go as far as his proposal to sell all of UC's $555 million of stock in companies with operations in South Africa.

But a longstanding proposal to establish a "social responsibility" advisory committee for investment decisions looks likely to pass at Friday's regents' meeting, with support from most of Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s new appointees to the board.

Bargaining rights

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. must decide whether to sign or veto a bill granting limited collective bargaining rights to nearly 100,000 state employes.

By a 24-8 Senate vote Wednesday, the state Senate approved Assembly amendments to the bill, SB 839 by Sen. Ralph Dills, D-Gardena, and sent it to the Democratic governor.

This is the second measure in three years that the legislature has approved to extend bargaining rights to public workers.

Ocean mining

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — International agreements protecting American business are a must if the United States is to make headway in the sweepstakes to find minerals under the ocean floor, top mining and government officials say.

The United States has suffered "humiliation" in talks aimed at clarifying mining rights on the high seas, Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., told a panel discussion Wednesday at the American Mining Congress convention.

Murphy characterized United Nations-sponsored talks on a Law of the Sea as "the scene of...controversial events, secret negotiations, bitter personality conflicts and a continued unproductive dialogue between the Third World and industrialized nations."

At stake are mineral-rich beds on the ocean floor containing copper, nickel, cobalt and mangenese — minerals now heavily imported into the United States.

STILL CHEERING

Inman Perkins, 36, and Marlene Keran, 28, aren't letting the advancing years stop them from participating in something they loved as teen-agers. Both are on the pep squad at Fresno State University.

Although other pep squad members range in age from their late teens to early 20s, Perkins and Ms. Keran don't consider their ages a handicap. In many cases they have used their advance years to their advantage.

"We don't pull any punches about our age," said Ms. Keran, co-head pep girl. "In fact, we try to emphasize it with administrators. They listen more intently because we're not 18-year-olds they can shove in some corner."

Another use for that leverage of age is in recruiting fans to attend games.

"Our age is an advantage when we're talking to older students. At least we arouse their curiosity," she said. "And the younger kids on the squad look up to us...they listen to us, and they keep us young."

"I have never worked that hard in my entire life," Perkins said of the ordeal of trying out for the squad.

"I had trouble sitting down and getting back up again," Ms. Keran added.

Perkins has returned to school after a 10-year absence to study radio and television and Ms. Keran is pursuing a degree in fine arts after a six-year absence.

They found it natural to get involved in cheerleading because that was an important part of their school days one and two decades ago.

PRO AND CON ON TAX RELIEF

At back-to-back news conference in the Capitol at Sacramento Wednesday, Democratic Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, right, predicted a new property tax relief proposal, which is before both houses today, has a 50-50 chance of passage. Moments later Republican Assembly leader Paul Priolo said the proposal would not be approved.

10,000 troops hunt terrorists

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government put 10,000 police and troops on full alert today to hunt for a new left-wing terrorist group that claimed responsibility for the worst rash of bomb explosions in Mexico in decades.

Police said 23 blasts injured five persons and did an estimated $20 million damage in Mexico City, Guadalajara and Oaxaca between midnight and 3 a.m. Wednesday. The police said 17 more homemade time bombs were found and disarmed.

Police squads, detective units and special anti-guerrilla military squadrons were making surprise searches and manning roadblocks at numerous points in the country. One unofficial report said 13 suspects had been arrested and taken to a military compound outside Mexico City.

Leaflets signed by the Union of the People, an organization not heard of previously, said it was responsible for the bombs. It called other left-wing terrorist groups "chicken" and vowed to bring "Lenin's revolution" to Mexico to stop "unemployment, hunger and exploitation imposed on the people by the dominant class."

Lawyer Jose Rojo Colorado, who defends accused leftist terrorists, told reporters in Oaxaca that the Union was founded in that city and had its headquarters there. He said the bombings were in retaliation for recent arrests of members of the Union and other leftist groups.

Mexico City's police chief, Arturo Durazo, was quoted as saying the "principal leaders of the organization have been identified."

Security forces also were hunting for armed gangs who kidnaped two doctors and three youths and killed the wife of one of the doctors in separate attacks Tuesday in small towns near Mexico City. But police blamed the kidnapings on the 23rd of September Communist League, heretofore the most active urban terrorist organization in the country.

Police believed the bombings were timed to disrupt ceremonies Friday celebrating the 167th anniversary of Mexico's independence from Spain.

The bombs damaged or wrecked government buildings and businesses, including Sears Roebuck and Woolworth stores, an American Motors dealer and a Pepsi Cola plant. Among targets where unexploded bombs were found were a General Motors assembly plant and the headquarters of the Colgate Palmolive subsidiary.

Guadalajara, the capital of Jalisco state, was hit hardest. Four department stores, three banks and the local office of the Federal Power Commission were bombed.

MAPPING STRATEGY

Clark Clifford for the defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clark McAdams Clifford wrote speeches for Harry Truman, was an intelligence adviser to John Kennedy, ran the Defense Department for Lyndon Johnson and now is trying to save Bert Lance for Jimmy Carter.

Unflappable, keenly intelligent, wise, charming and, above all, a realist, is the way friends and colleagues describe Clifford, a Washington lawyer who keeps returning to the service of presidents.

This time he is counsel to a long-time friend of President Carter. He will be by the side of Bert Lance, the director of the Office of Management and Budget, as the former Georgia banker testifies before the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee.

The Senate committee is looking into allegations about Lance's financial affairs, his overdrafts at banks he ran and his use of bank-owned aircraft for personal or political business.

Clifford was most recently aiding Carter in international affairs, serving as the President's special envoy to Cyprus.

But his service to Democratic presidents goes back a long way. Clifford was a speechwriter for President Truman and helped plan Truman's 1948 election victory. He assisted in President Kennedy's transition to the presidency, then became chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board.

He was defense secretary for President Johnson, but later tried to persuade Johnson to end America's involvement in Vietnam.

During the Republican years, Clifford persisted in denouncing the Vietnam war, and built up a lucrative law practice with clients like General Electric, Du Pont, the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and other corporate giants.

He is considered a brilliant strategist and consultant who knows how to use his considerable expertise into Washington's intricate network of power and influence.

"There may be a more competent and intelligent lawyer in the United States, but I have not heard of him," said Eugene Carusi, a Washington attorney and Clifford's golfing buddy.

The silver-haired Clifford, who wears horn-rimmed glasses and conservative suits, said in an interview Wednesday that he has been working day and night since Sept. 5, when he agreed to take on the Lance case. He called it a "massive task."

He promised "quite a lot of new information" that will make Lance "quite appealing to the people."

"I have been trying to prepare the best defense that I can. I want to see that he gets a fair hearing and emerges with a restored reputation," said Clifford.

And Clifford himself said, "What takes place after the hearings is out of our hands. I don't know what Lance's views or the President's views are (about Lance resigning). That's a political decision. I just want to give him the best opportunity to defend himself."

A Houston oil executive who does business with Clifford says the lawyer is careful in selecting his arguments.

"There will be no radical contentions that will not bear the scrutiny of the noonday sun. I wouldn't be surprised if Clifford doesn't somehow get it across — very smoothly of course — that every member of Congress ... has done some similar things in their lives. After all, these people live in the real world. And if anything, Clifford is a realist."

Clifford is an avid golfer who scores in the high 70s. He doesn't drink but smokes three — no more, no less — cigarettes a day. One after lunch, two after dinner.

Clifford has been married to Margery "Marny" Kimball Clifford for 47 years. They have three daughters and 12 grandchildren.

Clifford, who was born on Christmas Day 1906, grew up and first practiced law in St. Louis.

House panel OKs increase in S.S earning limitation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired people could earn up to $4,500 next year without losing Social Security benefits under a plan approved by a House subcommittee.

Its chairman says the current limit reduces some elderly persons to eating pet food.

Recipients who now earn more than $3,000 lose $1 in benefits for every $2 they bring in above the ceiling. That limitation, says Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., means some retirees are "living on a diet of cat and dog food."

In a move experts say could affect a million people, the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security Wednesday tentatively approved raising the allowance in 1978.

Under the proposal, recipients could earn $6,000 in 1979 without facing an aid cutback.

The limit on exempt earnings this year is $3,000. It is expected to go to $3,240 in 1978 and $3,480 in 1979 under a provision of the existing law that ties benefits to inflation.

The subcommittee's move, approved 9 to 3, was a compromise between proposals to abolish the limitation and others for a smaller or later increase. Republicans had suggested phasing out the limitation over three years.

As part of the compromise, the subcommittee agreed that the whole subject would be considered again when the panel takes up long-range changes in Social Security, probably next year.

The subcommittee is now putting together legislation to keep the deficit-plagued Social Security system alive.

All the votes it is now taking are subject to later change or reversal.

Burke, the panel chairman, predicted the move "wouldn't get 50 votes against it" if it reaches the House floor.

Partly offsetting the cost of raising the income lid, the subcommittee voted to remove from the law a quirk that allows a retired person to earn as much as he can in a month if he forfeits his benefits for that month.

The cost of raising the earnings limit was estimated at $2 billion in 1979, $2.4 billion in 1980 and $2.5 billion in 1981. The savings from eliminating the monthly option were calculated at $400 million a year.

The subcommittee recommended adding some six million federal, state and local government employes to the system and voted to end the option state and local governments and nonprofit organizations have of withdrawing from Social Security.

Man sought for rape

Police said the man drove into the station about 4 a.m. and confronted its attendant. Police said the man attacked the woman, first beating her about the face and then raping her.

The rapist was described as a white, about 20 years of age, 5 feet 10, .140 pounds, with dark brown, shoulder-length hair.

At the time of the incident, the rapist was wearing blue jeans, blue tennis shoes, a red and white stripped shirt, a blue sweatshirt, and a red and white baseball cap.

He is driving a 1971 or 1972 lemon yellow two-door, stock Pinto with a factory chrome luggage rack on the top.

Burglary suspect, 3 young 'lookouts' held

A 24-year-old Ontario man and three young boys accused of acting as "lookouts" were arrested Wednesday afternoon in connection with a burglary of a laundromat dryer coin box at 1876 E. Fourth St., Ontario, police reported.

Police said the suspect, Ruben Johnny Gonzales, and the three boys, ages 10, 11 and 13, were arrested outside of the Lunderland laundromat by Ontario police officer Don McGready investigating a report of a burglary at the business.

McGready said that he was investigating a non-injury traffic accident at Fourth Street and Vineyard Avenue when a citizen ran up to him and reported that a man and several boys were damaging the laundromat down the street.

McGready immediately went to the laundromat and arrested the four suspects.

Gonzales was arrested for investigation of burglary and the three boys were held for questioning on burglary charges.

McGready discovered that one of the coin boxes in a dryer inside the laundromat had been pryed open and a number of coins removed.

Administrators, school bond head to be named

The Pomona school board will meet tonight to name the district's three new cluster administrators and a person to supervise the district's impending bond election to finance the Diamond Bar high school and Phillips Ranch elementary schools.

The meeting will begin at 6:15 p.m. in the board room of the Education Center, 800 S. Garey Ave., Pomona.

The task of acquiring the three new administrators has been a difficult one as speculation indicated a lack of willingness to take the jobs on the parts of some district officials. Sources indicated as late as Wednesday that a final three administrators may not be recommended for board approval tonight and that conceivably only one or two of the spots might be filled.

Two injured in hit-run crash

Two Claremonters were injured in Pomona Wednesday night in the collision of their small auto with a hit-run motorist, police reported.

The accident was at San Bernardino and Towne avenues. The driver, Martha L. White, 20, suffered a scalp cut which required stitches later at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. She told police the collision occurred when the other driver turned left in front of her.

A passenger in her car, Iain C. Scarr, 21, was treated for arm, leg and back injuries.

Just after noon, Denise M. Dee, 26, of Montclair, was hurt when her car hit the rear of an auto which had stopped for a dog in Indian Hill Boulevard north of Granada Place, police said. She was released after treatment at the hospital. The other driver, Helena Dillon, 46, of Claremont, was unhurt.

Wednesday morning, a motorcyclist suffered a collarbone injury when his bike and a car collided at Second Street west of Reservoir Street. The rider, Richard E. Butts, 45, of Pomona, was treated at PVCH. The driver of the car, Michael E. Galyon, 19, of La Habra, was exiting a parking lot when the accident occurred.

And early Wednesday morning a Claremont woman escaped injury when her auto went out of control, jumped the curb and struck a fence and house at 794 Jayson Court.

Police reported that Vicki M. Farr, 24, was southbound on Towne Avenue when the accident occurred.

Ontario man arrested in gas station robbery

A 22-year-old Ontario man has been arrested in connection with a robbery at the Sav-Mor service station at 1315 E. Fourth St., Ontario, Tuesday morning.

Booked in West End jail is Carl Joe Gibbons on two counts of suspicion of robbery.

Gibbons, according to police, was arrested near his home Wednesday after he was identified from photographs by witnesses in the service station.

Common Market fears consequences

High-level U.S. oil imports hit

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Common Market officials said today U.S. "laxity" in continuing to import vast quantities of oil could aggravate the economic problems of Western Europe.

A report prepared for a meeting next Monday of Common Market economic ministers warned that the high level of U.S. oil imports will not only tend to increase world prices and reduce supplies, but also worsen the deficit in the U.S. trade balance.

The proportion of imported oil in the United States has been increasing steadily in recent years and is now approaching 50 per cent.

Because Western Europe is more dependent on imported oil, it would be more sharply affected by rising prices. And any attempt by the United States to reduce its trade deficit "could have important consequences, particularly in the area of exchange rates, growth and inflation," the report said.

Reducing the deficit could be accomplished by increasing U.S. exports, cutting imports, or both. Such actions could seriously hurt Western Europe, which relies more on international trade than does the United States.

The report warned the United States against "too large a degree of laxity" on its oil imports.

The report also painted a gloomy picture of increased unemployment and sluggish growth in Western Europe, up to 1980 and perhaps even beyond.

Officials of the European Commission, the Common Market executive body, said in a formal statement on the report, "the question is whether our societies can envisage so large a number of unemployed without losing credibility and dignity."

Jean-Claude Morel, the Common Market official who presented the report to reporters, told them unemployment may continue to rise if there is not enough spending on new projects, public and private.

In response to questions, Morel also said he believed more spending money should be put in the hands of the poorest people in Europe by lowering their income tax rates.

Bingo amendments discussion delayed

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The Pomona City Council has decided to hold over to another meeting further discussion on amendments to its bingo ordinance.

Mayor Charles Bader said he felt the suggested changes would be difficult to enforce.

—Only one organization may use the same property to conduct bingo games. Sampson said that such a requirement would obviate the possibility that there be seven "Churches of All Faiths" playing bingo each day.

—A manager must be present and be responsible for the conduct of bingo games.

—The business license tax will amount to 10 percent of the gross receipts with no minimum.

Sampson said that he made most of the changes after reviewing new bingo rules of the City of Los Angeles.

Sampson said that it should be noted that Los Angeles will allow bingo a maximum of six hours a day during three days each week.

Councilman Stanton Selby complained that the alcoholic beverage ban discrimated against such groups as the Elks, Moose and the Eagles.

Sampson recalled that the present ordinance allows bingo games by tax-exempt organizations, but the amended ordinance opens the bingo games also to mobile home park associations or senior citizen organizations, provided the proceeds will be used for charitable purposes.

The ordinance says that all bingo games shall be open to the public, not just to members of a non-profit group.

The ordinance calls for a $50 regulatory license fee per year, and a business license fee amounting to 10 per cent of the gross receipts.

Chiropractic care highlighted

Seven local doctors will participate in answering questions from the public on the subject of chiropractic health care at the Los Angeles County Fair on the exposition's opening day Friday, and on the closing day, Oct. 2.

They are Drs. Karl Elliesen of Pomona, Doris Meggett of Claremont, Ronald Elser of Covina, William Gaines of Glendora, Robert Loehr of Rowland Heights, Eric Seibert of Chino, and J. K. Ariki of Montclair.

The doctors will be officed in a 34-foot Mobile Education Unit sponsored by the Los Angeles County Chiropractic Society. The unit, open to the public at no charge, features a series of informative and educational exhibits.

Being purely institutional and educational in nature, the exhibit will offer no examinations, nor will any specific individual health care advice be dispensed.

SEN. WILLIAM CAMPBELL, R-33rd Dist., Whittier, chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Fire Services, is the author of legislation passed by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee to provide training to rural and volunteer firefighters in California.

Campbell said the bill, S. B. 456, is "the most crucial bill affecting the quality of our fire protection capability to come out of the Legislature this year."

There are more than 50,000 firefighters in California and the majority will train under the new program if it becomes law.

Three bills by SEN. RUBEN S. AYALA, 32nd Dist., Chino, have been signed into law by Governor Brown.

They are S. B. 887, which authorizes audits of losing primary candidates' reports immediately after the last date for filing, and the first report or statement following the primary election; S. B. 190 which requires coroners to inquire into and determine the circumstances of all deaths in state mental hospitals; and S. B. 811, which makes it a misdemeanor for a driver or owner of any vehicle knowingly to permit any person to discharge a firearm unlawfully from the vehicle.

"I feel this law will fill a gap in a previous law which only applied to the person driving or firing from a vehicle," said Ayala. "It would be especially beneficial in curtailing juvenile gang shootings."

REP. JOHN H. ROUSSELOT, R-26th Dist., San Moreno, says that at long last there appears to be serious discussion in Congress about reforming tax laws.

He points out that the average wage earner in this country pays anywhere from 35 to 40 per cent of every dollar earned in some form of taxation each year.

Federal taxes are 20 to 30 per cent and going up. Projections are that by 1980 taxes will go over 50 per cent unless government stops spending and taxing, Rousselot said.

"Let us hope the members of Congress do not prepare another reform package that glitters with promise while including hidden and subtle ways to increase revenues for more spending," he added.

In another statement, ROUSSELOT warned that the Social Security system is in "serious financial trouble."

He said that if the federal government continues to manage the Social Security trust funds under established procedures, the funds will be exhausted by the early 1980s.

"If Social Security were disbanded today," said Rousselot, "it would need more than $4 trillion in additional funds just to pay its present obligations — $20,000 to every man, woman and child in the country.

"We must, therefore, begin untangling this intricate problem."

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., West Covina, said Nov. 1 is the deadline for Congressional nominations to the nation's military service academies.

Interested individuals should contact Lloyd's West Covina district office at 100 S. Vincent Ave., Suite 507 or the Ontario district office at 520 N. Euclid Ave.

Applicants must be at least 17 and not more than 22 years of age, hold U. S. citizenship and live in the 35th Congressional District.

SEN. ALAN CRANSTON, D-California, announced that the Senate had passed a bill to provide new medical programs and improved health care for sick and disabled veterans.

He also said that more than 2.2 million veterans with service-connected disabilities will receive a 6.6 per cent cost-of-living increase in their benefits effective Oct. 1.

Cranston is chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee.

CRANSTON introduced legislation in the U. S. Senate to finance a land rehabilitation program in an expanded Redwood National Park in Northern California that could create 400 new jobs next year.

The employment figure, he said, would rise to 1,013 jobs by 1980.

He proposes an amendment to his Redwood National Park Expansion Bill, S. B. 1976, authorizing an appropriation of $33 million over the next three years to rehabilitate lands within the watershed area.

This is substantially more than the $12 million authorization asked by the Carter Administration in the original version of S. B. 1976 which Cranston introduced Aug. 1, to take 48,000 acres out of timber production and add it to the existing 56,435-acre park in Humboldt and Del Norte counties.

FORMER REP. JOHN G. SCHMITZ, R-Orange County, has filed a state Supreme Court lawsuit against state Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger to force the processing of an initiative ballot measure to prohibit forced busing in California.

Schmitz announced the lawsuit at a Los Angeles news conference in which he assailed Younger for "wrongfully and unlawfully" refusing to summarize and assign an official title to Schmitz' initiative effort.

Joining Schmitz at the conference was attorney Kenneth J. Kukuda, counsel for the Taxpayers' School Reform Committee, sponsor of the initiative drive.

Water ski show set at plaza

Water sport enthusiasts will be interested in the Los Angeles County Fair's 10th annual water ski show at the Sports Plaza area during the 17-day exposition.

Professional water ski instructor Craig Cunningham, accompanied by a team of stunt skiers, again will perform for fairgoers.

The ski pool is three feet deep and measures 135 feet in diameter.

Last year the trick ski segment included a knee ski, saucer, ski jump, and a three-man pyramid. More of the same is anticipated this year.

A regular part of the fair since 1967, the attraction has been viewed by an estimated 10 million people in its nine years.

The top drawing demonstrations display new skis and accessories, safety techniques, and basic instructions for the novice, reported Sonny Wilkinson, sports plaza manager.

Just part of the over-all recreational show, which includes vehicles, mobile homes, trailers, boats and cars, the ski show runs for about 25 minutes and is presented each day. A schedule will be posted at the arena for day-to-day show times.

The performers will arrange their act around the fair's 50th year theme of "A Salute to the Golden West."

Cavy competition expects big draw

An attractive animal which gains attention at the Los Angeles County Fair each year is the cavy, more commonly known as the guinea pig.

Mrs. Diane Ford, attendant in charge, but also a judge in the American Rabbit Breeders Association and the American Cavy Breeders Association explained that cavy is the scientific name for the loveable animal.

She said that although the cavy is a rodent, it is not immediately related to the hamster which has a gestation period of 25 days or a mouse which has 28 days, but to a capa bara and a porcupine.

Mrs. Ford said that the show this year should attract about 50 exhibitors showing 400 to 500 animals.

Classes open are American, with smooth, short hair; Abyssinian, with a rough coat; Crested, with a smooth coat and a white roseatte on the forehead; Peruvian, with a long coat; and Teddy, with a woolly coat.

Mrs. Ford said that most owners have cavies as a hobby, and that cavies need not be pedigreed for showing, although some are.

She explained that cavy fanciers belong to the American Cavy Breeders Association and the American Rabbit Breeders Association as well.

"Cavy breeders go by the same high standards as rabbit fanciers," she said. "In fact, those that raise cavies also raise rabbits."

The cavy show will be held in Building 8, where the Open Rabbit Show also is conducted.

Judging of the cavies will start at 7 a.m. Tuesday.

Pomona suspect released

A 19-year-old Pomonan, arrested in connection with the rape of a teen-age girl last Friday and the subsequent robbery of her boyfriend and family, has been released without charge by police.

The suspect, Melvin Carr, 1900 W. Orange Grove Ave., was freed after the district attorney's office in Pomona declined to issue a complaint against him. Reasons cited for the rejection were lack of evidence and physical identification.

The victim was attacked after she and her boyfriend were confronted by two young men, one armed with a pistol, at Montvue Park, San Bernardino Avenue and Cordova Street. After the attack, the girl was forced to drive her boyfriend's car to her home where members of her family also were robbed.

Carr was arrested Sunday.

Winning photos are on display

Winners of the student division competition of the Los Angeles County Fair's International Exhibition of Photography are on display during the 17-day run of the fair.

Of the 574 high school entries, five received gold medals, six silver, seven bronze, and 17 honorable mention.

Winners of the Los Angeles County Fair Best of Show and the Theisen Memorial Trophy also may be seen.

Colleges and universities entered 456 photos and were accorded one gold, three silver, four bronze and five honorable mention awards.

Adult schools had 203 entries with two gold, one silver, one bronze, and six honorable mention awards as well as the Superintendent's Special Award.

Elementary and junior high schools received two gold, two silver, two bronze, and three honorable mentions out of 64 entries.

The Earl Theisen Memorial Trophy, given by Brooks Institute in memory of the long-time magazine photographer and instructor, went to Glenn Kurosaki.

The Los Angeles County Fair Best of Show trophy went to Susan King, Reseda High.

Photography Superintendent's Award went to Bob Aiton of Reseda Adult School. Warren King is the instructor for both Reseda High and the adult school.

Dr. Ralph Taylor's office was responsible for coordinating the material.

Participating schools and their entries include Alcott Elementary, collages, watercolor and pen drawings, crayon drawings, mosaics; Fremont Junior High, ornamental wrought iron pieces, macrame, pinhole camera pictures, stitchery, geometric thread designs, and colored pencil drawings; Ganesha High, crayon drawings, acrylic, watercolors, and crayon scratch work; and Garey High, wood chess table, example of taxidermy and coyote.

Golden Springs Elementary, crayon drawings, mosaics, and acrylic; Hamilton Elementary, acrylic paintings, crayons, crayon and watercolor drawings, felt pen drawings and blow art; Kingsley Elementary, crayon drawings, paper mosaics; Lincoln Elementary, batik banner of sun faces; Lorbeer Junior High, batik of lion mounted on burlap, and wood blocks; North San Antonio Elementary, charcoal drawings and pastels and Park Avenue High, macrame hangers, pen drawings mounted on velvet and macrame wall hangings.

County urged to go ahead with building

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite a court order temporarily blocking distribution of funds to finance them, Los Angeles County should go ahead with $33 million in federal building projects, County Counsel John H. Larson has urged.

Seven school districts in mostly rural portions of the county won the order Friday in U.S. District Court on a claim that $5 million of the money should go to them.

Fair helps surrounding communities

When the first Los Angeles County Fair was held in 1922, its budget of $100,000 was considered big business.

In fact, some folks doubted that the fair could survive under such a financial burden.

Now, 49 fairs later, there's little doubt of its importance to the local economy and welfare, reports Phil D. Shepherd, secretary-manager of the fair association.

The fair's 1976 budget was $6.8 million, and the Pomona-Diamond Bar area benefited directly to the tune of $1.2 million, Shepherd stressed.

Employment, full and part time, was provided for 350 persons in that area.

Salaries and wages paid amounted to $448,084.18, and $809,040.18 was paid out by the fair for goods and services.

Local horse owners received $8,785 in purses and exhibitors in the fair's 20 major competitive divisions took home $3,182.25 in prize money.

The greater Pomona trading area of Claremont, San Dimas, Montclair, Chino, Ontario and Upland economy was enhanced by $959,638.64 as the result of the annual fair.

All other Los Angeles County areas benefited in the amount of $1,823,161.18.

The City of Pomona collected an admission tax on fair visitors as well as a sales tax for goods and services purchased by concessionaires and exhibitors.

Shepherd said that not reflected in those figures is the indirect revenue gained by the community from money spent by thousands of people who are an integral part of the fair: the concessionaires, exhibitors, racing personnel, their employes and families.

Shepherd said that another fair plus is the fact that tax dollars are not used for the operation of the 17-day exposition.

Aside from a $250,000 grant from the Division of Fairs and Expositions in Sacramento, the fair generates all its own operating capital.

That grant isn't tax connected either. Those funds come from a tax imposed on pari-mutuel wagering throughout the state.

Last year, Pomona paid more than $1 million to the state as its share of the pari-mutuel tax collected from the bettors during the 14-day race meeting.

Historical locomotives display returns to fair

The railroad exhibit was founded in January 1954 when the Southern California Chapter, Railway and Locomotive Historical Society, and the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department, decided to bring before the public a display of railroad equipment.

These groups, cooperating with the fair association, gathered the support of many companies and individuals to acquire and display pieces of historical equipment otherwise headed for the scrap pile.

Today the project represents one of the finest exhibitions of railway equipment in the United States.

Among the locomotives is United States Potash Co. 3, one of the last three-foot gauge engines in the nation, Outer Harbor Terminal Trailway Co. 2, built by Schenectady in 1887, and retired in 1955 as the oldest steam locomotive in daily service in the U. S., and Southern Pacific Co. 5021, American-built in 1925, and representing the most radical change in locomotives in a quarter century. The engine sported a new wheel arrangement and three cylinders, with the extra one under the smoke box. Of the 58 built, 5021 is the only one remaining, and was the last 4-10-2 locomotive to operate in North America. It was presented to the chapter in March, 1956.

Still another engine on display is Union Pacific Railroad Co. 9000, an American-built in 1926 as the world's largest non-articulated steam locomotive. It is three-cylinder, 4-12-2, and designed to pull mile-long freights at passengers speeds between Omaha and Green River, Neb. The tender holds 22 tons of coal and 18,000 gallons of water.

A historical railroad exhibit would not be a proper display unless it had a real railway depot. That has been taken care of with the acquisition of the former Santa Fe station from Arcadia.

The depot has appeared in numerous motion pictures and is a classic example of the gingerbread architecture of the 1890 era.

Beef cattle inspections to be daily

Fair officials offer an incentive to beef cattle herdsmen to keep an attractive exhibit all during the fair.

Judges will inspect all exhibits on a daily basis and score them on the condition of animals, cleanliness of stalls and aisles, with particular attention being given to neatness and orderliness of the area used for tack and equipment.

Sportsmanship and cooperation of the exhibitor will be taken into consideration.

Judging will be done in two separate categories. One will be for those showing five to 15 animals, with the second for those of more than 15 animals.

Winners will be announced each morning.

The high score winner in each category for the entire fair will receive a trophy.

Junior Livestock Auction slated

The top quality meat has been raised by 4-H, FFA, and college students involved in livestock projects.

Those youngsters seek buyers for their animals to help bring their learning and business experience to a successful close.

Buyers are restaurants, markets, banks, service clubs, individuals and other organizations that support such educational programs.

The auction will feature steer, hogs, and sheep.

A 1,000-pound steer will yield about 450 pounds of beef, a 200-pound pig about 130 pounds of pork, and a 100-pound sheep about 50 pounds of lamb.

In 1976, the average price per pound for swine was 84 cents a pound. For sheep it was 95 cents, and for beef it was 68 cents.

A sales catalog listing the animals for sale, their official weight, breed and owner, will be provided to buyers the day of the auction. Hogs will go up for bid at 1 p.m., lambs at 2:30 p.m. and beef will sell at 7 p.m.

Jill Lloyd of Cal Poly Pomona received $8 a pound for her 106-pound Hampshire-Suffolk Cross grand champion lamb in 1976. Successful bidder was Sam Periconne, representing Vernon Meatland.

Bonny Brown of Glen Avon 4-H Club became a three-time winner at the auction in 1976 when her grand champion market hog sold for $3 a pound. Clougherty Packing Co. of Saugus, packers for Farmer John, bought the champ.

O. H. Kruse Grain and Milling Co. of El Monte paid the high price of $2.90 a pound for a 1,132-pound Simmental Crossbred steer.

Anyone may bid at the auction.

Largest clear-span building to be used for the first time

What has been described as the largest clear-span building in the world has been completed at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds and will be used as a livestock pavilion during the 1977 fair.

According to its manufacturer, Pascoe Steel Corp. of Pomona, the pavilion is the largest clear span of its kind erected anywhere in the world.

The 66,000-square-foot structure will be used for the first time during the current fair.

Fred M. Bruderlin, the fair's assistant general manager, estimated that the total construction cost will be about $600,000.

Bleachers will seat about 400.

The pavilion has replaced a wood barn of about the same size.

Fair visitors will be able to view six breeds of show horses in one end of the building. Those include draft, Pony of the Americas, quarter, Appaloosa, and all breeds.

Sheep and goats will be exhibited in the remainder of the pavilion. A ring has been set up and will be used for judging of the animals.

Bruderlin explained that because of the portable nature of the stalls, he anticipates good use of the building during the interim season.

He said that it is ideal for horse sales and shows, and explained that interest for sales and shows already has been expressed.

Livestock costume contest planned

A new contest in the Junior Livestock division of the 50th Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona will be a costume class competition to promote the raising of sheep, and to call attention to the value of lamb and wool to the public.

The contest will be held Monday at 6 p.m. in Ring 1. A trophy and ribbon will be awarded the winner. Second through sixth place will receive ribbons.

The contestant, any person under 19 having a sheep background or an interest in sheep, must use the fair's theme of "Salute to the Golden West" in the presentation.

The contestant and sheep will be judged on originality, attractiveness, and artistry of the entry. Materials and design may be of the contestant's choosing, but harmful coloring will be disallowed.

Cholera epidemic spreads

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — New cases of cholera were reported Wednesday in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and in Iran. But health officials said the epidemic was being brought under control in Syria, the nation hardest hit.

Isolated cases of cholera were also reported in Britain and The Netherlands among recent arrivals from the Middle East.

Officials of the World Health Organization in Geneva said the disease is "not spreading unduly" beyond the epidemic centers.

The Iraq news agency said 30 persons were stricken with cholera in the town of Hamadan in Iran and two cases were reported for the first time in the West Bank of the Jordan River.

Kuwait called for a meeting of Arab League health ministers in Cairo for Sept. 24 to discuss ways of preventing new outbreaks of cholera.

Moslem priests throughout the Arab world opened the three-day holiday of Bairam with prayers asking for Allah's help against the disease.

In Syria, which reported the biggest outbreak, officials said the number of hospitalized cases dropped from 2,300 to just over 2,000. The number of new cases was "decreasing substantially," officials said.

About 70 persons died of the disease in Syria.

In Jordan, Health Minister Abdulrauf Rawabdeh said new cases were down by half and the total number hospitalized was down from 261 to 201 with no deaths.

In Lebanon, where 18 instances of cholera have been officially reported, officials were silent about new cases. Unofficial sources said the number of cases was somewhat higher with three deaths.

Cholera is a gastrointestinal disease spread primarily by microbes carried in human waste contaminating food and water. Flies are often instrumental in the spread of the microbes from fecal matter to food or drink. The symptoms are diarrhea, vomiting, severe dehydration, muscle cramps, weakness and a gray pallor of the skin.

Several Mideastern countries announced stiff measures to combat the disease, including inoculations, educational campaigns and attempts to avoid the spread of contaminated food.

But government warnings often went unheeded as Moslems began Bairam, the traditional feast that concludes the month-long Ramadan fast.

In Cairo, Egyptians munched chick peas sold in paper cups and ate spaghetti from bowls passed from one customer to another, washed down with water drunk from common glasses dipped in buckets. Often the food was swarming with flies.

In Syria, witnesses said health measures were more effective with security forces enforcing a ban on street sales of most foods and a cleanup campaign under way.

British health authorities said two persons are recovering from cholera in hospitals. One was an Iraqi man who arrived from Baghdad and the other a British woman who had been to Turkey.

But questions of ethnic balance brought up

High school site in Diamond Bar approved

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

The question of just how many high schools will be in the Pomona school district in the next five years made itself painfully obvious Wednesday night as the Pomona school board voted 3-1 to acquire and build a high school on a 43.5-acre site at the northeast corner of of Golden Springs Road and the Pomona Freeway in Diamond Bar.

Serious questions of ethnic balance were implied in the discussion surrounding the board's action as trustee Eugene Whitlock moved initially that the board acquire the $900,000 site and that the school built there become one of the district's three comprehensive high schools rather than an additional fourth high school.

This created a lengthy discussion, with trustee C. Allen Braswell renewing his opposition to the high school on what he termed insufficient enrollment projections to warrant a high school in the area.

Board President Don Donnelly said that making the high school in Diamond Bar the district's third high school would create "a great busing problem" for the district.

Donnelly said that public education does not belong in the busing business.

The issue became particularly hot when Braswell asked that the board approve a motion assuring the voters that the new high school would abide with the 14th amendment to the Constitution, that section dealing with citizenship rights.

Braswell had earlier asked for an amendment to the motion to acquire and build the high school that would have called for the ethnic ratio of the schoool to reflect the ethnic ratios of the entire district.

At one point, when Diamond Bar Municipal Advisory Councilman George Resh noted that many Diamond Bar residents send their children to parochial schools rather than Ganesha High School, Braswell retorted, "I have never actively sought to deprive a child of a religious education."

But it was Braswell's insistence on the Constitutional question that irked his colleagues.

Said trustee Frances Livingston, "I don't feel as though I have to reaffirm anything."

Mrs. Livingston said she felt the oath of office she had taken upon being seated as a board member was sufficient to meet any consitutional needs.

She was joined in her sentiments by both Whitlock and Donnelly. Whitlock said that such a motion implied on the board's part it would otherwise not meet its Constitutional obligations.

Donnelly denounced Braswell's request as a political ploy.

Should the district make the high school in Diamond Bar a fourth high school, considerable ethnic balance questions might be raised. The Diamond Bar high school area would be predominantly white and Ganesha High School area would be predominantly black.

If the Diamond Bar high school became a third high school and Ganesha High School were closed, then the new school's ethnic balance would be much the same as Ganesha's.

The board also voted 4-0 (trustee C. J. Mendoza was absent) to have the superintendent negotiate the fine points of a contract for the purchase of the land from the Transamerica Development Corp.

That purchase, of course, will be contingent on a bond election thus far tentatively planned for sometime next spring.

Bonita board unanimously approves pact

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

The 15-month long contract dispute between Bonita school district teachers and the school board has ended — but some teachers are still unhappy.

The board unanimously ratified the two-year contract Wednesday night which teachers had approved on a 191 to 28 vote Monday morning. That ended the negotiation stalemate, but evidently not the hostility expressed by teachers.

"I still don't feel they (the board negotiators) gave us a fair shake," Dick Gale, vice president of the Bonita Unified Teachers Association (BUTA) said after Wednesday's meeting. "Those people play rough — they try to intimidate you.

"I'm glad we got a contract, but I can't say we did that well."

Gale noted it was unlikely that teachers and the board will now become "kissing cousins" just because the dispute was settled.

The contract, which was the first one negotiated in the district under the state's collective bargaining law, calls for a 7.8 per cent salary increase over the teachers' 1975-76 pay schedule.

It also provides a 38 per cent increase in fringe benefits. Teachers will be getting an average of $1,100 per year for benefits such as medical and dental plans and tax shelter annuities.

The agreement includes wage and fringe benefit reopeners in March of 1978 and binding arbitration of grievances — considered a major victory for teachers.

An extra "sweetener" will be $500 in a lump sum given to those teachers who are returning from last year. Cost of that to the district will be $146,000.

Supt. James Johnson outlined the contract for trustees Wednesday, and they approved it without comment. "In my opinion, it's an excellent contract."

Johnson pointed out that class sizes will be kept to a maximum of 30 students per teacher. If the load exceeds 31 students per class, a new teacher would be hired, he said.

Cost of the entire package to the district will be $700,000, said Johnson. The agreement extends until June 30, 1979 but permits wage reopeners, giving teachers a chance to obtain an increase for 1978-79.

Gale stated that teachers "got nothing" for the 1976-77 school year, and the 7.8 percent is only for 1977-78.

He added that teachers had agreed not to strike for the remainder of the contract period under a "concerted activities" clause. Teachers also failed to gain an "agency shop" proposal which would require all Bonita teachers to be members of BUTA.

BUTA's original request for 1977-78 was a 15.36 percent pay hike. "We couldn't quite afford that," said Johnson. Teachers had rejected a 3 percent hike for 1976-77.

Board President Eugene Bowers said after the meeting he was "delighted" the contract was settled, "but I'm sorry it took so long to occur. Now we can get down to business and take care of the children in the district.

Johnson said the anticipated receipt of new state monies had given the district enough funds to afford the 7.8 percent boost. He had maintained earlier the district was too poor to afford more than a small wage increase.

Census takers sought

Additional applications are being sought by the City of Pomona for temporary jobs being filled in connection with a special city census.

The city will need 175 persons to work on the special census to be conducted from Sept. 26 through Oct. 21. Canvassers will be paid $2.60 an hour.

A bulldozer scoops up pieces of a wall of the old recreation building at the Montclair Civic Center to make way for a larger, 12,138-square-foot structure that will cost $1 million. The new center will house recreation offices, lounge, meeting rooms, stage facilities and meeting hall. Funds were provided by the federal public works act.

Illegal aliens' employers may have to pay medical bills

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

Employers who hire illegal aliens in Los Angeles County may soon have to foot their medical expenses.

The county Board of Supervisors is calling for an ordinance that would make the employers responsible for bills left unpaid by those who are living here illegally.

Supervisor Peter Schabarum says the county's medical services provide many million dollars in health care to illegal aliens who can't afford to pay for their own, from simple checkups to pregnancies and major operations.

The ordinance was requested by Supervisor James Hayes who said he was tired of waiting for help from other sources.

"We have waited too long and been disappointed too often in our hope that solutions to our problems would come from the federal or state governments," he declared.

Hayes said for many months now the mass illegal entry of aliens has been a prominent national and local issue, and "nowhere is the problem more pressing than in Los Angeles County."

He claimed that according to the Immigration and Naturalization Service there are 700,000 illegal aliens living in the county, about one out of every 10 residents.

"They impose a substantial load upon services financed by county taxes," he added. "Seven hundred thousand people, no matter where they come from, inevitably bring with them great needs for schools, fire protection, law enforcement services, courts, sanitation services and other things."

However, Hayes contended, nowhere is the extra load felt more heavily than in the department of health services. He said a report two months ago set the cost of such services for illegal aliens at more than $50 million a year.

"Although the county is paid back for some of these costs, I am advised that most of this amount is paid out of the county general funds," he said.

Hayes said he felt that while it would be cruel to withdraw medical services from aliens, the county had to recoup some of the costs.

He called for an ordinance within 30 days that would make the employers responsible for payment.

Four of 15 against incorporation

Tri-communities city council candidates split

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

The fight between Alta Loma separatists and proponents of the tri-communities incorporation continued to smolder Wednesday.

Four of 15 candidates for the Rancho Cucamonga City Council, which would be formed if the voters in Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda vote to incorporate, told a Cucamonga Chamber of Commerce audience they are against forming the city.

Each of the four, Earl R. Kunkel, Lee Nelsen, Carl P. Stark and Wanda R. Dixon, wants Alta Loma incorporated by itself.

"I am against incorporation of the three cities into one," said Kunkel. He said he was running for the Rancho Cucamonga council to serve as a "watchdog" on the new city in the event incorporation is approved.

"I believe in small communities, where the people have a bigger voice. I want to see the area maintain its identity," said Nelsen.

Stark and Mrs. Dixon, who was represented at the luncheon by Alta Loma Alone leader Mary Barlow, said taxes would be higher and citizen control reduced if the three communities become one city.

Those opinions were assailed by the remainder of the candidates, however.

"Incorporation should have happened before now. Some years ago I supported the incorporation of Cucamonga. Unfortunately it failed. Today we face the same problems we could have solved then," said Leonard R. Gorczyca.

If incorporation fails, said Gorczyca, Upland, Ontario and Fontana will reach out in annexation efforts.

"Time is running out. The area will be chopped up and will lose its individual integrity," he said.

Fragmentation of the tri-communities through annexation to surrounding cities, said Jon D. Mikels, will eventually mean higher taxes and little local control.

"A beautiful, well balanced city does not happen haphazardly. Incorporation is needed immediately," said Mikels.

"An elitist enclave is not feasible," she said.

Mrs. Godlin, a resident of Alta Loma herself, described the commercial and industrial areas in Cucamonga and Etiwanda as "essential" to creation of a balanced community.

"None of the three cities can successfully incorporate by itself without significantly increasing local property taxes," said Bob Prasser.

He and other candidates favoring incorporation said no property tax increase would be needed during the first year if incorporation is approved.

The tax rate for Rancho Cucamonga, if incorporated, would be set at 36 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for the first year.

Most of the candidates supporting formation of the city agreed that the first important step for the new city will be creation of a strong planning department and commission.

"Growth cannot be stopped. But we must work with developers to insure quality. All three areas have to work together," said Herman Rempel.

While the candidates generally agreed that incorporation would provide needed local control of growth, they disagreed with the contention that Rancho Cucamonga would erase the individuality of each of the tri-communities.

Nearly half of the candidates stated they would support the "village concept" or "two-tier" form of local government.

Under that system, the elected council would appoint or otherwise form citizen councils in Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda. Each of the citizen councils would review developments and other matters pertaining to its "village" and make recommendations to the elected council.

Health law goes begging

Two-thirds of the children of the nation's poorest parents have never seen a dentist, and about 60 percent of those youngsters have chronic medical conditions which aren't being treated.

Compared with the children of more affluent families, the prevalence of heart disease among the poor is three times as great. Six times as many low-income youngsters have hearing impairments and five times as many have mental illness.

In theory, there is no more meritorious mission for this country's federal, state and local government health agencies than to identify the debilitating medical problems of impoverished youngsters and provide treatment at a cost their families can afford.

In practice, a federal law passed almost a decade ago mandated the operation of just such a program, known as Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment or EPSDT.

But little has been done to improve the lot of millions of sick and needy children because of a disgraceful record in insensitivity, incompetence and even hostility on the part of those who were supposed to administer EPSDT.

Although the law requiring the joint federal-state program became effective in January 1968, it gave the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) 18 months to draft the necessary regulations and explain to the states the addition of EPSDT to the Medicaid program.

When the target date of July 1, 1969 arrived, however, virtually nothing had been done. In fact, it wasn't until early 1972 — more than four years after the law was passed and 2½ years after the program was supposed to be operating — that HEW's regulations finally took effect.

The potential of the program probably was best described by then-HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger, when he cited EPSDT's few successes in 1974:

"We found children whose rotting teeth had abscessed gums and were pouring poisons into their systems. Dentists treated them . . . We found children who saw the writing on the blackboard as a blur. They were fitted with glasses."

But the Children's Defense Fund, a nonprofit Washington organization, has just completed a comprehensive study which concludes that only a quarter of the needed health screenings are being conducted on the approximately 13 million children eligible for assistance.

Among those who are screened, an inadequate follow-up system results in treatment for only slightly more than half of the cases of anemia, lead poisoning, parasite infections, respiratory ailments and a host of other major medical problems.

The study identifies numerous other EPSDT failures, including inability to link children with sources of continuing health care and the virtual refusal to deal with developmental problems such as speech impairments, learning disabilities and emotional disturbances.

Criticized in the report are not only the foot-dragging federal bureaucrats but also the state health administrators who have never been enthusiastic about the program as well as the city and county health officials who have brought neither inspiration nor dedication to EPSDT at the local level.

Several months ago, President Carter unveiled a package of reforms designed to improve the entire undertaking and rename it the Child Health Assessment Program or CHAP. Congress will begin considering that package soon.

But Wendy Lazarus, director of the Children's Defense Fund study, believes that although Carter's proposal "includes some very important provisions and improves the lot of many kids, it only goes 60 percent of the way toward what's needed."

The time has come to abandon such half-measures and fulfill the special promise of this program: to give the children of the poor the chance to compete — without the handicap of an unnecessary medical disability — for the best our society can offer in education, employment and self-advancement.

More dissent on canal treaty

Dear Editor:

Your issue of Sept. 7 contained a letter by Evelyn Rigby Moore recommending we ditch our canal by "cooperation." But in suggesting we follow the dictator Torrijos, she failed to mention that he does allow one political party — the Communist Party. She forecasts the future there by saying, " . . . a totally new generation of young Panamanians will grow up, educated to be proud of their inheritance and trained . . ." Right, but "trained" by the Communist Party.

Speaking to the American Legion convention in Denver Aug. 22, Sen. Strom Thurmond, who had just returned from Panama, told the Legionnaires that the Canal Zone was purchased in the same manner as Louisiana or Alaska. "If people started to riot in Louisiana or Alaska, would we just give up?" he asked.

Ronald Reagan, addressing Young Americans for Freedom in New York Aug. 25, said that the new treaty would eliminate our rights of sovereignty acquired by the original treaty. Without these rights, we must ask what is to prevent a Panamanian regime one day from simply nationalizing the canal and demanding our immediate withdrawal.

Paul Harvey, Sen. Thurmond, the writer of a former letter on Panama, Beth Page, basically agree that a new treaty is unnecessary and/or harmful to America. To "know better" is simply a case of "superfantasia."

Mississippi DA fails lie test

WASHINGTON — In an earlier column, we reported that some influential Mississippi politicians maneuvered behind the scenes to quash an investigation of a vice squad officer after he warned privately: "If I go down, I'm not going down alone."

The threat came from Lt. John Moulder, the former head of the Jackson, Miss., vice squad, after the FBI began investigating charges that he coerced a young woman to submit to his sexual demands.

Like the Watergate case, this attempt to cover up a minor, if sordid, offense may develop into a major scandal. We have learned, for example, that Moulder has been closely linked with Jackson's powerful and popular district attorney, Ed Peters.

An undercover agent for the state's organized crime task force has accused both Moulder and Peters of negotiating to take payoffs to protect prostitution. When we confronted Peters with the charge, he vigorously denied it and offered to take a lie detector test. We agreed to give him the test.

At first, he backed out of the offer but finally took the test from his own hand-picked polygraph operator. But he agreed to allow an independent operator to monitor the testing. Both experts reported back to us that Peters failed the lie detector test. Here are the details:

The task force hired 330-pound Manfred Baron, alias the Fat Man, four years ago to infiltrate the Dixie Mafia. This is a loose association of criminals who hijack trucks, fence stolen goods, procure prostitutes and engage in other illegal pursuits.

Baron started out on the wrong side of the law and wound up with a prison record for various crimes. But he has been using his knowledge of the underworld for the past 15 years to help lawmen catch and convict top criminals. A police officer, who has worked intimately with Baron for years, told us his secret reports have always been completely accurate.

In his reports to the task force, he related that he had posed as an out-of-state gangster seeking political protection for a stable of prostitutes. He was directed to a Jackson paving contractor named Leo Hall, who has been convicted of two felonies.

Baron's secret reports quote Hall as telling him that protection money should be paid to District Attorney Peters. Baron eventually was introduced to Lt. Moulder who was identified as the district attorney's personal representative.

With this evidence to back up his story, Baron reported to the task force that Hall and Moulder demanded a $600 weekly payoff for the protection of 10 prostitutes. The protection money would be shared, they said, with Peters.

All three denied Baron's account when we confronted them. The district attorney was the most emphatic, and offered to take a lie detector test.

But we could find no competent Mississippi polygraph operator who would touch the case. The head of the Mississippi State Polygraph Association, Sam Ivey, warned us that an out-of-state operator might risk arrest if he administered the test without a Mississippi license. Ivey is a friend, we learned, of the district attorney.

Finally, we agreed to let Peters' handpicked polygraph man administer the test, and he agreed to let an independent expert monitor it. We also agreed not to print the allegations against Peters if the tests showed he was telling the truth.

The respected Franklin Security Systems of Norfolk, Va., sent an expert to oversee the test. We were also represented by Dennis Smith, the Peabody Award-winning investigative reporter for WLBT-TV in Jackson, who has worked with our reporters on the story.

Peters was asked by the polygraph operator: "In 1974, did you send Lt. Moulder to meet with Leo Hall to set up protection for prostitution in Jackson or in Hinds County?" Peters said he did not, but the machine showed he was lying.

On the second examination, the question was reworded: "Did you tell John Moulder to go meet with Leo Hall for the purpose of setting up protection of prostitutes in Jackson or in Hinds County?" Again Peters denied it, and again the machine showed he was not telling the truth.

Both Franklin's operator, David Oller, and Peters' polygrapher, David Bethea, agreed upon the readings. Oller told us the polygraph is 96 to 97 percent accurate.

Peters, nevertheless, continued to insist he is innocent of any wrongdoing. The sex charge against Moulder has been dropped, meanwhile, after Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., complained to the Justice Department about the FBI investigation. There is no reason to believe Eastland had any direct knowledge of the case. He intervened, apparently, at the request of political friends in Mississippi.

Moulder was dropped from the vice squad but remains on duty with the police force. He has been assigned, interestingly, as the liaison officer between the Jackson police and District Attorney Peters.

Postal Service under fire

You want to know why the price of postage is soaring while the quality of postal service is declining? Hear this:

The Gary, Ind., post office is fairly typical.

The lowest-paid unskilled worker in the Gary post office gets $16,000 a year. That is more than the pay of the average schoolteacher or the average policeman.

No wonder the three-cent stamp now costs 13 cents and the post office wants it raised to 16!

Three states have initiated a federal court lawsuit which seeks to roll back the cost of mailing a letter.

In open court, the states of Maine, Massachusetts and Indiana are going to reveal some of the most grotesque extravagance ever attributed to any government agency.

At the same time, the National Association of Attorneys General is probing the Postal Service — documenting what may be construed as fraud.

Legally, that's strong language. But more and more the evidence appears to warrant strong language.

Indiana Attorney General Theodore Sendak, who initiated this investigation, believes that consumers are being defrauded — "even if only 13 cents at a time."

He says there is now no control over the post office. "It does not have the political control of the people. It does not have the control of the Congress. It does not have controls which any other independent business would have — with stockholders and profit-and-loss statements."

And of course it does not have any competition. Indeed, there is a federal law prohibiting competition. You — personally, individually — are prohibited from delivering a letter to your neighbor's mailbox.

Personally, Attorney General Sendak favors return of the Postal Service to congressional supervision. Then, at least, extravagances would be periodically ventilated and curtailed.

As is, he says, the cost of sending a 13-cent first class letter is eight cents. That indicates five cents worth of waste or fraud someplace.

It could be waste. In addition to the disproportionate pay scale for postal workers — and the fact that they cannot be fired even for inefficiency — there are grotesque examples of postmasters making more than $16,000 a year assisted by clerks making $6.91 an hour though they handle postal business amounting to only about $5,000 a year!

The National Association of Attorneys General has designated one of its own, Ohio Attorney General William Brown, as consumer protection chairman.

It was he who bulldogged the expose of GM engine switches.

It is he, in your behalf, who will probe the pricing, payroll practices and control of the Postal Service.

Hardworking, efficient and honest postal employees — instead of resenting and resisting this effort — should want to assist it in any way they can.

Just in jest

With the Disability Rights Group, the League of Women Voters, Council for Senior Citizens, Civil Liberties Union, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Americans for Democratic Action, League of United Latin American Citizens, Veterans Organizations, the National Rifle Association, Equal Rights for Women advocates, the Sierra Club, Ralph Nader and George Meany all telling him how to run the country, you'd think the president of the United States would have all the answers to all the ills this country could ever fall heir to. But with all that help, plus the advice of a hundred other equally all-wise groups and individuals, I still think it would be much simpler and a lot more fun just to be a president's brother.

Doubtful need to reveal age

By EARL G. WATERS

Is it really necessary to display one's birth date on the driver's license? The question resurfaces from time to time at the state Department of Motor Vehicles as a result of complaints from citizens. Although the protests are largely from women, customarily coy about their age, a surprising number of males also indicate sensitivity to the subject.

Until a few years ago the license contained both the date of birth and the age at time of issuance. But objections finally persuaded officials that the practice was redundant and the age was dropped. Date of birth, however, remains as part of the information presently required by law to be printed on the license.

But new impetus for deleting the birth date has been given by recent publicity given legislative efforts to protect individual rights to privacy.

Departmental authorities maintain it is essential to know the age of driver applicants. Since the laws prescribe the minimum age of eligibility for a license and statistics on driver performance make it incumbent for DMV to watch for certain indicators of impaired driving ability in the elderly, their position seems justified.

Not so meritorious is the claim of law enforcement officials that the showing of age on a driver's license is an aid when stopping motorists for traffic violations. As DMV personnel point out, in any question of identity or involvement in a serious offense, the police have access to almost instant computerized checks.

Even if law enforcement could make a convincing case for age information on the license, DMV says it would be a simple matter to devise a code which would not be known to the general public but would serve the police purposes.

What appears to be closer to the truth of the matter is that the age and other detail which appears on the license is there for the accommodation of merchants and other non-governmental operators who have increasingly come to rely on the license as an identification card. And it is this demand for the license, and the inevitable disclosure of one's age, when cashing a check or obtaining credit which ires the ladies the most.

The irony of this widespread useage is the almost blind acceptance of the driver's license as a bona fide testament of one's identity.

While it is true that for the majority of citizens the licenses presented are valid representations, it is also a fact that they are no guarantee of one's credit. More important, they are not reliable identification. For it is not difficult for anyone with intent to defraud to acquire any number of driver's licenses, each under a different name, replete with varying descriptions as to height, weight, color of eyes and hair, birth date and address. With wigs and theatrical makeup, even the pictures can be different.

Officials not only concede this is possible but admit it happens. As one DMV official stated, the situation will continue until the day when driver applicants are fingerprinted, something the Legislature repels at authorizing.

What it seems to boil down to is that the state unofficially is operating a program to benefit retail creditors which subjects honest persons to unwarranted invasions of privacy while dishonest and fraudulent people find the identification system easy to beat.

Get rid of this woman

Dear Ann Landers: Six years ago, my only son, a bright, handsome 17-year-old died as a result of someone else's reckless driving. He lived several weeks with severe brain damage and a broken body. My battle with grief has been tremendous.

Last year someone I know had a young child who was killed in an auto accident. I went to the home to express my sympathy. The woman began to phone me almost immediately after my visit — "just to talk." Then she started to drop in unexpectedly at all hours because I had "been through the same thing and was the only one who understood what she was going through."

I prayed for strength to help her. I felt as if a drowning person had grabbed on to me and was pulling me down to the bottom of the sea with her. Now I feel guilty for resenting the way she has insinuated herself into my life. At the same time I know I must get rid of her or I'll crack up. What should I do? — Sinking

Dear Friend: You do not owe the woman emotional support at the expense of your mental health. There is something sick (maybe even punitive) about the way she has glommed on to you.

Be perfectly candid. Tell her you cannot allow your old wounds to be reopened and her presence does just that. Suggest she work through her grief with a professional therapist. Then ring off.

Dear Ann Landers: Quite a while ago you printed a letter from a girl whose boyfriend was constantly tickling her. Your reply made reference to the fact that tickling was once a method of torture. A bet is riding on this. Please reprint that letter and settle it. — Vitally Interested

Dear Vital: I had to dig back two-and-a-half years but here it is:

Dear Ann Landers: You have printed several letters about relatives who tickle children "All in fun." May I comment?

As a student of Oriental history and Far Eastern culture, I can tell you that tickling was a form of torture several centuries back. Any pediatrician will verify the fact that prolonged tickling can cause hysterics and even convulsions. The expression "tickled to death" is more than just a phrase. — Vallejo, Cal.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a few words for that Waitress in South Dakota who chastised women for being "stingy tippers." She said she would rather wait on men any day. I have had to endure many waitresses who ignored my presence, except to slap some food in front of me while they are asking my husband if he'd like more water, more coffee, or, "Was the food O.K.?"

If waitresses gave women the same attention and courtesy they give men, the tips might be bigger. — Irate In Oklahoma

Dear Okla: I received dozens of letters from women who wrote to express the same sentiments. The volume of mail and the intensity of their wrath convinced me that there's something to it. There's got to be a lesson in here someplace.

CONFIDENTIAL To Afraid To Leave The House For Fear Of Panic: Get Dr. Claire Weekes latest book. (She authored "Peace From Nervous Suffering"). It's "Agoraphobia" published by Hawthorne, $6.95. This remarkable woman has helped so many people. I recommend her books highly.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers's booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Wrist cutters don't mean it

Medical researchers contend that few women who cut their wrists in seeming attempts at suicide really mean to kill themselves. Three fourths of them reveal in subsequent mental examinations that they're all mixed up in matters of physical romance. Mostly, those so described are categorized as promiscuous, but some admit frigidity, and others list different aberrations. For some mysterious reason, men are far less likely than women to do that thing that way. A lot of women who take poisons to commit suicide don't really mean to kill themselves, either, but they're generally much more serious about it than the cutters, the researchers claim.

WRINKLES

Q. "How come only the palms of my hands and the soles of my feet wrinkle when they're in the water too long?"

A. Because there aren't any fat glands therein. Elsewhere under the skin those fat glands lubricate the tissue so as to repel water instead of soaking it up.

Q. "What kind of special wood is needed in the making of pianos?"

A. That's up to the maker. It's not like a violin, that piano. The tone doesn't depend on the kind of wood. So the wood is picked for cabinet looks, mostly.

Q. "How can the capital city of Albany, N.Y., have high and low tides when it's 150 miles inland?"

A. Because so much of the Hudson River lies below sea level. Albany's tides on that river run 4½ feet.

Were you aware that Edgar Rice Burroughs, the creator of Tarzan, was a war correspondent in the South Pacific during World War II?

PHOTOGRAPHIC MEMORY

"Eidetic imagery" is scientific jargon for that phenomenon known as photographic memory. Some scholars have said there's no such thing. They didn't possess same, evidently. But others claim about 12 people out of every 100 are thusly gifted at one time or another in their lives. That's the key line, gifted at one time or another in their lives. That's the key line, "at one time or another." It's exceedingly rare among grown-ups. The year in which a person is most apt to be able to recreate a visual image of a page or picture just seen for a moment is age 7.

Albert Del Masso of Oakland, Calif., says he's seen some African natives so hungry for protein that they answer drum calls to converge on an eight-ton elephant, cut it up in less than an hour, and eat it entirely in one night.

A restaurant cashier of lengthy experience says women, unlike men, never forget to pick up their change after they pay the check.

Any Virginian will tell you that the name Roanoke came from an Indian word meaning "shell money."

Dr. Miller

Take his word on skunks

DEAR DR. MILLER: I've heard a couple of pointers about getting sprayed by skunks or, rather, not getting sprayed, that I'd like to verify. First, that a skunk will never spray you as long as his tail is down, and second, that you can pick up a skunk by the tail and it can't spray. Am I correct? — K.O.

DEAR K.O.: One: A skunk doesn't spray with its tail down, that's true. But it can put its tail up rather rapidly. Two: Skunks can spray when hoisted by the tail. In fact, they usually do.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Grandfather's what you might call a parakeet nut. He's always bringing home a new (or an old) bird from who knows where.

He keeps them in his aviary on the back porch. This has been all right with me up to now, but I just heard about this psittacosis disease that people get from parakeets and that it can be fatal. Is there any treatment for it? I'm especially worried because my young son is becoming interested and beginning to hang around these birds. — D.E.

DEAR D.E.: A parakeet infected with, and capable of transmitting, psittacosis is most likely to be a bird newly introduced into the family. His habit of frequently picking up birds from here and there would mean Grandpa's much more likely to pick up a parakeet with this disease sooner or later. In humans, the disease may resemble an attack of the flu and, if ignored or improperly treated, it may indeed terminate fatally. The antibiotic tetracycline is the drug of choice in treatment.

In contrast to many diseases, children are especially resistant to psittacosis, and people over 50 (presumably Grandpa would be included in this group) are highly susceptible. It's within this older group that the mortality rate is highest.

Battle over smoking heats up

Mark my word. The next group of militants to dominate the American scene will be the non-smokers. I've seen it coming for a couple of years now.

The face-off started out civil enough. First, the non-smokers displayed a small sign with, "THANK YOU FOR NOT SMOKING." The smokers retaliated with a polite, but stiff, "YOU'RE WELCOME."

The smokers countered with, "Do you mind very much if we smoke?" to which the non-smokers replied with a smile, "Of course not. Just don't EX-hale."

The exchanges have continued to gain momentum and every day in this country a bumper sticker proclaiming, "I QUIT!" crashes into a bumper sticker maintaining, "I DIDN'T."

Airlines have become a battleground for the dissention. The segregation of smokers and non-smokers has divided wives and husbands, executives and clients, and has gotten some illicit weekends off to a shaky start.

Recently, on a guided tour, the sightseeing buses were divided into smoking and non-smoking. One day when a man boarded the non-smoking bus, someone noted he had a pack of cigarettes bulging in his shirt pocket. "He's one of them," cried a non-smoker. "We don't want your kind on this bus," he said. "Take your nicotine breath and your stained index finger back to your own group!" For a minute, I thought the poor man was going to be stoned as he made a hurried exit.

"You shouldn't have talked to your Father that way," said the woman. "I know Mom," he said, "but sometimes being cruel is a kindness."

The battle is going to get worse. There are evidences everyday. Little things. Like a Marlboro man rode his horse on the lawn of a non-smoker in Wyoming the other day and made do do.

There is an underground movie being circulated showing that clean air causes bleeding gums.

Rumors have it that small fires are being started by militant smokers, but I don't for a minute buy that. I mean, have you ever known a smoker in your life who has a match on him?

Dr. Lamb

Protein in the urine

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter is 12 years old and about two years ago a urine specimen showed excess protein. A year later another specimen showed too much protein. A 24-hour specimen showed the same thing.

She had X rays of her kidneys using dye and everything was normal, kidneys, bladder, urethra. A pediatric urologist said there was no disease present that could be causing it. He did say that some people produced protein in their urine just from being overactive but my daughter is not active athletically. He also said some people could get it from standing.

What are the consequences of having too much protein in the urine if everything else is all right? Can she just continue on with this condition or is there a chance something might develop later? I don't know if we should pursue this or just think that happens to be the way she is.

DEAR READER — Having had a good examination and having been told that your daughter has no disease I would think you could relax about it.

Your daughter probably has orthostatic albuminuria, which is what your pediatric urologist meant. Albumin is one of the blood proteins we all have. It actually leaks into the urine from the kidney and is reabsorbed by the kidney so that we don't lose very much of it in the urine. Anything that increases the amount leaked by the kidney will increase the amount that shows up on a urine test.

In some people standing seems to increase the leak into the urine or the failure of the kidneys to reabsorb albumin in sufficient amounts. Orthostatic refers to standing. Hence, the term orthostatic albuminuria. Sometimes this can be demonstrated by studying the urine collected during a period when the person was lying down the entire time. That urine will be normal. Another specimen is taken after standing which shows the protein, albumin.

When that is the cause and there is no disease it is not medically important. It is not an indication of kidney disease or future kidney disease.

If you want to check this further I would think you should have her empty her bladder completely and lie down. A couple hours later collect another specimen and have that one checked. If it is normal you can be pretty sure that the variation associated with standing is the explanation.

Albumin can occur in the urine because of a variety of kidney diseases. A simple infection of the kidney may cause it or it may be associated with nephritis. Increased amounts of albumin also appear in the urine during heart failure. It must always be regarded as an indicator. The next step is finding out if it indicates something important or is just a normal variation.

In basic bridge responders to Blackwoods are in the position of Tennyson's light brigade. "Their's not to reason why, their's but to do or die." They don't have to die, but they do have to respond as asked.

In advanced bidding there are several situations where responder will take independent action.

Today's hand illustrates the simplest one. South follows up his Blackwood four notrump with five notrump to ask for kings. This follow up also informs partner that they have all the aces. There is no reason to invite seven when you know there is an ace against you.

At this point North revalues his hand. South was clearly thinking of seven when he bid five notrump. Could there be a trump loser? How about another loser?

South could not know that North held four sure and five very probably club tricks so North bids the grand slam which makes easily in spite of the bad club break.

Ask the Jacobys

Several readers have asked us if it is proper to show your hand and claim after trumps are drawn and the rest of your cards are good.

The answer is that it is perfectly proper, but you had best be sure of your claim, because there are various possible restrictions on future play. In general, it is better just to play the hand out quickly and save possible arguments.

IN RUNOFF ELECTION — Mayor Coleman A. Young talks to reporters in Detroit after vote count placed him and Councilman Ernest Browne in runoff election Nov. 6.

Two blacks in Detroit runoff

DETROIT (AP) — Two black candidates for mayor will square off for the first time in Detroit's history when incumbent Coleman A. Young faces challenger Ernest Browne this November.

Browne, a 51-year-old career city employe, drew strong support in the city's white community to finish second to Young in Tuesday's nonpartisan primary election. They outdistanced two major white challengers among the 11 candidates.

With the final results in from all 1,222 precincts, Young finished with 163,853 votes to Browne's 62,834.

Thomas Dailey, a suburban contractor who moved into the city specifically to enter the mayor's race, finished with 33,990. John Mogk, a Wayne State University law professor, was fourth with 22,598. The remaining challengers were far behind.

Browne, a two-term city councilman, had the backing of the predominantly white police officers and firefighters associations. He ran strong in Detroit's white areas while Young gathered the bulk of his support from the city's black precincts.

Detroit, the nation's sixth-largest city, has about 1.33 million residents, 55 per cent of them black. The black-white voter split, however, is about 50-50.

"We knew the people of Detroit were interested in qualifications for office, sincerity and not in color, and we have been vindicated," Browne said.

Young, 59, whose $300,000 primary campaign concentrated on his ability to secure federal money and make tough decisions, pointed to his margin of victory and said Browne was "still playing catch-up."

The Democratic mayor was an early supporter of Jimmy Carter's presidential candidacy. Browne has not announced a party preference.

"We have just begun," he told cheering supporters.

WILL FACE MAYOR — Detroit Councilman Ernest Browne, who will oppose Mayor Coleman Young in November mayor's race, and wife, Evelyn, greet supporters after primary results put him in the running.

Pushing for saccharin warnings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is pressing Congress to support plans to place cancer warnings on diet foods, soft drinks and other products containing saccharin.

Four administration officials urged the Senate on Tuesday to pass legislation requiring the health warnings on product labels and in advertising.

Canadian studies have shown that saccharin, widely used in diet foods and diet sodas, causes cancer in animals and may cause bladder cancer in humans.

The administration apparently is resorting to health warnings in view of indications that lawmakers, under pressure from many voters, are unwilling to permit the government to ban most sales of saccharin.

The Senate is preparing to act on legislation that would delay for 18 months a proposed Food and Drug Administration prohibition on the marketing of foods and beverages containing the sugar substitute.

The heads of the FDA, the National Institutes of Health and the Federal Trade Commission issued a joint statement supporting inclusion of the warning requirement in any bill delaying implementation of the ban.

FDA Commissioner Donald Kennedy, NIH Director Donald Fredrickson and FTC Chairman Michael Pertschuk said, "Any legislation imposed by Congress that stays regulatory action against saccharin should, we believe, at least contain provisions designed to provide fair warning of the potential hazards of continued consumption of this compound."

The three were supported by Hale Champion, undersecretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Champion said he opposes the saccharin legislation as a bad precedent for congressional interference in the regulatory process "on a product-by-product basis."

Champion is the highest government health official in a position to speak out on the issue because HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., removed himself from the controversy several months ago.

Califano wanted to eliminate any possible conflict of interest. While practicing law in Washington before his appointment to the Cabinet, Califano had represented the Coca Cola Co., the nation's largest single manufacturer of diet soft drinks containing saccharin.

The FDA, after studying the results of Canadian laboratory tests that showed saccharin caused bladder cancer in rats, announced plans last spring to ban sale of saccharin, the only artificial sweetner on the market in foods, beverages, drugs and cosmetics.

In a compromise move to permit continued availability of the sugar substitute to diabetics and others on sugar-free diets, the agency proposed to permit continued sale of saccharin as a single-ingredient, nonprescription drug bearing a cancer warning on the label.

The FDA has held up implementation of its regulations pending congressional action.

Panel approves child pornography measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved unanimously Wednesday a bill to make it a federal crime to use a child under age 16 in the production of pornographic materials.

It also would prohibit the interstate transportation of any child, boy or girl, for the purposes of prostitution.

In addition, the bill would sharply increase penalties for the sale or distribution of pornographic materials.

Sen. John C. Culver, D-Ind., chairman of the committee's subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, said the bill was designed to enable the federal government to take effective action against the sexual exploitation of children.

The Senate committee approved the bill without dissent after rejecting by a 9-4 vote an amendment by Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, to ban the sale or distribution of any obscene material depicting sexually explicit conduct by children.

New secrecy rules?

Carter wouldn't keep secrets under wraps for 10-year period

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is proposing rules that cut four years off the normal time the government may keep most top secrets, but he suggests agencies can make employes sign promises to stay mum while the secrets are under wraps.

In a draft of an executive order obtained by The Associated Press, the President suggests a standard secrecy agreement be developed for all agencies that want employes to sign them "as a precondition of access to classified information and material."

Under present rules, the government can keep its top secrets for 10 years without a special extension. Some agencies now use secrecy agreements. But only a few, including the CIA, require them from prospective employes before they are hired.

The Supreme Court said two years ago that such secrecy agreements give the CIA the right to censor the writings of former employes.

Because of the agreements, the court rejected First Amendment freedom - of - the - press claims by Victor Marchetti and John D. Marks, who said they should be permitted to publish "The CIA and the Cult of Intelligence," a critical account of the agency, without prior censorship.

Carter, who has pledged an open administration, asked his staff last June to review the government's entire secrecy system. The executive-order draft resulted. In a first for such orders, the draft will be sent this month to agencies, congressional committees and interested non - government groups for their comment.

Then the National Security Council and Carter's domestic affairs staff will decide on the final form to present to Carter for his signature. With Carter's signature, the order will replace secrecy rules set by former President Richard M. Nixon in 1972.

Asked about the Carter draft, Gary Barron, a member of the National Security Council staff who helped write it, said the secrecy agreements were "a thing the lawyers did. ... The whole idea was to have something uniform. This thing was not put in there to enjoin any publications. That was not the intent."

Barron called the six-year limit on classification in all designations, including top secret, "the most effective part" of the executive order.

The draft places a six-year limit on secret classifications as well. Presently, the normal limit on classifications in that category is eight years. The draft maintains the present six-year limit on confidential classifications.

But it lets anyone with top-secret classification authority grant extensions in all categories for up to 20 years. After review at that time, the extensions could be renewed for up to 10 years at a time.

Barron conceded this could keep information classified indefinitely. But he said making lower-authority classifiers seek out top-secret classifiers for extensions would mean fewer extensions.

Relatively few persons have top secret authority, Barron said, and "hopefully someone with top secret authority would be more responsible and say no."

Like the Nixon rules, the Carter draft bans any classification "in order to conceal violations of law, inefficiency or administrative error, (or) to prevent embarrassment." But, like the Nixon rules, it provides only administrative sanctions.

Barron said Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell rejected anything stronger.

Under other terms of the draft:

—Except for presidential papers and material originated by his advisers, all classified materials are subject to review for possible declassification at the request of "an agency or member of the public, provided the request describes the material sufficiently to enable the agency having custody to locate it with a reasonable amount of effort."

Under the Nixon rules, classified materials were not subject to such review for 10 years. However, they were subject to review anytime under the Freedom of Information Act. Under both the Carter draft and the Nixon rules, presidential materials are exempted from any review for 10 years.

—Nothing may be classified in the first place unless it meets at least one of 13 criteria, all related to national security. Taken together, the criteria spell out precisely what comprises national security.

The Nixon rules contained no such criteria.

You don't worry about acting with gals like Farrah, Marilyn Monroe, says former press agent

STEVENSON, Wash. (AP) — The question of Farrah Fawcett-Majors' acting ability is irrelevant to her fans, says the one-time press agent of the 1950s' ultimate sex goddess, Marilyn Monroe.

"When I handled Marilyn, in her happy days, she was extraordinary," said Roy Craft, recalling his five years, 1952-1957, with the actress. "The difference is, perhaps, that Fawcett-Majors is more of a personality. But an extraordinary personality."

Craft, editor emeritus of the weekly Skamanis County Pioneer who says he finds Miss Fawcett-Majors "delightful," said there is a simple rule in show business: Hustle what you have.

"If you are talking about popularity, marketability, the acting isn't important. Any fine dramatic actress will play the role to which she's assigned," he said.

"But when you get a personality, I think it's a mistake to have her play anything but herself ... The thing is, when someone turns to Farrah Fawcett-Majors on TV, they want Farrah Fawcett-Majors. The question of her acting ability is beside the point."

Sponsored by the Southern California Dairy Industry in cooperation with the fair, milk demonstrations are presented at noon, 2, 4, and 6 p.m.

Besides the dairy, the fair has more than 1,000 animals in open and junior competitions. They range from hefty steers to rabbits and cavies.

Bakersfield woman with bubonic plague

The woman, whose name was not released, apparently was bitten by fleas which had been infected with the disease from wild rodents, said Dr. Leon M. Hebertson, Kern County health officer.

She felt ill a few days after a Labor Day weekend camping trip and went to a local hospital where the rare disease was diagnosed.

The private campground at which they were staying east of Tehachapi Mountain Park has been sprayed with insecticide to kill fleas. Public campgrounds in the Tehachapis have been inspected and showed no evidence of rodent infestation, the health officer said.

SNOOPY BANKS RECALLED — Consumer Product Safety Commission has recalled some 60,000 toy banks because the lead content in paint used on the product exceeds the agency's standard for permissable level. No injuries or illnesses have been reported.

But it could cost taxpayer more

W.H. fuel-eater fleet on way out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is giving the kiss of death to its flet of fuel-hungry, luxury sedans.

Despite the switch to fuel-efficient compacts, the Carter administration — and the taxpayer — will wind up paying more money to lease them.

Those sleek Chrysler sedans that are still cruising through the White House gates at 14 miles to the gallon have been leased for $600 a year. But Chrysler intends to raise the basic rate to $900 per car, even though the White House wants to switch to the economy-sized models.

That's a 50 per cent increase in rates, though the smaller cars will save an undetermined amount of gasoline and further burn in the image of a downhome administration that pooh-poohs such trappings of power as fancy autos.

The new leasing contracts are still being negotiated, so what kinds of cars the White House will get isn't definite. And that means no one knows just how much gasoline the move will save.

Cousin Hugh Carter, the presidential assistant in charge of cutting White House expenses, said he wasn't sure why the rates are going up so much.

In the old days, the Ford Motor Co. leased cars to the White House for $1 a year. And businesses and individuals that lease cars today pay anywhere from $115 to $700 a month.

"It's part of our exposure program," said a Chrysler spokesman. "It's the same general idea as Ford giving their cars to Starsky and Hutch," a popular television show. "You know, everybody except the bad guys drives a Ford."

After a year in the White House motorpool, a car is sold at auction to dealers, who often pass the word to prospective buyers that this was a car fit for a Carterite.

"We don't flaunt it. We don't capitalize on it," said Ike Jarvis, government fleet coordinator for Chrysler, about the White House connection.

"But if someone wants to know where the cars are from, we tell them. I remember selling a car that Mrs. Nixon rode in once, and that seemed to mean a lot to the buyer."

Homicide leading cause of death of young black men

BOSTON (AP) — The leading cause of death among young black men in America is not accidents or any single disease but violent, intentional killing, a study says.

Researchers surveying homicides in Cleveland discovered that the overall homicide rate increased 320 per cent between 1958 and 1974.

They found that about 20 nonwhites died of homicide in Cleveland for every white from 1958 to 1962 and 12 nonwhites for every white from 1963 to 1974.

The study also showed that the age of most victims dropped from the early 40s to the late 20s.

"The homicide trends reported in this study shock us," the researchers wrote. "What happened in Cleveland reflects, in a magnified way, national trends during the same period."

In Washington, Alice Haywood, a spokesman for the National Center for Health Statistics, an agency of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said that nationally homicides were the leading cause of death among nonwhite males, 25 to 34 years old.

She said that in 1975, for example, homicides accounted for 2,506 of the 8,114 young nonwhite deaths in that age group, compared with 1,913 accidental deaths, 439 suicides and 3,256 deaths from diseases of all kinds.

Heart disease, accounting for 525 deaths, and cancer, responsible for 263, led the list of deaths caused by disease.

The researchers, most of them doctors from Case Western Reserve University, published their findings recently in the New England Journal of Medicine.

One of the researchers, Dr. Amasa B. Ford, said the results should convince doctors to take up gun control as a medical issue.

"I think doctors looking at the mortality that results from the casual use and ready availability of guns in this country ought to be strongly opposed to the handgun in particular," Ford said in an interview.

"I think doctors should favor that kind of control as much as they do the reduction of smoking."

Ford added in the interview that the homicide rate seems to have remained fairly stable since 1974, but cited no specific figures.

Between 1958 and 1962, 82 of every 10,000 black men between 25 and 34 died in homicides in Cleveland. The rate rose to 344 of every 10,000 between 1969 and 1974.

Billy says he, Jimmy mind own business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Carter says he has not discussed the propriety of his paid public appearances with his brother, Jimmy Carter.

"I don't tell him how to be President, and he doesn't tell me what to do," said Billy, who estimated he will earn from personal appearances this year about the same amount of money — $200,000 — that his brother will earn as President.

While declining to disclose the fees for individual performances, Billy Carter indicated his total earnings for 1977 from his appearances, his interest in the family peanut warehouse and his gas station will be less than $300,000.

Carter made the comments in an interview in U.S. News & World Report released Sunday.

Mandatory work requirement

EDITOR'S NOTE: President Carter's proposed welfare reform program features a mandatory work requirement for "employable" recipients. Here, in the second of a three part series, is a look at the newest, and probably the most troublesome element in the Carter plan.

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
AP Urban Affairs Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Out here, in a day-care center 2,700 miles from the White House, welfare expert Willie Williams sees a wild card in President Carter's complicated welfare package.

A seven-year welfare veteran who took a job as a day-care counselor and worked her way off the dole, Mrs. Williams says, "The jobs program will be a big help. But the pay is so low, people will need welfare anyways. So what's the point?"

The point, say Carter aides, is to hold down costs and to provide an incentive for public workers to seek jobs elsewhere. In hearing that are secedule to begin this month, administration officials will try to convince Congress that his jobs approach will work.

Subpoverty wages are just one of the of problems that make the jobs plan the most troublesome element of Carter's package of expanded welfare coverage, tax refunds and work.

—Carter wants to move poor people out of the welfare system and into private jobs, but his program offers almost nothing to aid the transition. And in many areas, the private jobs just don't exist.

—A huge welfare work force could hold down salaries for regular public employes doing similar work at higher wages. For this reason labor unions vigorously oppose minimum-wage welfare jobs.

—There is a serious danger that some government officials will replace regular employes, paid from local tax receipts, with "bargain basement" public service workers paid from the welfare fund. The process, Marshall's No. 2 worry, is called "substitution."

San Francisco manpower boss Eunice Elton says: "If welfare workers are of any use at all, there will be a tendency to rely on them."

—As Mrs. Williams points out, the minimum wage won't allow the welfare work force to escape poverty without also drawing cash welfare benefits — especially in expensive cost-of-living areas like New York or California. Dependency on welfare will continue.

Typically, a mother or father heading a family of four would receive benefits of $1,444 to supplement the minimum wage of $5,512.

These are the key problem areas that surfaced in discussions with public officials, manpower experts, union leaders and welfare recipients from Seattle to Baltimore, San Francisco to New York.

Carter's "program for Better Jobs and Income" would put 2½-million poor people to work in 1.4-million public service jobs, either full or part time. Federal welfare money would pay the salaries.

But the political opposition and built-in pitfalls threaten chances for success as the program begins its journey through Congress.

In an interview, Secretary Marshall acknowledged the problems and said administration leaders already are working to correct them.

The work requirement would force "employable" recipients to accept a job if one is available.

But where other mandatory work plans failed, Carter's could succeed because he offers more than ultimatums — he also offers jobs. And there is a wage incentives for people to keep them.

Carter's plan has plenty of those: 8,800,000,000 dollars ($8.8 billion) earmarked to pay for the public service jobs.

The number of current public service jobs would be doubled at only a 49 per cent increase in cost because the current program for 725,000 jobs pays prevailing wages, usually much higher than the minimum.

Carter's plan would require an estimated seven million people who are eligible for welfare to work. Some will find low-paying, nongovernment jobs and will receive income aid from the government. But the economy doesn't absorb everyone who wants to work, and the public service jobs are planned to take up the slack.

Work requirements are attractive to many taxpayers who support the costly welfare system, but experts agree that jobs — not required participation — are what's needed to make the work plan succeed.

Study after study indicates that poor Americans want to work as much as the rest of us. Most recently the 10-year

DAY-CARE WORKER — Willie Williams, 43, received income benefits for seven years before working her way off welfare as a day-care counselor. She is critical of the Carter welfare plan, noting the proposed jobs will not pay enough to get people off welfare.

Can Carter welfare plan help stabilize family?

"My husband just walked out on me with 25 cents in my pocket," said the frail redhead, her eyes rimmed with crimson as she walked from an Ingham County welfare office.

In her left hand she clutched a bundle of welfare application forms. In her right hand was another in the day's chain of cigarettes. Her lined forehead made her look older than her 26 years. She and her two daughters were joining the ranks of literally millions of deserted families on welfare.

Does she want her husband back? "I don't know," she answered quietly.

Would more money help? "No."

Would a measure like the Carter plan help? "No," she says. "That's not what's going to do it for my family. It's him. It's my husband. He's got to work out a few things for himself."

The President is selling his plan partly on grounds that it is "profamily." It is true that his proposed combination of expanded benefits, public jobs and tax breaks eliminates current financial incentives for husbands to desert their wives and children, leaving them for the taxpayers to support.

But the findings of current research question whether these incentives really cause much family splitting. And Carter's plan does not do very much to cure what many social researchers, welfare administrators and welfare recipients say are the real causes of broken families on welfare: alcoholism, drug abuse, wife-beating and mental cruelty.

Experts interviewed by The Associated Press suggest new federal services, such as family counseling, are what is needed.

In a recent message to Congress, Carter picked a hypothetical Michigan family of four, similar to Mrs. Dankenbring's, to illustrate the family breakup incentive which he proposes to remove. The fictional father worked at the minimum wage and had a total income, including food stamps and tax credits, of $5,922.

"But if the father leaves, the family will be eligible for benefits totalling $7,076," the President said.

For one thing, Mrs. Dankenbring said her husband worked for far more than the minimum wage, so no incentive to go on welfare existed. "He made $230 a week. We could make ends meet just fine on that and even had a little left over to go out every now and then," she said.

Says welfare mother Pamela, who asked that her last name not be used:

University of Michigan survey — "5,000 American families: A study in Economic Progress" — said poor Americans usually take work whenever they can find it.

It is hoped that the welfare work force will use public service jobs as a stepping stone to private employment. Public jobs lapse after 12 months and jobholders go on reduced welfare benefits for eight weeks in which they are supposed to seek a regular job.

If they come up empty, they are again eligible for a public service job. If one isn't available there is a safety net, a guaranteed income of $4,200 for a family of four.

"The safety net is critical here," says Arnold Packer, an assistant secretary of labor. The income net is especially important in areas of high unemployment where private jobs just don't exist.

Some poor people — "We don't know how many, exactly," says Marshall — will get help from state or local manpower officials in finding private employment.

Public service workers would be required to accept any private sector job that is offered, but the only dollar-and-cents incentive to find private employment is a tax refund of $54 a month. Even Labor Department experts say that might not have much impact.

Carter did not propose tax credits for companies that hire welfare workers. A credit now exists under the Work Incentive Program and Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long probably will want to retain it.

The welfare work force will be working at a wide variety of low-skill jobs such as cleaning up public parks, emptying hospital bedpans and tending day-care centers.

Unions will seek assurances that regular workers, punching the timeclock at prevailing wages of $4 to $8 an hour in some cities, will not be replaced by low-paid members of the welfare work force.

The AFL-CIO says it will use its clout in Congress to defeat the low-pay provision and replace it with a prevailing-wage scale. And Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, says: "We stand together on this."

However, Baltimore manpower chief Marian Pines notes, "It would be next to impossible to move people out of public service jobs if we paid the prevailing wage. And it would cost a fortune."

The manpower officials believe one way around the thorny wage and subsitution questions is to have welfare workers divide their time between public service jobs and training or job-search programs.

Another troubesome problem is that the Carter plan would phase out the current public service jobs, paying prevailing wages, established under Title VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Mrs. Pines warns, "We've got big trouble if we lose this aid. A lot of cities would be totally screwed up."

In some troubled cities — San Jose, Calif., Hartford, Conn., and Newark, N.J., for example — one of every five city workers is paid with CETA money. New York City will count 28,000 city-CETA workers by the end of this year. These workers are paid the prevailing wages; many do regular jobs and they are eligible to join a union.

Some of the biggest welfare states actually lose money in the switch from Title VI to the welfare jobs program, and Jerry Wurf warns, "If Carter's program doesn't work in the big cities and the big states, it doesn't work at all."

The nine states that lose CETA money in the transition are New York, California, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Conneticut, Oregon, Hawaii, Nevada, Alaska and the District of Columbia.

"I wouldn't want my husband back if we got more money on welfare as a whole family. My home is more stable without him here. I feel much better without him."

The present welfare system "doesn't appear to have an effect on family disruption," says Maurice MacDonald of the University of Wisconsin Institute for Research on Poverty.

He says the incentive to split up exists, but that it doesn't seem to motivate many people.

Blanche Bernstein, deputy commissioner of income maintenance in the New York State Department of Social Services, interviewed 500 welfare mothers in a 1975 study she prepared at the New School for Social Research. She found 12 per cent of those whose with broken families said their marriages common-law relationships broke up because of "husband's inadequate earning capacity or financial irresponsility." The remaining family breaks were caused by drugs, alcohol, extramarital affairs, physical and psychological abuse.

She said many welfare families need more than financial aid.

"They've been marked by traumatic experiences, but we're not looking at these families to figure out how we can help," she said.

"We do nothing to help youngsters with their schooling, dropout problems or drugs. Also, there is a group of families who come into the welfare system as intact families," she said. "Every month, those families split up. No one was there to see what to do to prevent the split. That's the kind of service I would give. The Carter package doesn't deal with this at all."

The Carter plan proposes cash assistance and jobs for intact families, but "doesn't even look at the question of services," says John Dempsey, director of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

"We think of problems of battered spouses, money management assistance," he says. 'We're spending well over $2 million on services. We think the federal government should expand its participation."

Isabel Sawhill of the Urban Institute in Washington, author of a 1975 study on the growth of families headed by women, found no hard evidence that the current system causes families to break up.

She and others do say welfare may increase the tendency toward instability by providing women and children with a source of income other than a husband's earnings. This would remain true under the Carter plan.

Even so she and others say that sometimes it could be better for the children if bad marriages break up.

"We know that family stability is associated with low income and with parental conflict and that both of these are generally poor environments for children," she says.

Carter's package would provide 1.4 million public job positions and job training, which social workers say might help the self-esteem of some welare families, especially those with small children. This could ease the tensions of poverty that researchers blame for tearing families apart.

"The kids are often embarrassed when the other kids at school ask them what I do," said one welfare mother of five, who asked not to be identified.

"It's really worse on the kids," adds another welfare mother, Pamela. "They're not dressed as well as other kids in school whose parents work. But my kids don't know what money is anyway. Food stamps to them is money."

Claim management deteriorating each year

Postal employee groups ask Carter to seek more control over service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Groups representing postal employes, saying management of the mail system is deteriorating each year, are asking President Carter to seek greater control over the Postal Service.

The seven organizations, representing supervisory employes as well as unionized workers, say postal management is curtailing services and in some cases letting private businesses take over functions formerly provided by the government.

The groups made their appeal this week in an Oval Office meeting with Carter. But the President made no promises, leaders of the employe groups said afterward.

"He said he would devote attention in the next several days to the problems of the Postal Service," said Emmett Andrews, president of the American Postal Workers Union.

A statement released by the groups said the postmaster general should be appointed by the president "to assure greater accountability."

The postmaster general now is appointed by the governing board of the Postal Service, whose members in turn are named by the president. Since the governors are appointed to nine-year terms, a president has little opportunity to control postal policy.

"Within the next decade, if action is not forthcoming, the Postal Service would be left with economic and social options which would be limited to the delivery of non-profitable mail to remote areas, agricultural produces and large, hard-to-handle packages," the critics said.

The administration has several times postponed testifying on legislation that would give the president the power to appoint the postmaster general and would increase postal appropriations.

Seattle's street sleepers prepare for added misery

SEATTLE (AP) — Their beds are made with cardboard sheets and concrete pillows. The more determined ones drag rusty springs and mildewed mattresses under an abutment or a clump of bushes.

They are the transients — the bums — who live near downtown Seattle's elevated highways, under bridges, in alleys and open doorways.

There are bags and rags and bottles and heaps of clothing — and then the pairs of feet, protruding from doorways and holes in hillsides.

Around the city, along the waterfront and Skid Road, there are dozens of feet.

Under bushes in parks, behind walls, atop ledges, in all the places a man could comfortably lie down or sit propped up, there are either the trappings of the street campers, or the men themselves.

Their lot — never an easy one — is made even tougher with the onset of winter.

"In the summer, it's not so bad, because the weather is not so bad. But here come the rains now, and then the cold, and then the misery," says the Rev. Wes Durland, director of the First Avenue Service Center.

"One of the big problems down here now is that it has suddenly gotten dangerous to sleep out. We've had repeated cases of men being beaten, by bums with wine bottles as well as by people, thugs, who come along in cars," he said.

"That's why so many of them, dozens at a time, are cuddling up together down at Western and Battery under the viaduct — for protection."

Not all of them are winos or unable to get jobs.

The young couple sleeping on a hillside under the Alaskan Way Viaduct were different. They had $1,000 in cash, a 4-month-old baby, and they lived under the viaduct for two months.

"The woman was still breastfeeding the baby," said Bill Bell, a volunteer worker

"I was down there one day, having a spot of wine, and they just put this money out there — 50 $20 bills. The man, named Glen, said, 'Take what you need.'

"Well, I need the money. But I couldn't take theirs, with the baby and all," said Bell. "They said, 'We don't need it. We're God's children. The Lord will provide.'

"I think they left last week," Bell said. "Man, I couldn't figure that one."

"A few years ago, I spent a few nights under the stars," said Jay Wagner, also a volunteer at the center. "There's some freedom to it. Some won't take a bed even if you paid them to sleep in it.

"But mostly these are desperate people, broke, drunk or with no place to go," said Wagner.

"You don't really hear about them until winter. They'll be out here every night, and eventually one of them will freeze to death, and then you'll hear about it."

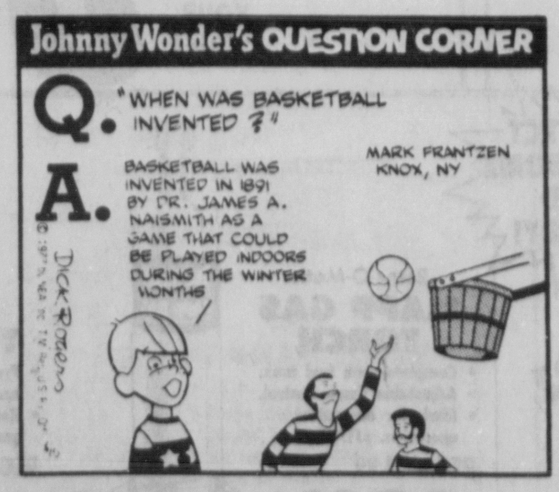
JOHNNY WONDER



Basketball is one of the most popular games in the world.

The game was invented only 86 years ago by Dr. James A. Naismith, a teacher at a YMCA training college in Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Naismith wanted to create a game that could be played indoors during the winter months. He thought tossing a ball into a basket might make an exciting game.

He fastened two old peach baskets high on the walls of the gymnasium for goals and called his new game "basketball." At first each team had nine players. But the number was soon cut down to five.

After a player made a basket, someone had to bring a ladder to get the ball out again. A hole was later put in the basket.

Backboards were added to keep the early basketball fans from leaning over the balcony railings and tipping the ball into the basket.

Today basketball is played in more than 150 countries.

Ice Follies makes a hit

By MAE TATE

An ice show never fails to be among the last havens of good clean fun. Shipstad & Johnson's Ice Follies, playing though Sunday at the Inglewood Forum, has surpassed the usual level of family entertainment and offers the best in skating, comedy and specialty routines.

Richard Dwyer, without a doubt, is the star in front of the lights and behind the scenes. In the spotlight he is difficult to imagine as manager of the company and production for he has a quiet charm and skillful grace of an artist, not a businessman.

Dwyer and partner, Gerty Desjardins burst upon the scene in an energetic, quick rendition that matches the music and the mood of a receptive audience. The transition from the uptempo beat to the smooth melody of the ballad an adagio ballet is easy for this pair. He's equally impressive in a Fred Astaire-type routine titled "Mr. Debonaire."

Paul Heath is an outstanding addition to the Ice Follies this year. A strong, dramatic skater with powerful even strokes of the blades, he sails across and over the ice in an astonishingly acrobatic style, complete with expertly executed backflips.

Cathy Mishkin and Don Bonacchi are the adagio highlight with their daring flips and turns in mid-air. Little Lito, another newcomer, is a comic cut-up in the style of Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin. Veteran comic Hahns Leiter is once again ludicrously funny. Jill Shipstad fascinates in a special effect karate routine. The Sesame Street Gang create a wonderland of fun for both youngsters and the young at heart.

An ice show not only means the dazzle of figure skating. The unseen stars — the costume designers and pit orchestra — should also be applauded for they play an intricate role in the success of the show.

The ice follies musicians and designers saw their finest hour in the delicate costumes and musical notes that created illusions of dreams, winter, a renaissance festival and the allure of the American West.

Tickets are still available for the performances.

Plays vital role

Advertising performs the vital role of supporting American journalism and keeps it solvent and free from government control.

First-timers get in free

In an effort to familiarize the community with the Claremont Playhouse, the Actors Repertory Theater will give complimentary tickets to everyone attending the new theater for the first time. It is located at Foothill and Indian Hill boulevards.

In addition, because the current play, "The Innocents," has special interest for students, all students will be admitted to the 3 p.m. matinee this Sunday for $1. The William Archibald chiller is based on "The Turn of the Screw," by Henry James. Director Richard Dow and members of the cast will discuss the play with the audience after the performance.

Reservations can be made at 621-5005.

Merit Breakthrough Remains Unduplicated.

Since the introduction of MERIT, a number of other low tar brands have come along. But MERIT remains unique—the only low tar cigarette with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

MERIT delivers what others can only promise: the flavor of higher tar cigarettes. The kind of flavor made possible by a breakthrough in tobacco technology.

Here's how it was done:

By cracking cigarette smoke down into separate elements, researchers were able to isolate certain flavor-rich ingredients that delivered taste way out of proportion to tar.

These flavor essentials were then packed into MERIT, giving it extraordinary flavor.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

Taste tests against a number of higher tar cigarettes proved it.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested. Cigarettes with up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

And you can taste it.

Patio and pool party slated by BPW unit

The annual Fun and Fund patio and pool party is scheduled Saturday by the Montclair Heights Business and Professional Women's Club.

The event will be held at the Carlson home, 10165 Marion Ave., Montclair, and will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. An international buffet dinner, prepared by club members, will be served during the evening.

The proceeds will go into a scholarship fund, into a fund to send 10 Montclair High students to a youth seminar, and to a fund to send a Montclair High School student to Girl's State.

A most unusual fashion show is planned during the evening. Members will model what the well-dressed woman will wear from "Morn to Dusk." GOSH
Chalk Talk from
Griswold's OLD Schoolhouse

Popped into the ART GALLERY and found a most interesting show of three fine artists: ROBERT WEE — famous for his fine seascapes. This artist is recognized for his exceptional work — his art will certainly be a good investment to appreciate in value over the years. JOYCE CAMPBELL — interesting and striking fibre sculptures. If you want something bold and unusual for your home—I strongly recommend these. CARL HOUBEIN — beautiful oils with warm glowing colors. . . . realistic landscapes and harbor scenes.

"THE INNOCENTS" opened in the CLAREMONT PLAYHOUSE for September — what a super experience! The special effects are outstandings. For GOSH sakes don't miss this one. You'll probably want to see it twice.

It's fun to sit on the deck and let STUART SAKS sketch your portrait in pastels or charcoal. He's "on deck" Wednesdays through Sundays from 11 to 6 p.m. and specializes in portraits, animals and Indians.

The handsome carving in the window of the TIBETAN ARTCRAFT shop is so rare that it is almost priceless . . . a collector's piece — for a special home or for a museum.

DECOR 8 has an old fashioned remedy for acne — oatmeal soap! Folks get excited about bathroom ideas when they get loose in DECOR 8 — the most complete BATH SHOP in the San Gabriel Valley. The toilet seat collection is amazing — some are inset with fishooks, razor blades, coins. One is gorgeously inlaid with fishing flies — another with butterflies. For the golfer — golf tees, balls, and tiny clubs. Another with tennis items . . . Decorate the favorite seat in your home.

Joyce Brothers

Look for real reason

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: I'm a 40-year-old widow and lately I've been having a lot of minor accidents. My doctor advised me to take a few glasses of wine before going to bed so I could relax and sleep. He thinks my accidents might be the result of insomnia. The wine helps me to sleep and I haven't had any mishaps since this new treatment, but now I have headaches when I wake up. My neighbor says these are just old-fashioned hangovers. If I stop my nightcaps, I'm afraid I'll have accidents again. — D.Y.

Dear D.Y.: There are some studies that indicate the accident-prone person becomes even more susceptible through boredom, loneliness and frustration. It might help if you tried to set goals for yourself, perhaps looking into some subject that's always interested you. I also suggest that you try to analyze why you have these accidents and pinpoint the occasions. Try to determine if a specific worry or anxiety precedes the accident.

I suggest you limit the wine to one glass before bedtime. This shouldn't produce a hangover. However, a sleep researcher found that while liquor makes a person sleepy, it also produces a restless sleep that may contribute to the morning-after effect.

With insomnia and your accident-proneness, I believe you should look for the real reasons. It's a psychological problem and alcohol will not be of much help. If you can't solve these problems on your own, try professional help.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: Since my friend's boyfriend left her four months ago, she's been depressed and in a kind of mourning. She has suddenly gained tremendous weight and I couldn't understand why until I spent a weekend with her. She does practically nothing but eat and watch TV. She doesn't want to meet anyone else and she's decided she hates all men. She used to have a lovely figure. Her mother says she did this another time, before I knew her. Don't you think this is a little sick? — C.P.

Dear C.P.: Compulsive overeating often occurs at a time of tension, at some especially critical period in a person's life.

Instead of dealing with her problem and her feeling of loneliness, your friend is trying to deny her frustration and rage by temporarily comforting herself with large quantities of food. This is her security blanket, but it is a very dangerous one, for as long as she buries her problems, she'll never be able to overcome them. Food isn't a wholesome substitute for human contact.

It isn't abnormal to experience loneliness or even depression but if we know how to handle them we can learn from these emotions. The healthy way to cope with such problems is to confide in a friend or find something constructive and creative to do. Contact with others is essential at such times.

Encourage your friend to express her feelings. Help her to rebuild her self-esteem.

Diet changes

The type and amount of carbohydrate in our diet has changed considerably over the years. Complex carbohydrates, those found in whole grains, fruits and vegetables, now account for a smaller percentage of total calories. An increase in this food group would not only supply the essential nutrients found predominately in these foods but would also provide fiber, an essential component of our diet.

Pennant party holding

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — The Dodgers' pennant party will have to change its guest plans.

The former champion Cincinnati Reds won't be attending.

After seven innings Wednesday night, it certainly looked like tonight could be the night when the Dodgers officially wrap up the National League West pennant race.

L.A. had a comfortable 8-3 lead thanks to home runs by Davey Lopes, Steve Garvey and Steve Yeager with Cy Young Award candidate Tommy John on the mound cruising to his 19th victory.

But the Reds kept the race alive a little longer by scoring four runs in the eighth inning and two in the ninth on Ken Griffey's home run to record a wild 9-8 victory before 50,203 Dodger Stadium fans.

Cincinnati makes its final visit to Dodger Stadium this season tonight with Tom Seaver (17-6) going for his 200th career victory against the Dodgers' Doug Rau (13-7).

With the magic number stalled at four, the Dodgers will now have to wait for the weekend series against the last-place Atlanta Braves to wrap up the pennant while the Reds are at San Francisco.

"At least, they can't clinch it against us here, and that means something," said the Reds' Pete Rose about Wednesday's amazing comeback victory.

Even though John opened the bottom of the ninth by walking pinch-hitter Joe Morgan, it looked like he was in good shape when Morgan tripped trying to steal second and was out.

Dodger manager Tommy Lasorda went to the mound to talk to the obviously ineffective John but he elected to keep him in there to the cheers of the crowd.

However, it was a wrong move since Griffey followed with his 11th home run of the season to put Cincy ahead.

After one out, Lopes and Bill Russell connected for back-to-back singles. But Murray got Manny Mota on a fly and Ron Cey on a grounder to end the threat.

It was obvious from the beginning John wasn't sharp.

Home run king George Foster ripped his 48th of the season in the first inning after Dave Concepcion doubled. An unearned run followed in the second to give the Reds a 3-1 edge but John settled down to blank the former champs through the next five innings.

Griffey, Foster and Johnny Bench opened the eighth with singles and Cesar Geronimo cleared the bases with a three-run homer.

John entered the game with a 4-0 record against the Reds this year and 9-1 lifetime but instead saw his ERA jump from 2.48 to 2.73.

"The ERA is the least of my worries," John said. "I wanted to win the game, but with two or three more starts I still got a shot at 20."

With three home runs, the Dodgers did set a Los Angeles club record with 173 for the campaign, surpassing the mark of 172 set in 1958.

Garvey connected for his 30th of the season as L.A. has a good chance of becoming the first team in baseball history to have four players finish the year with 30 or more homers.

Cey has 29 followed by Reggie Smith (28) and Dusty Baker (27).

Bethke feels home in Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. — From Covina to Las Vegas, back to Walnut and finally to Lawrence, Kan. It may sound like a Greyhound bus schedule, but such are the football travels of Brian Bethke.

If Lawrence isn't mentioned in quite the same social breath as Los Angeles and Vegas, Bethke can be forgiven. He didn't come to the University of Kansas looking for entertainment.

"I haven't had any real problems adjusting to the Midwest," said KU's junior quarterback. "I like the people and I really like the tempo out here. I like to fish and hunt. I can drive two miles out of Lawrence and feel like I'm really in the outdoors. In L.A., you can drive for 50 miles and still be surrounded by concrete."

But game birds and bass weren't the only reasons Bethke left California where he starred at South Hills High School in Covina and last year at Mt. San Antonio Junior College in Walnut. Nor were they the sole motivation for leaving Nevada-Las Vegas where he was a part-time starter two years ago as a freshman signal caller.

Foremost in Bethke's mind was the chance to play in the powerful Big Eight Conference and to quarterback an option team. He didn't get that chance at UNLV and a coaching decision at UCLA kept him from staying at home.

"I left Las Vegas to get an opportunity to play option football," said the 5-10, 185-pounder, who took over the KU quarterbacking job in last week's 28-14 loss at Texas A&M. "We ran the I at Vegas, and then a new coach came in and said they were going to throw even more."

He transferred to MSAC in the hopes UCLA might take another look at him. In fact he can still picture himself wearing the Bruins' blue and gold. But he'll be in Kansas' crimson and blue this Saturday when UCLA and KU clash at 7 p.m. in the Coliseum.

"When I came out of high school," he said, "UCLA looked at me and tried to recruit me as a defensive back. That's when Dick Vermeil was coach, but I wasn't too keen on the idea of playing defense.

"At any rate, when Vermeil left and Terry Donahue came in, I though they might pick me up again. I knew coach Donahue and would have liked to play at UCLA, but they eventually decided to stick with the quarterbacks they had and just recruit a couple of freshmen."

That left Bethke with two choices: Texas and Kansas. Almost immediately after making a verbal commitment to the Longhorns, Bethke changed his mind and picked KU.

"Without a question, Brian was our No. 1 prospect at quarterback," said KU coach Bud Moore. "We needed someone with maturity and talent. Brian fills that bill. The only thing he lacks right now is the experience he would have gotten if he hadn't been hurt in the spring."

A broken bone in his left hand kept Bethke out of almost all of spring practice — a time he needed to master the Jayhawks' Wishbone offense. In fact, the intricacies of the triple option may be the only thing unfamiliar to him Saturday.

Bethke played in the Coliseum as a high school senior when he led South Hills to the California Interscholastic Federation 4A championship. He teamed up on that squad with Jon Van Vuren, now a back-up safety for the Bruins. He also played against and with (in all-star games) a number of other Uclans.

"The one I remember most is Jerry Robinson," Bethke said, "I met him at a football camp while I was in high school. He was a skinny little wide receiver than and now he's an All-American linebacker. I don't think he even remembers us, though."

Prep season opens tonight

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Three of the valley's prep teams will get the jump on the rest when the 1977 high school football season opens tonight.

Claremont will host Bonita at Citrus College and Garey will entertain Royal at Mt. San Antonio College. Both games have 7:30 kickoffs.

Friday will be the first night of the season for the rest of the local prep squads, except for Ganesha and American Christian, which will wait until Saturday to debut, and Webb and Don Lugo, which will play their first games next week.

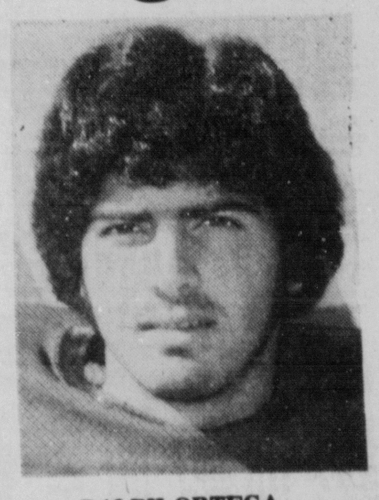
Last year Bonita embarrassed the Wolfpack with a 31-7 thrashing but Esper Keiser's squad should be able to make more of a game of it this time around. Claremont's varsity roster included 24 juniors in 1976, meaning that Keiser's current team has a good deal of maturity.

Pete Lopez's charges also have a good deal of varsity experience, most of it on defense.

Ralph Ortega and Bob Vidaure lead a very strong secondary and Mark Shamblin and Greg Lopez (the coach's son) are back at linebacker. Rich Doyle, Mike Sly and Tom St. Clair anchor the defensive line.

The Bearcats don't figure to give up many points, but the question is how many they'll be able to score. Last year's quarterback, Sanford Coggins, is now at the University of Texas and Lopez also lost most of his offensive line to graduation.

ELIJAH TURNER . . .
Garey High



RALPH ORTEGA . . .
Bonita High

Ortega, a varsity running back since his sophomore year (he's now a senior), will probably start at quarterback tonight.

Claremont will also have a new quarterback, Mike Pirolo, who was a tight end last year. He'll be handing off to either Grant Warhurst or Scott McBride at fullback and Fred Flye, Kevin Britton or Jeff Smith at tailback.

Keiser has several good linemen returning, including All-Valley tackle Robert Villanueva, Neil Anderson and Elias Contreras.

The coach's first priority is to improve his defense, which was a bit porous last year. Defensive back Scott Kegans may be one of the league's best but the Wolfpack is inexperienced at linebacker.

The Bonita-Claremont game will be the first of five matchups between a SAL team and a Hacienda League team over the next two weeks. Last year the HL won four of the five contests, with Montclair's win over Ontario the only SAL victory.

Garey used a last-minute touchdown pass to defeat Royal last year in Simi Valley. Quarterback Al Clay threw for three TDs and a two-point conversion in that game, but Clay is now at Pasadena City College.

The Vikings' success may depend heavily on how well Clay's replacement, Anthony Clinton, performs.

Clinton is fortunate enough to have a flock of talented running backs to hand off to, including fullback Elijah Turner, Roosevelt Lett, James Moore and Kirby Lofton. Doug Brissette will be back at running back next week but will miss tonight's game due to a late start in practice.

The new Garey QB also has an excellent aerial target in wide receiver David Forte.

Garey's defense was the best in the league last year, surrendering just eight points per game, and coach Lawson Bush thinks this year's unit may be even better. He has yet to be convinced, however, whether the offense will be as effective as last year's.

Bush expects Royal to be a bit tougher than last year since the Highlanders have most of their 1976 defense back.

Last year's score was 26-20.

Bullring set at racetrack

"Bullring," an interview session to be held on the three Saturdays of the Los Angeles County Fair meeting, will be inaugurated this Saturday at 12 noon.

The half-hour conversation will be staged on the bandstand in front of the half-mile racetrack.

Foothill Stakes kicks off Fair

Nine of the ten nominees to Friday's opening day feature, the $17,500 added Foothill Stakes, were entered for the six furlong dash which kicks off Pomona's 14-day meeting at the Los Angeles County Fair.

The Foothill is for three-year-olds and highlights an 11-race program. The Fair will present an Appaloosa race, two quarter horse races and eight thoroughbred contests beginning at 1 p.m. Exacta wagering is offered on the fourth, eighth and 11th races.

Jules Bihari's Winsor Pete, trained by Dave Hofmans, has won four of his 11 starts and finished second on four occasions this year. The son of Pete's Ruler, second last out in the Bay District Stakes at Bay Meadows, drew the disadvantageous outside post position. However, he will be ridden by the leading jockey in 1976 at Pomona, Francisco Mena at 119 pounds.

Expected to garner much support in the Foothill is Cold Courage, a swift son of Snow Sporting from the barn of Warren Stute. Cold Courage, a sprint winner this summer at Del Mar, has Raul Ramirez named to ride from post six at 114 pounds.

Century Chief was a front running $53 upsetter of his last start in 103/4 at Del Mar. The son of Delaware Chief will wear blinkers for the first time in the Foothill, and jockey Ismael Valenzuela has the call from post position two at 117 pounds.

The remainder of the field includes Sweet Valentina (Wayne Harris) 111; Windy Cheyenne (Tony Noguez) 116; Senior Director (Danny Velasquez) 119; El Condor (Bobby Howard) 114; Beau Folly (William Stallings) 114; and Charley Sutton (Rudy Campas) 114.

With no scratches, the gross purse will be $19,425 with $11,540 to the winner.

Lakers waive Dwight Lamar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers announced Wednesday that they have released guard Bo Lamar.

The Lakers acquired the 6-foot-1 Lamar the day before the 1976-77 season started in trade with Detroit. Lamar, 27, appeared in 71 games for the Lakers, averaging 7.1 points and 2.5 assists.

The release of Lamar brings the number of players reporting to the Lakers' training camp which begins next Monday to 17. Included are eight guards, six forwards and three centers.

Track star helps Cal Poly gridders

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Cal Poly has an outstanding freshman prospect at fullback from the local area and it's all because of track.

Bronco football coach Jim Jones can thank track mentor Jim George for Poly's good fortune of landing Pomona High product Ricky Fairman.

In Poly's opener last week at Puget Sound, Fairman made his collegiate debut a big success.

After getting in on only one play in the first half, Fairman ended up by being Poly's top rusher with 42 yards on eight carries.

The Red Divil product is now battling junior Dominic Licavoli, a Chaffey College transfer and Upland High graduate, for the starting fullback assignment this Saturday at San Francisco State.

Fairman, who was an All-San Antonio League selection last year despite playing on a winless Pomona team, has already made it big and Jones still has the pleasant dreams of having him for four full seasons.

And the six-foot, 202-pound fullback doesn't cost Jones a football scholarship.

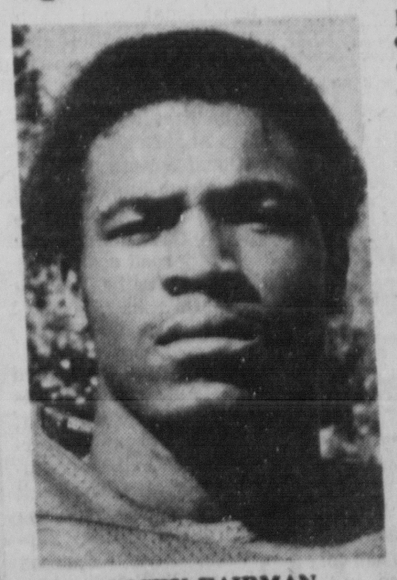
Fairman, who rushed for more than 500 yards at Pomona, came to Poly on a track scholarship which is understandable since he won the SAL in the shot put last year with a 58-2 3/4 and took fifth in the state meet at UCLA with a 60-2 3/4.

George has no fears about Fairman playing football and has cooperated fully with Jones.

"We're planning on using Ricky for all of the weight events," George said. "We want to use him in the shot put and discus and try the javelin. My feeling is Ricky can participate in spring football practice and still compete for us. I can live with it."

"I will tell you we will have Ricky in excellent shape for football," the track mentor continued. "He is a super guy and easy to recruit since he was planning to come here all along anyway."

Jones is pleased with George's attitude.



RICKY FAIRMAN

"We talk about it constantly," says Poly's new head football mentor. "Our major concern is making sure Ricky Fairman gets a good college education. I am confident everything can be worked out. Quickness is everything in football and he really learns it in track."

Fairman admits football was his first love in high school. He really never took track too serious until he got into CIF competition.

"I'm just getting into track now," Fairman said. "I planned to come to Poly since I wanted to stay near home so I'm kind of lucky."

Actually, Fairman is excited about throwing the javelin. "I think I will really enjoy that," he says.

After just one game, Fairman can already discuss the big difference in college ball from the high school level.

"It's like having the best players from every high school coming together," he said. "All of the hard hitters seem to be on one team."

Asked if he was surprised to see so much action in his first game, Fairman answered, "I was hoping to play. I'm just trying to do the best job I can."

Fairman, who came to Pomona when he was in the sixth grade, feels Poly will be improving each week during the season.

"We have a pretty good team and everything should work out once everybody gets to know everybody," he said.

BRONC BUSTERS — Poly is chartering a flight to San Francisco for Saturday's game. The flight leaves Ontario at 2 p.m. Friday and returns home after the game. The price of $85 includes a night at a downtown hotel in San Francisco. Additional information is available at 598-4611.

Linebacker Scott Pickwith, who played for Jones at South Hills High and came to Poly from Mt. San Antonio College, was named the school's Miller Player of the Week for 15 unassisted tackles, five assists and forcing a fumble.

Starting quarterback Sammy Ross is nursing a jammed index finger from the Puget Sound game but he's expected to be ready for San Francisco State

Kicking around

with Adrian Mercado and Willy Keo

THE SIERRA MADRE-ARCADIA AYSO region invited us to conduct a coaching seminar last week and much to our delight we were greeted by an enthusiastic group of coaches and officials whose ebulation became contagious. This 200-team AYSO Region is not only well organized under the baton of our good friend Larry Littleton, but they were proudly announcing the inauguration of their very own Regional Office at 820 Santa Anita Avenue, Arcadia. We give 'em a tip o' the hat for their fine achievements.

POMONA REGISTRATION — Pomona AYSO will hold two registrations this month. The first one will be held on Saturday, Sept. 24, at Palomares Park between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., and the final registration will be held at Lincoln School on Wednesday, Sept. 28 between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Regional Commissioner Ross Martin, and the Board of Directors expect that this year will be a boom year for Pomona AYSO and they have been busily working to get the word out to all youngsters to join.

CLAREMONT AYSO TRYOUTS — Claremont AYSO is holding tryouts for all players who have signed-up to play this coming season. Everyone must participate even if they have played in previous seasons.

Tryouts for ages 7-9 will be from 10 a.m. to noon and ages 10-18 will tryout from noon until 2 p.m. at Griffith Field located behind Sumner School on Saturday.

The final Claremont AYSO sign-ups will be held at Taylor Hall on Friday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

ONTARIO-MONTCLAIR AYSO — This Region will kick-off its Coach Development Program on Wednesday, when the Pele film "The Master and His Method" will be shown at 8 p.m. The film will be preceded by a presentation on "Positive Coaching" by the AYSO National Director of Coaching starting at 7 p.m. at the Ontario Community Building. We will be there . . . hope to see you there.

NASL SETS NEW ATTENDANCE RECORD — The final total of attendance for regular season play in the NASL this year hit a new record of 3,171,780 for 234 games eclipsing the old mark of 2,474,078 set in 1976 for 240 games. This represents a 31 percent increase over last year and also set a new record for average attendance at 13,555.

The Cosmos with Pele, Beckenbauer, and Chinaglia led the league in attendance with a record home draw of 443,847 representing an average of 34,142 for the 13 home games.

The Minnesota Kicks followed with an average of 32,771. Other cities around the nation also had a great year at the gate. Seattle averaged 24,226, Tampa — 19,492, San Jose — 17,739, and Dallas — 16,511.

What about "our" Los Angeles Aztecs — they averaged an announced 9,643 fans at home while doing better while on the road with an average of 17,510. L.A. is a proven soccer town, but it is obvious that the Aztecs Managing General Partner must be doing something or somethings wrong to alienate the soccer community. Possibly a survey around the Coliseum neighborhoods and in the East L.A. area might provide some clues.

WORLD CUP '78 — The next phase of the CONCACAF eliminations leading to a spot among the final 16 nations that will be vieing for the FIFA World Cup in Argentina next year will take place in October (Guatemala vs. Surinam, Canada vs. El Salvador, and Mexico vs. Haiti). Just think, we came this close to getting into that round-robbin but lost it to our good neighbors to the north. Let's not think about it anymore . . . anyway, Iran beat Australia 1-0, but will Tunisia beat Nigeria in November? Will the U.S. beat Canada in 1981?

THE RISE OF SOCCER IN THE UNITED STATES has been further emphasized by the success of the USA team in the recent Cup of the Americas tourney last week in New York. Our boys walked off with the trophy in undefeated fashion by beating University Sports Club of Ecuador 3-0, Millionaires Club of Colombia 3-1, and Alianza of Peru 2-1.

Scoring in two of the games was our valley hero Rick Davis, ex-Damien star and Claremont AYSO product who cut out from his sophomore year with Santa Clara University to do duty with the USA Olympic and National teams.

The three South American clubs are highly rated pro clubs and the Alianza Club of Lima is particularly strong with six of Peru's World Cup members aboard.

SOUTHLAND FANS WILL BE TREATED to two games this weekend at the Coliseum involving a Friday night contest between Alianza and the Universidad de Guadalajara team, and a Sunday afternoon clash between Alianza and the Mexican National team . . . the latter prepping for October World Cup action.

Alianza's World Cuppers include Cubillas, Stoil, Velasquez, Salguero, Gonzalez and Duarte who have already carried Peru into the final 16 to compete in Argentina in June of 1978 for the world title. The Incans were successful in retrieving both Cubillas from Portugal, and Sotil from Spain where they played for high salaries. They can only play World Cup for their own country.

The South American coaches paid tribute to the success of the USA. ECUADOR noted "it did not go well for us . . . we underestimated the United States. The USA is no longer the freshman in world football. They are now taking steps that will put them into international orbit." COLOMBIA: "The USA is promoting soccer very well and they have the money to do it with, and an economy that can make it a success. It is all very good for world football." PERU: "We were surprised by the ability and technique of the Americans and we remember their defeat of England in 1950 in Brazil. Now it seems they are really concentrating on reaching for a rung on the international sports ladder."

* * *

THE TOURING COSMOS tied Portuguesa of Venezuela and beat Japan's champs so far where they still have some games set with China. Pele met and embraced with Oh, Japan's homerun king who is so much in the news today. Their mutual respect for each other surmounted the language barrier.

AS SUDDENLY AS THE PRO SEASON ENDED the college season is quickly upon us. The Univ. of San Francisco will be trying for its third straight NCAA Division One crown . . . a feat no one has yet accomplished. St. Louis University has thrice won twice but could not hurdle the challenge of three straight. USF hopes to do it but will have such strong local opposition in the Bay Area as U of Calif., Santa Clara, San Jose State, Stanford and the southern powerhouses of UCLA, Fullerton and USC.

Across the country time finds St. Louis U and Southern Illinois U and Indiana U (they were runnersup in '76) bracing for strong assaults for the number one NCAA spot while Howard, Clemson, Connecticut, Brown and Philly Textile have similar ideas farther toward the Atlantic. This should be the best college season of all time . . . in all divisions. The spread of youth soccer has provided a base for soccer talent that was not available in previous years. Bob DiGrazia, coach of UC Berkeley is just back from a coaches trek to Brazil and remarks that "three or fours years ago a college coach had to teach his rookies how to kick . . . but today they have already become pretty good players in high school, and in some cases even earlier in the youth league."

SOCCER FOLK IN MARYLAND are jubilant. After a rough publicity campaign on behalf of the soccer athlete the State Board of Education has lifted the embargo on a high school player's outside team affiliation. All high school athletes in Maryland can now play with an outside team . . . except for football, basketball and baseball.

Wins game anyway

Jackson is no bunter

By Associated Press

Bunters build runs a base at a time. Home run hitters, an impatient lot, deliver them in four-base clusters.

Reggie Jackson is no bunter.

In the ninth inning of a scoreless game between the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox, Jackson was flashed the bunt sign to advance Thurman Munson to second base. He squared around on the first and third pitches, but didn't offer at tosses by Boston's Reggie Cleveland.

"I had to talk to (third base Coach Dick) Howser about the sign because I don't bunt often enough to know it," said Jackson.

Unable to gently lay the ball down, Jackson worked the count to 3-2 and instead laid out the Red Sox, smacking his 26th home run of the season and giving the Yankees a 2-0 victory Wednesday night.

"I didn't expect Cleveland to be taken out," said Jackson. "He had pitched a great game. Sometimes Cleveland gets me out with slow stuff down, but not today."

The triumph, the Yankees' second in two games in a crucial three-game series with the Red Sox, lifted New York 3½ games ahead of third-place Boston in the American League East. Baltimore, with 6-5 and 4-2 victories over Toronto, sneaked into second place, 2½ games behind New York.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit swept a pair from Cleveland, 5-3 and 2-1; Kansas City beat Oakland twice, 5-2 and 6-0; Minnesota blanked the Chicago White Sox 7-0; Texas edged California 2-1, and Milwaukee beat Seattle 8-5.

Jackson, who has slugged 307 career homers, has trouble remembering his successful bunts.

"I think I got one back in 1974 and I know I got one in 1971," said the slugging outfielder who has driven in the winning run 17 times this season, tops on the Yankees. "In '74, I fouled the ball off and ended up hitting away. In '71, I got it down and it led to us (Oakland) winning."

The last time he played a great defensive game might also challenge Jackson's memory. But Wednesday night he made two spectacular plays, protecting Ed Figueroa's shaky seven-hit shutout.

He made a leaping catch against the wall in the fourth inning and a diving grab inches above the grass in the seventh. On the second catch, the Red Sox had a runner on second base with one out.

"I didn't get a good jump on the ball but I got the ball squarely in my mitt," said Jackson of the seventh-inning gem. "I'm not the greatest fielder in the world, a Paul Blair or (Joe) DiMaggio or anything like that.

"But I caught that one. The catches help build my confidence and prove I can field. But the home run is where it's at.

"This was my most satisfying game with the Yankees, perhaps the best game of baseball I've played in. There was great defense by both sides and great defense by me and then I hit it out to win it."

Orioles 6-4, Blue Jays 4-2

The Orioles, who have six games left with the Red Sox, continued moving up on the outside lane, while New York and Boston battled each other inside.

Lee May belted a two-run homer, his 23rd, in the first game and smacked a run-scoring double in the nightcap, pacing the Orioles to their sixth and seventh straight victories.

Royals 5-6, A's 2-0

The Royals continued to make a mockery of the race in the AL West, winning their 13th and 14th straight games, a club record and a major league high this season. The Royals' magic number now is nine; they lead second-place Chicago by nine games.

Dennis Leonard hurled an eight-hitter in the second game and Jim Colborn scattered seven hits but needed relief help from Larry Gura in the final two innings of the opener.

In an oddity, Jeff Newman of Oakland started the second game as a catcher and finished as a pitcher, giving up one hit and no runs in one inning. He hit Hal McRae with a pitch, then gave up a single to George Brett before retiring the next three batters.

"He's a catcher and he should stay behind the plate," said McRae. "Before I came up, Brett said it would be embarrassing to make an out by a catcher. I said I wasn't worried about making an out, I was worried about getting hit."

Oakland Manager Bobby Winkles said Newman didn't volunteer for the pitching assignment.

"I selected him," Winkles said. "You got to pick someone. I can't waste my only reliever, (Doug) Bair, on a 6-0 game when I might need him in tomorrow's doubleheader."

Tigers 5-2, Indians 3-1

A sacrifice fly by Ron LeFlore in the 10th inning gave the Tigers a doubleheader sweep. The Tigers had ended a six-game losing string in the opener, in which Tim Corcoran doubled home two runs and Ben Oglivie pounded out four hits, including a solo homer.

Twins 7, White Sox 0

Dave Goltz, 18-9, checked the White Sox on seven hits and became the first pitcher to throw a complete-game shutout against them this season. The Twins snapped a six-game losing streak.

Brewers 8, Mariners 5

Sixto Lezcano's three-run homer in the fifth highlighted a Milwaukee comeback that enabled the Brewers to wipe out a 5-0 Seattle lead. Reliever Eduardo Rodriguez allowed Seattle just four hits over the final 7 1-3 innings.

CC kickers victorious

REDLANDS — Chaffey College's soccer team opened its regular season with an impressive 8-0 win over host University of Redlands here Wednesday afternoon.

Frank Ferandez, a freshman from Chaffey High, led the way with three goals. Damien High product Mike O'Neill added two scores for the locals.

Next soccer action for Chaffey will be Saturday morning at 10 a.m. at La Verne College.

NEW YORK (AP) — Julio Valdez, a battling lightweight from Santo Domingo, has a battling co-manager. He is Billy Martin, manager of the New York Yankees, renowned for his baseball fistic exploits.

Martin's co-manager is Luis Morales of the Yankee ticket office, who had to talk Billy out of serving as a sparring partner for Valdez.

Bruins work to come back

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA had more than its share of difficulties in opening its college football season Monday night.

Houston overcame a 13-3 halftime deficit to hand the Bruins a 17-13 setback on national television. That was discouraging enough. But it was worse.

UCLA lost a pair of key players at the Astrodome and the team is now involved in a unique situation brought about by its schedule — the Bruins have little time to prepare for their next game.

That comes Saturday night when Kansas visits the Coliseum in the Bruins' home opener.

"The problems of the game at Houston were difficult enough," said UCLA Coach Terry Donahue Wednesday. "Now we've got to face the problems of this week's game with very little preparation.

"We're obviously two days behind," added Donahue. "We'll work harder Thursday and Friday than we normally do. We think we'll have enough time to rest after Friday with the game being Saturday night.

"We've never done this before."

Few teams have. And Donahue says Kansas is not an ordinary team in terms of preparation.

"Kansas is an excellent football team," said Donahue. "They present preparation problems for our defense because they run out of both the wishbone and I-formations.

"We'll have our hands full trying to win Saturday night, I promise you that."

The 6-foot-1, 177-pounder from Fountain Valley, Calif., completed 16 of 27 passes for 245 yards and one touchdown.

Bashore's passing yardage was the most for a Bruin quarterback since Dennis Dummit compiled 252 yards through the air against Southern California in 1970.

"I thought under the circumstances Rick did a nice job for his first start," said Donahue. "He did some very fine things and although he had some difficulty with fundamentals, he kept his poise throughout the game.

"I anticipated playing both quarterbacks against Houston and I anticipate playing both against Kansas," added Donahue. "But the game might change those plans as it did Monday night."

Kansas is 0-1, having lost its opener to seventh-ranked Texas A&M, 28-14, last Saturday.

The Bruins, 14th in this week's poll despite their loss, will be without Brown and Corral for at least six weeks. Donahue said sophomore Ernie Saenz will probably replace Brown.

THE WINNER — Heavyweight Ken Norton is held in the air by his handlers. Norton KO'd Lorenzo Zanon in the fifth round at Las Vegas' Ceasar's Palace Wednesday night.

Norton unsure about Ali

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Ken Norton continues to wonder whether Muhammad Ali will ever fight him again.

"I'll believe it only when I climb into the ring with him," said the No. 1 challenger from Los Angeles, who beat Ali once and then lost two disputed decisions to the current heavyweight boxing champion.

Norton, 223, first has a date with Jimmy Young on Nov. 5, and the two tuned up with easy victories in nationally-televised bouts at Caesars Palace here Wednesday night.

Norton says Ali wants to avoid him, but the heavyweight champion—who has a title fight on Sept. 29 against Earnie Shavers—has gone on record saying he would put his title at stake against the Norton-Young winner.

Young, a 213-pound Philadelphian, started slowly but picked up speed and boxed his way to a one-sided 10-round verdict over Jody Ballard, 205, of Houston.

Norton started even slower and got tagged a couple of times. But at the end of the fifth round he knocked out No. 10-ranked Lorenzo Zanon, an awkward 207-pounder from Milan, Italy. There were only two seconds left in the stanza when a left hook started Zanon on the way out, so the time goes as 3:08, eight seconds after the round's scheduled end.

Neither Young nor Norton said he was impressed by each other's showing, but each made a point of watching the other.

"I hope Norton doesn't think he's going to do the same thing to me," said Young after watching the kayo on television. "He doesn't hit hard enough to hurt me," said Norton of Young. "He can't punch, but he does have speed."

The two showcased in the Sports Pavilion of Caesars, where they'll fight for more than $1 million each in the Fall.

Three other ten round bouts were closer:

Ron Lyle, the 220-pound No. 3 contender from Denver, said he suffered from the flu but barely outpointed little-known Stan Ward, a 236¼-pound newcomer from Sacramento, Calif. One judge scored the bout even and the other two had Lyle just one point ahead.

The end came after 47 seconds of the seventh round, when both of Houpe's eyes were bruised to mere slits. Holmes, 211, knocked down Houpe, 199, a split-second after the third round ended. When the referee stopped the fight, the ending went as a technical knockout.

Leroy Jones, the 271-pound gargantuan from Denver, took a unanimous decision from Greg Johnson, 207½, from New York.

Norton looked more impressive in knocking out Zanon than did Young in outpointing the unranked Ballard.

But, says Ballard of his conqueror:

"He's got the best head movement in the world. He's fast, slick and he knows what he's doing. Your shots can be on time, but he just gets out of the way. Young is a better puncher than most give him credit for. He hurt me three or four times."

On those occasions, Young, who also has lost a decision to Ali, slammed home right hands to a head that virtually was unprotected.

Young says he's in top shape right now, but Norton says this was only the midpoint in his preparations for the November fight.

Angels bow to Alexander, 2-1

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Doyle Alexander is making some $150,000 a year for the Texas Rangers and the sinkerball-pitching right hander was worth every nickel of it Wednesday night.

The only problem is that Alexander hasn't possessed his sinker ball all season, even though he's the winningest hurler on the Ranger staff at 15-10.

He muffled California on three hits and the Rangers nicked the Angels 2-1.

"The last two games I've been able to throw the sinker that I haven't had in the last two or three years," Alexander said. "The ball is starting to move for me now."

Alexander should have had a shutout, but he was his own worst enemy.

After walking the leadoff batter in the seventh inning, Mario Guerrero hit a grounder back to Alexander and he promptly threw it into center field.

"If I can keep pitching every three or four days, then I can be an effective pitcher," Alexander said. "It kills a control pitcher like me not to get on the mound regularly."

Ranger Manager Billy Hunter said: "Doyle definitely figures in our plans for next year. We are counting heavily on him. He is the type of pitcher who's capable of going 15-7 for you.

Asked if Alexander was an "untouchable" in the winter trades, Hunter said quickly, "everyone is untouchable."

Hunter received some heat two weeks ago when he said Claudell Washington and Jim Sundberg were the only two untouchable players on the team as far as trades were concerned.

In the final game of a four game series tonight, Texas' Nelson Briles (5-4) was scheduled to meet John Caneira (10).

MSAC wins in water polo

Returning letterman Dave Earwood struck for seven goals as Mt. San Antonio College opened its 1977 water polo season with an easy 22-11 win over Rio Hondo College Wednesday afternoon.

Next match for coach Roy Wilks' crew will be Monday afternoon at 3:30 p.m., when the Mounties will host cross-valley rival Chaffey.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks drifted aimlessly early Thursday as investors waited for the Federal Reserve Board's weekly money supply report. Trading was sluggish.

The Fed recently tightened credit to counter a $3 billion surge in the money supply and, as a result, Chase Manhattan Bank raised its prime lending rate a quarter point to 7¼ per cent. Other banks are expected to follow soon.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported business inventories rose 0.6 per cent in July, compared with a 0.8 per cent boost in June. Sales fell 0.3 per cent, however.

Citidank economists said the economy was continuing to recover at a strong rate, despite negative government reports, which hey called "noise." Such reports, they said, "don't reflect any fundamental weaknesses."

Against that background, the Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 0.18 point to 858.89 shortly before noon EDT. Of the 1,564 issues crossing the tape, 567 advanced, 472 declined and 525 remained unchanged.

New York Stock Exchange volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 7,300,000 shares, compared with 7,740,000 traded during the comparable period Wednesday.

Analysts said one reason for the light turnover was the fact that many Wall Streeters were watching the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee meeting at which President Carter's budget director, Bert Lance, testified.

Middle SKOUTH Utiliies was the most active NYSE-listed issue, unchanged at 16⅞ following a block trade of 100,000 shares at 16⅞ on the Midwest Stock Exchange.

Inernational Telephone & Telegraph, which Wednesday won a $19 million Navy contract, was the second most active NYSE issue, off ⅛ to 30⅝. General Telephone & Electronics was third, up ⅛ to 30¾.

Cone Mills was ahead 1⅜. The firm late Wednesday said it planned to buy 500,000 of its shares from Moses Cone Memorial Hospital in Greensboro, N.C., for $24 a share.

Prices were higher in moderate trading of American Stock Exchange issues. Houston Oil & Minerals was the most active issue, off ½ to 37¼. WUI International followed, unchanged at 29¾. Damson Oil was third, off ⅛ to 10.

Housing starts up

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — New housing starts in California increased in July to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 274,000 units, Bank of America reported.

The July rate was up 8.3 per cent from June, and 41.2 per cent above the 194,000 starts in July 1976.

Single family units continue to account for about two-thirds of the total starts in the state, bank economists said.

Mt. Everest

Mt. Everest, the highest mountain in the world, is called Chomolungma in Tibetan. the name means "goddess-mother."

CMC economists

Stronger economy is predicted

A stronger economy, a jump in short term interest rates, increased government spending and a "moderately out of control" higher inflation are forecast for the next few months by the Claremont Men's College economists in their recent quarterly update of the Applied Financial Economics Center.

The economists also expect the housing market to continue its cooling trend as moderating price increases slow speculators.

AFEC directors James Meigs and John Rutledge said the future of the nation's economy will depend upon many administrative decisions and they are hoping that "President Carter's apparent flair for surprises stays under control well through next spring."

For instance, the economists pointed out, the replacement or reappointment of Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns when his term expires next spring is now causing a great deal of uncertainty in the financial markets as traders seize every scrap of information about the future of the Federal Reserve-White House relationship.

As a result, the economists expect substantial volatility in stock, bond, and foreign exchange markets over the rest of the year. They believe that stock and bond prices and the value of the dollar in international markets will rise or fall according to Burns' reappointment or replacement. But either way, they still believe the "Burns Plan" of gradually reducing money growth to achieve eventual price stability has very little chance of ever being implemented.

Rutledge, who takes a dim view of the way things are shaping up, said the "real Jimmy Carter is finally taking shape out of the confusing impressions left with us during the Presidential campaign." He said that Carter advertises himself as a "bleeding-heart conservative," — a man who wants to make everybody better off but who also has the common sense of a farmer and a businessman.

"Instead," said Rutledge, "Carter has proven himself to be a man who wants more — more spending, more taxing, more government regulations — a free spender and a price controller who believes that he can 'fix' the economy and should redistribute income, and who prefers mandatory rules over the free market as a way to allocate scarce resources."

In view of these uncertainties, Rutledge and Meigs warn that short-term and long-term rates will resume their upward march within the next several weeks, continuing on through 1978, and they expect inflation to continue above 6 per cent at least the next two years.

The economists will provide more valuable information on the financial market's future on Oct. 13 when they hold their conference for the Two-year Outlook for U.S. and World Financial Markets at the college.

Corporate TV and films

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The business of corporate television and film is becoming big business.

According to Ilene Kahn of the Terry Kahn Organization, a film and television production firm headquartered here, the market for business and industrial television and film production will reach $2 billion a year by 1985.

Kahn, a producer-director, says her estimate is a projection of the current level of more than $500 million annually being spent by companies on film and television productions for their own use, according to a recent survey published by the International Industrial Television Association. This rate of expenditure, says Kahn, is growing at the rate of 50 percent per year according to the survey.

"In 1978, over 50,000 films and programs totaling 20,000 hours will be produced by American corporations for their own use, including image films, sales films, training films and other types of public relations visual communications."

Kahn concludes that "corporate television programming exceeds that of all of the three major television networks and public television and corporate filmmaking results in more releases than the combined output of all of the major studios.

"It wouldn't be at all surprising if sometime in the near future a fifth network — the corporate network — was developed to serve the business audience."

Hoople tabs 1977 season

By AMOS B. HOOPLE
Grid Expert Supreme

Har-rumph! It has been a mighty tough week for your fearless football forecaster! In addition to my weekly picks, I've spend many long hours pondering and repondering my seasonal predictions in order to bring you the most accurate, up-to-date results possible.

And, ah-hem, I have succeeded!

Let's go to the national scene first, where the famous Hoople system foresees this top ten:

1. Notre Dame; 2. Oklahoma; 3. Michigan; 4. Southern Cal; 5. Ohio State; 6. Alabama; 7. Penn State; 8. Pitt; 9. Houston; 10. Maryland.

Others to watch include Texas Tech, Texas A&M, Colorado and UCLA.

Obviously, my picks for the 1978 Rose Bowl would be John Robinson's Trojans and Bo Schembechler's Wolverines. Remember, you read it here first!

Closer to home, let's take a peak at how our own Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference will come out.

The Hoople crystal ball foresees Redlands prevailing at the top, but not before locals La Verne and Claremont-Mudd put up a real battle in finishing second and third respectively.

Fourth will be Occidental, fifth Whittier and sixth poor old Pomona-Pitzer. The Fighting Sagehens are an improving ballclub, but still are in over their heads with this group.

Shifting to the junior colleges, this year figures to be a most exciting one in the South Coast and Mission conferences, with the races in both going right down to the wire.

The potent Pirates from Orange Coast appear to be back on the beam this year after a sub-par 1976, and that calls for them to be favored by this writer in the SCC.

Second will be Fullerton, third the improving Mountie squad from Mt. San Antonio, fourth San Diego Mesa, fifth Grossmont, sixth Cerritos and seventh Santa Ana.

Even more thrills will be generated locally in the Mission Conference, where the Hoople method tabs Citrus and Chaffey as the frontrunners. Look for John Strycula's Owls to prevail over Mike Merandi's Panthers by a narrow margin in a conference which figures to be decided on Oct. 22 when these two clash at Chaffey.

Third will be Saddleback, fourth Southwestern, fifth San Bernardino, sixth San Diego City, seventh Riverside City and eighth Palomar.

I, kaff — kaff, have saved the best for last — my 1977 prep predictions for the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues.

In the SAL, the good Major has to go with tradition, and in this case that means he favors Dick Larson's Damien Spartans to claim that crown once again.

Chino looks like a strong

Spartans favored in SAL race

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

An All-CIF quarterback and a large group of returning players from a 1976 San Antonio League co-championship squad figure to stretch Damien High's tenure as kingpin of SAL football.

Dan Marconi, who passed for over 1,900 yards and was elected to the All-CIF 3A second team as a junior last year, is back to direct the fortunes of the Spartans, who will be shooting for their third straight league title.

The Spartans have finished as co-champions in both of Dick Larson's seasons as head coach. Damien shared the title with Chino in 1975 and with Garey last year.

Larson welcomes back 26 varsity lettermen from his 1976 team, which reached the 3A quarterfinals. But he doesn't feel that's enough to ensure success this time around.

"I don't put a lot of stock in numbers like that," he said, though several SAL coaches would like to have a similar situation.

"You can have a lot of kids coming back and still not be successful," Larson asserted. "I'm always surprised by a few kids who weren't that good as sophomores or juniors but bloom when they're seniors. And sometimes you have the opposite situation — a kid who stars as a junior but isn't as enthusiastic when he's a senior."

Among the returning Spartans are Gil Garcia, an All-SAL first team selection at safety who will also play wide receiver on offense this year, and three all-league second teamers: offensive tackle Charles Vess and linebackers Pete Huysman and Mark Leavens, who will see duty at defensive end this season. Huysman and Leavens will also play on the offensive line this year, since Vess is the only returning starter there.

Though they may be slight favorites, the Spartans have anything but an easy road before them. The SAL, traditionally one of the CIF's most balanced leagues, may be even tighter than usual this season.

It is doubtful that any team will go undefeated through the league schedule and even more improbable that any team will go winless, as Pomona did in 1976.

The teams that look most capable of unseating the Spartans are Chino, Garey and Ganesha.

Chino wound up 3-4 in SAL play last year but won three of its final four games, with a narrow (21-17) loss to Damien the only blemish during that span.

Coach Jim Rawls is fortunate enough to have his entire offensive backfield back from last year's squad, though quarterback Dan Reyes is injured and will miss the Cowboys' two non-league games. Seniors Bill Young and Mike Bertschinger and junior FerRell Johnson are back with a year's varsity experience under their belts and Reyes will be replaced for two games by Narcie Sousa, who led his squad to the league's sophomore championship last year.

Rawls will be counting on several players from that soph team to come through in key positions this fall. Linebackers Lyle Pelletier and Blake Cash, running back Ernesto Lujian, kicker Tony Zendejas and wide receiver/defensive backs Tim McGrath and Peter Brun are all juniors this season.

Chino should have a deadly kicking game, with Zendejas, who kicked seven field goals — including two from 50 yards — for the sophs last year, and Tony Gonzales, who did not miss an extra point all year for the varsity.

Garey also returns a number of talented performers at skill positions, including linebackers James Moore and Doug Brissette, running backs Elijah Turner, Brissette and Roosevelt Lett and receiver/defensive back David Forte.

But the problem coach Lawson Buch faces is replacing quarterback Al Clay and two-way star Ralph Dixon. Stepping in for Clay will be senior Anthony Clinton, who played as a sophomore but not last year. How well he performs will be crucial to Garey's bid to repeat as league titlist.

Sophomore Carey Shepard will be Clinton's backup at quarterback. Other prominent Vikings this season should be linemen Frank Charles, Larry Reyes and Devi Parks and running back/defensive back Kirby Lofton. Moore will also carry the ball some this year, giving the Vikings quite a group of running backs.

Depth, as usual, is a problem for Garey.

runner-up squad from the SAL, with a major surprise in the Hoople forecast being Montclair as the third-place finisher.

The three Pomona schools look to be very even in talent, but that talent is spread a bit thin for this forecaster to consider any one of the three a real title contender.

I tab Ganesha fourth, Garey fifth and Pomona sixth in a photo-finish. Rounding out the SAL scene, look for undermanned Claremont and Upland to finish seventh and eighth respectively.

The rest of the H.L. teams could be far behind these top two. I see Bonita third, San Dimas fourth and Alta Loma fifth. Also-rans figure to be Gladstone (sixth), Ontario (seventh) and hapless Sierra Vista (eighth).

As they say on TV, there you have it! Hate mail may be addressed to my good wife Martha, care of the Hoople Manor. Complimentary letters should be sent to the editor of this newspaper. That way I may, dear readers, warrant a raise next pay day!

Tigers seek third title

Chaffey High is seeking its third consecutive Citrus Belt championship after finishing in a three-way tie for first in 1976.

However, the Tigers may have a tough battle ahead of them in quest of a third straight title.

Coach Ray Stark's club is entering the 1977 season without a veteran quarterback and with a young defensive squad.

Gary Koustik will replace John Gable as the Tigers' signalcaller. He is untested in varsity competition as he directed Chaffey's junior varsity offense in 1976. He'll have three reliable recievers in seniors Stan McDonald (flanker) and Jamie Deason (tight end) and junior Scott Bennet (wide receiver). Chuck Cohn and Steve Lehor will be returning to help anchor the Tiger backfield.

Ganesha also boasts a fine group of running backs but coach Garry Norvell is searching for some offensive linemen.

Bennie Gooden, the SAL's only returning all-league running back, will play halfback alongside Floyd Williams, a junior who was a wide receiver last year. Junior Ron Hughes will handle the quarterbacking and Craig Parm and Kevin Jones, the defensive ends, will alternate at fullback.

Defense figures to be the Giants' strong point. Seven defensive starters are returning and Norvell moved Parm to defensive end to beef up the line. Among the returning defenders are tackle J.W. Melton and linebackers Mike Brown and Tony Chambers. Unfortunately for the Giants, all-league honorable mention defensive back Darryl Shaw moved during the off-season.

Montclair improved its SAL record from 0-7 in 1975 to 3-4 in 1976 and coach Rich Bare feels his squad is a legitimate title contender this year.

Bare has 28 lettermen back for the current campaign, including eight defensive starters from 1976. Since the Cavs had the league's second-best defense (behind Garey) last year — allowing just 13 points a game — it could be quite difficult to score against them this year.

Leading Montclair at offensive and defensive back will be Kent Gurney, back for his senior year. He'll also run back kicks and will punt, but will placekick for just three games — until sophomore Gerard Solorzano turns 15 and becomes eligible for varsity competition.

Fullback Tom Weaver moved over the summer but Todd Dahl, who played at Montclair as a soph before spending a year in Alaska, will be back at guard. Terry Shanks will move to fullback and Steve Jetton will call the signals.

Claremont's Esper Keiser hopes his team's experience will produce more than last year's two league victories.

Keiser is especially looking for improvement in his defense, led by defensive backs Scott Kegans and Steve Tipping, tackles Robert Villanueva and Neil Anderson and ends Elias Contreras and John Mix.

Grant Warhurst will be back at fullback with Fred Flye, Kevin Britton and Jeff Smith trying for the tailback spot. Mike Pirolo will be at quarterback.

Pomona coach Mike Clifton plans to take to the air to avert a repetition of last year's winless season. He has moved John Bullock from tailback to wide receiver so that he, along with tight end Vann Andrews and wide receiver Daryl Swanson, can serve as target for Darrell Keepers' passes.

Besides the aerial crew, Pomona's only returning starters are linebacker Reggie Doby and defensive backs Mitchell Hall and Donnie Milner.

Upland's Bob Holycross is another coach whose squad is long on good offensive backs but short on defenders and offensive linemen.

Holycross thinks quarterback Steve Davenport will be as good a passer as any in the league — including Marconi — and is high on running backs Matt Reichman and Rick Votaw.

Arrowhead has new lineup

Now that Notre Dame, Aquinas and Big Bear have been transferred to the De Anza League, the remaining six Arrowhead League football teams don't have to feel that they are just battling for fourth place.

With the "Big Three" gone, local schools Webb and Lutheran of La Verne hope to be involved in the championship struggle for the first time in recent memory.

Unfortunately for the Gauls, Hassler's son Jim, who was one of the school's top performers last year, has gone with him.

John Richards, a talented halfback and safety, is back for his senior year. Kerry Bensinger, another returning senior, will handle the quarterbacking and the other safety spot.

Other returning Gauls include Tom Wolfe (running back, linebacker), Kerry Tims (tight end, linebacker), Grant Cramer (linebacker), Devin Ben Hur (cornerback) and Bart Del Rio (center, defensive lineman).

Blair feels he has a talented passing game and a sound offense but his offensive line is almost entirely new. He has good size, however, on his defensive line, which averages about 200 pounds.

Rode welcomes back just five returning starters — Craig Downey (a guard the last two seasons who has been switched to running back), Ron Hint (running back), Bob Swick (tackle), Perry Storkson (defensive tackle) and Tim Patton (offensive guard, defensive tackle).

San Jacinto and Orange Lutheran should challenge for the Arrowhead crown along with the two local entries. Sherman and CSDR are expected to be also-rans.

Walnut team to beat in Hacienda League

By RAY NELSON
PB Correspondent

After capturing last year's Hacienda League crown with a perfect 7-0 conference record, the San Dimas High football team was ravaged by graduation to the point where only two starters are returning for this year's campaign.

Because of the Saints' demise, most observers feel, the title fires are being fanned on other campuses around the Hacienda League.

After finishing one game behind San Dimas in 1976, the Mustangs boast 19 returnees and, according to coach Ken Gunn, have a fair amount of depth.

While most teams utilize their players on both offense and defense, Walnut's number of athletes (60 players) affords it the advantage of being able to have its players perform one-way.

"If we can keep injury-free so that the youngsters can develop, it could really prove to be an asset," said Gunn.

While the Mustang mentor believes that Walnut's weaknesses lie in the inexperience of the offensive backfield and some spots on defense, perhaps the strongest point is the offensive line.

Kenny Wilson and Bill Spaulding give Walnut two "of the strongest tackles we've ever had here." Spaulding (6-1, 205 pounds) is the strongest athlete on the squad, according to his coach, while Wilson is a compact 5-9, 220-pounder.

Gone is senior quarterback Kevin Loggins and All-Hacienda running back Kevin Morgan, who was a workhorse in the Walnut backfield the last two years.

Gunn is confident of his passing corps. It is at that position that two seniors — Pat Flaherty and Steve Green — are waging a fierce battle for the starting assignment.

"It is probably the closest battle on the club," said Gunn. "If I had to choose now, I'd have to flip a coin. Both are excellent passers, both are intelligent, and both run well.

"Whoever wins," the coach went on, "should be a contender for all-league honors. I know everyone is high on Strycula (of Royal Oak) — and he's good — but whoever wins this position should make people sit up and take notice."

Replacing Morgan will prove to be a tougher task. Currently vying for the running back positions are five talented athletes, but only junior Dave Wronkiewicz has seen any varsity action there. The 5-9, 187-pounder started alongside Morgan last season.

On defense, the Mustangs will be relying on returnees Murray Packer (defensive end) and All-league Mike Porter.

Andy Crowe and David Browner will anchor the linebacking while safety Doug Vind will provide secondary strength, providing he ends his bout with mononucleosis by the time league play opens.

"We have talent. It (how well Walnut perform this year) will depend on how long it will take to change inexperience to experience," said Gunn.

If Walnut hopes to grab the Hacienda title in 1977, it may receive its most stiffest challenge from rival Royal Oak.

The Romans, who finished last season with a 4-3 league slate, will be guided by senior quarterback Jeff Strycula who can be a threat both through the air and on the ground. Strycula managed to gain 620 yards rushing while also completing 58 percent of his passes for 11 touchdowns last year.

Royal Oak will also have the services of three of its four 1976 backfield artists, as Jack Bron and Doug Cunningham in addition to Strycula. Matt Rundle, who was selected first-team all-league in '76 and was also Strycula's favorite passing target, will also be returning.

While the Roman offensive line is strong with tight end Ken Brown and center Jeff Dunlap coming back along with a tackle and guard, the defense is also similarly intact.

Royal Oak has its entire secondary returning and two of its three linebackers including middleman David Burns, in addition to two of its four defensive linemen.

While Bonita has almost its entire defense returning, its hopes for a crown probably hinge on how well its offense comes around, according to head man Pete Lopez.

"Offensively, we're very young," he said. "We have a long way to go, but we're happy with it."

Perhaps Lopez' biggest problem is finding a replacement for All-Hacienda quarterback Sanford Coggins. The

Valley JCs have high hopes for '77

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Coaches at the valley's three junior colleges are in an optimistic frame of mind for the 1977 season, and with good reason.

Mt. San Antonio, Chaffey and Citrus all have the talent, on paper at least, to challenge for the titles in their respective leagues. And there's always the outside chance that one of the three will impress enough people along the way to be California's representative in this year's Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

But first the trio will have to battle past some tough non-league opposition and out-duel some even tougher squads in conference action.

Veteran MSAC skipper Mal Eaton is coming off a 5-3-2 year, his first winning mark in six years at the Walnut campus. With some key personnel back from that team, plus a very good group of freshmen, Eaton's squad could well improve on their 1976 ledger.

The big question for Eaton and company is: Will the Mounties improve enough to unseat traditional South Coast Conference grid powers Fullerton and Orange Coast?

There are indications that MSAC could well be ready to give both those teams a tussle for the SCC crown.

The Mounties opened impressively with a 35-24 win over a good Rio Hondo team. They seem to have a well-balanced offense and a opportunistic defense.

Eaton's biggest concern right now is for his team to cut down on its mistakes. Mistake-free football is what characterizes both the Fullerton and Orange Coast grid teams, and MSAC will have to play at that level to overtake those two.

"I've found that to win in our conference you have to be one, very talented; two, avoid injuries; and three, a little lucky," said Eaton. "The South Coast Conference will be a dogfight as always. We think we can stay with the top teams in the conference if we accomplish these three things."

Talent doesn't seem to be a problem for Eaton.

The Mounties have two quite capable quarterbacks in sophomore Jon Hattabaugh (Baldwin Park High) and freshman Butch Stocking (West Covina High). Both impressed vs. Rio Hondo last week.

Eaton also has the "horses" at runningback, with Tulsa U. transfer Stan Webster (from Garey High) heading a list of speedy rushers. A pair of sophomores, Maxie Hamilton and Greg Butler, team with Webster to give Eaton a lot of security in the offensive backfield.

MSAC also has ability in the receiving corps with lettermen Chancey Abney and Phil Frierson as the wide receivers and Mark Booth as the tight end.

The MSAC defense is paced by experienced performers like defensive backs Larry Vicino (Royal Oak), Jerome Covington (Manual Arts) and Mike Hall (Pomona), linebacker Jim LaBouff (La Puente) and tackles Marc Mitchell (Pomona) and Bill Martin (Charter Oak).

Top defensive newcomer is Bob Epps, an all-CIF performer from West Covina High. Epps will play nose guard for Eaton.

Eaton is also pleased with his kicking game. QB Stocking doubles as the Mountie place kicker, while Andy Ayala (Los Altos) will do the punting and Dick Dikranian (Fresno) will handle the kickoffs.

At Chaffey, speed will also be very much in evidence, as Panther mentor Mike Merandi has three real flyers in the backfield in Marcus Jennings (Ontario), Gary Carr (Upland) and Bob Pleasant (San Dimas). Pleasant is the only freshman in that trio. All three performed well in the Panthers' 21-6 season-opening win over Reedley, Jennings picking up 179 yards himself.

At quarterback, Merandi will go with three freshmen, Mike Potter (Damien), John Gable (Chaffey) and Don Hargett (San Dimas), in the preleague games before settl-

veteran coach is currently trying to decide between senior Ralph Ortega and junior Cory Miller as to who will fill the vacancy.

"They're doing a real fine job," remarked Lopez. "Miller is running the option well and Ortega is throwing the ball well. We just have to put the two together."

Lopez views the interior line as the key to the squad's success, as only Mike Sly and Tom St. Clair are returners.

The defense will be led by Ed Forbes (NG), Dave Pearson (DT), Oretga (monster), Bill Green (DE), and Richard Doyle (DT). Alta Loma will be trying to improve on its 4-3 1976 finish with what coach Tom Cook refers to as "a balanced passing and running attack."

With either Jeff Holloday or Gordon Reed (both seniors) acting as signal-caller, Dave Taylor will provide fullback strength while Stuart Charleston (RB) and Dave Edsill (RB) will also see action.

San Dimas has only rushing star Perry Aris and defensive standout Mike Nunley returning as starters from last year's title team and also will be guided by first-year coach Don Warhurst, who served in an assistant capacity at San Dimas the last seven seasons.

"The games are definitely going to be a learning experience," said Warhurst. "It will be the first time under varsity fire for most of these players. There is a big difference between junior varsity and varsity."

The Saints were further hurt when Kevin Burke, last year's JV quarterback and signal-calling hopeful this season, suffered a shoulder separation while on vacation this summer and is sidelined for the entire campaign.

Ontario will aim at bettering its 2-5 record of last year, but lacks overall depth.

One of the few bright spots for the Jaguars is running back Tom Jefferson. The 6-2, 210-pound senior performed admirably in the Ontario backfield last year and, once again, returns to action.

Led by safety Cliff Egleston and quarterback Bob Alvarez on defense and offense, Gladstone's Gladiators hope to progress from its 1-6 Hacienda record of last year.

Coach Tom Bergquist hopes newcomer Dale Ephraim and quarterback David Ruize can help Sierra Vista get in the win column for the first time since 1975. The Dons start the present campaign mired in an 0-10 losing streak.

Calvary, American youthful

American Christian and Calvary Baptist will be displaying youthful squads in their 1977 season openers.

American Christian is a very young squad and is not very big even for eight-man football. Rod Price will quarterback the American outfit. Tailback Don Cameron will spearhead American's option type offense as he is the only man returning from last year's squad.

Calvary Baptist hopes to improve its 1976 slate of 2-5-1 in 1977 behind the powerful running of fullback Robert Turner.

Calvary finished third in the Christian League last season and will rely primarily on a running attack to win ballgames in 1977.

Steve Arrechea, a sophomore, will quarterback the Calvary squad again this season. Dan Betz (center) and Jeff Bryan (offensive and defensive end) will be back to aid Calvary's offensive attack.

MSAC, Chaffey, Citrus gun for titles

ing on one for the conference outings.

"I think the Mission Conference will be the most competitive JC league in the state," Merandi predicts. "All the teams in the conference are improved, so it's very difficult to pick a favorite. We hope to be there right along with the others."

Merandi's talented backfield will have a very good offensive line to run behind, headed by returning lettermen Keith Bolock, Dave Rodricks (Damien), Jim English, and center Dean Sanchez (Upland). Top newcomer is San Dimas High product Sonny LaFargue.

Chaffey is also strong at tight end with sophomore Dave Hood battling freshman Pat Krysiak (Chino) for starting honors. Hood also handles the team's punting chores.

Returning starters safety Vivi Bernal and lineman Marty Edens, both from Chino, top a talented unit which also includes lettermen in linebackers Lance Riggs, Kirk McJunkin and Mike Dragoon.

Some grid observers feel that Citrus is down a bit this year, but Owl coach John Strycula always seem to come up with a winner and his te certainly can't be overlooked in the Mission Conference title race.

The Owls opened a loser to Fullerton, 26-7, in a game which was much closer than that final score would indicate.

"We have 17 new people starting for us and I think that caused some problems vs. Fullerton," Strycula noted. "Defensively, we played real well. Offensively, we were disappointing.

"Right now, we have a lot of question-marks still unanswered. We have to cut out our mistakes, but I'm sure we'll be ready for conference."

Strycula indicated that he has settled on Ken Eriksen, a freshman from Glendora High, as his quarterback.

At running back, Strycula is counting on another freshman, Barry McManus from South Hills, to carry a lot of the load. Others to watch include fullback Leo Burke (Damien) and tailback Charles Cole (Pomona), along with sophomore Bill Darrell (Charter Oak).

Lots of new faces at SCIAC schools

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

The three local members of the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) have one thing in common this year.

There are a lot of new faces on each team.

La Verne, by virtue of having by far the biggest squad, naturally has the largest number of returnees.

However coach Roland Ortmayer has a hole to fill this year that presents a major problem to La Verne football. For the first time in two years, Ortmayer will open the season without a proven quarterback.

Claremont-Mudd has so many new players, nearly two-thirds of the squad is new, that John Zinda says it will take three games to sort things out.

Pomona-Pitzer once again has the fewest players (34), but coach Walt Ambord is basing his hopes of improvement on having a larger number of quality players.

La Verne's major loss through graduation was three-year starter Randy Brown.

"Our biggest single problem will be getting the quarterback situation resolved," said Ortmayer. "Right now Dave Maloof (senior from San Dimas) is in front of two other candidates for the job."

The other two, both freshmen, are Mark Beaty from Workman High and Pat Wade from Burbank.

"For example, we have blocking patterns for linemen and offensive patterns for the backfield. In a game we simply put those two together.

"The quarterback describes the play in the huddle and indicates when the snap will come."

Since the Leopards have no playbook, the signal caller has to "create" each play in the huddle. It's easy to understand why developing a quarterback in the La Verne system usually takes anywhere from three games to a full season.

Maloof, a slotback last year, was a quarterback at San Dimas High and for his first two years at La Verne.

He was moved to slotback in order to give him more playing time and thus gain game experience.

Returning to the Leopards' backfield are running backs Brad Frick and Ben Morrow. Frick, a sophomore last year, made both the All-SCIAC and All-District III first teams.

Frick gained a total of 1,012 yards and averaged 5.6 yards per carry.

Morrow, a second-team SCIAC selection, is carrying 240 pounds on his 5-11 frame. But Ortmayer says he will run him enough to get him down to 235 by the time the season opens, Sept. 24.

The Leos have 64 players out for football and Ortmayer expects a few more. He has 32 returnees from last year's team that went 5-4 overall and 3-2 in conference play.

Among the returnees are wide receivers Ted Pedvin and Steve Hines, center Glen Mayer and offensive tackles Dean Buttress and Lucio Sagasta.

On defense, the returnees include tackle John Rome, middle guard Dave Poling, linebacker Ole Ellingson, ends Mike Bustos and Scott Bowser and defensive backs Bruce Hines and and Bernie Wendling.

Buttress and Rome, like Frick, were first-team selections on both the all-conference and all-district squads.

Steve Hines, Mayer and Ellingson were second-team all-conference.

Claremont-Mudd has a squad of 39 of which only 15 are returnees. And 24 of them are linemen!

"Two years ago I was crying for linemen," Zinda remarked. "That certainly isn't the case this year. We feel we'll be strong up front.

"We're almost ALL new. We'll wait and see what happens in our first three games and use them to get ready for conference play. We have too many new people to jell before then."

One of the returnees is running back Jim Reed. The 5-8, 190-pound Reed led

Defense is the key to Trojans' hopes

LOS ANGELES — If the USC football team is hoping to have the momentum of last season carry over into this year, a lot will depend on how well its defense can overcome the loss to graduation of some of the 1976 stalwarts.

After a season-opening loss to Missouri, the Trojans reeled off 11 consecutive triumphs, outscored their opponents 361-93, advanced to the Rose Bowl for the eighth time in 11 years, and beat UCLA, Notre Dame and Michigan down the stretch enroute to a ranking of No. 2 in the nation on both wire service polls.

"The key to our team is the improvement of our defense," he says. "The offense has the potential to be outstanding.

"Putting together a cohesive defense is an early problem for us," the coach continues. "And we're going against some very good football teams with varieties of attacks."

The Trojans opened with a most impressive 27-10 triumph at Missouri, but still have to face highly-regarded Alabama in their fifth game (at the Coliseum) and then travel to Notre Dame for the seventh game.

Robinson remains concerned about the Trojans' inexperience despite the return of six offensive starters and four defensive starters.

"The inexperience on this team is definitely a question," he says. "Now some people go from inexperienced players to veteran ones in about three weeks. Some take two years. How quickly we make that trip from relatively inexperienced to being a competent veteran team is a big key.

"And what is the intangible difference in losing a

CIF playoffs restructured, league memberships altered

A completely revamped playoff system and massive releaguing over a two-year period are two of the major ingredients in the changing local prep football scene.

Beginning with this season, the sprawling CIF Southern Section has been divided into eight regional conferences (plus the eight-man division) for football playoffs rather than the familiar 4A, 3A, 2A and 1A classifications.

Objectives of the new system, according to CIF commissioner Tom Byrnes, include (1) giving more teams a chance for postseason play; (2) stimulating interest in playoff games by making pairings more regional and (3) decreasing the length of the season one week for teams that reach the CIF finals.

The main objection to the new structure, voiced by some coaches and fans, is that championships will not mean as much since there will be eight of them instead of four. Many observers feel that there should be a "final" playoff, between conference winners, to determine the "real" CIF champion. But the CIF's position is that such a final game would defeat the primary purposes of the new plan.

At any rate, one of the most interesting facets of the new playoff format from the local standpoint is that the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues will be members of the same playoff grouping, the Southeastern Conference.

The Southeastern Conference will also embrace the Montview, San Andreas and Desert Valleys leagues. The SAL was a 3A league last year and the other four were 2A loops.

Under the new system, 16 teams will be in the playoffs of each conference. That means that each league will be guaranteed at least three playoff berths, and one league from each conference will get a fourth spot. There will doubtless be a number of teams with losing overall records in the playoffs.

Chaffey High and the rest of the Citrus Belt League schools are now members of the Big Five Conference, the most prestigious of the new groupings, which includes the tough Sierra, Angelus, Del Rey and Sunset leagues.

Ontario Christian (Olympic League) and Webb and La Verne (both Arrowhead League members) are in the Desert-Mountain Conference while American Christian and Calvary Baptist (both Christian League schools) are still in the Eight-man Confernce.

Chaffey, Webb, Lutheran, American Christian and Calvary Baptist all find themselves in slightly different league alignments this season and next year both the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues will be changed, if a proposed realignment is approved later this month.

The Citrus Belt League, of which Chaffey is a member, expands from six to eight teams this year with the addition of Corona and San Bernardino to the loop. Other CBL schools are Eisenhower, Fontana, Pacific, Redlands and San Gorgonio.

The Arrowhead League has gone the other route, becoming a six-member circuit instead of nine. Notre Dame, Big Bear and Aquinas, the three schools which have dominated the league in football and basketball in recent years, have been transferred to the De Anza League. That leaves La Verne Lutheran, Webb, CSDR, Orange Lutheran, San Jacinto and Sherman in the Arrowhead League.

The Christian League has not been realigned, but six members will field grid teams this year. Bethel Christian and Capistrano Valley Christian will join American Christian, Calvary Baptist, Liberty Christian and Victor Valley Christian in the football wars.

But the biggest news for local fans is the shuffling that will almost surely take place next year in the San Antonio and Hacienda leagues. (Final CIF approval is needed for the releaguing.)

Alta Loma and Walnut, whose enrollments have outgrown the HL, will leave that league as of 1978-79 for the SAL and Sierra League, respectively.

Don Lugo High of Chino, a free lance football squad this year, will join the HL next year and Charter Oak will fill out the eight-team league roster.

All the current SAL schools will stay put, so that with the addition of Alta Loma the league will have nine members.

Cal Poly rebuilding . . . once again

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Unfortunately for Bronco fans, it's that way again this season.

New coach Jim Jones, who is getting his first taste of collegiate ball after a very successful 11-year career at South Hills High, is faced with the problem of building from the ground floor once again.

Of the 46 players Jones took last week for the season opener at Puget Sound, 33 were newcomers to the Poly program. The Broncs had only 13 lettermen, four starters.

"I feel the biggest thing we have to work on at Cal Poly is building a winning tradition," Jones said about his task. "A big plus for us is our new appointed president, Dr. Hugh LaBounty."

After accepting the Poly job in late December, Jones went right to work building for the future by recruiting 32 freshmen, believing it is better to build from the ground up and have talented players for all four seasons.

"We're happy with our freshmen," Jones said. "We have some excellent people."

The problem is time. Jones realizes it will take some game experience for his rookie class to get used to college ball and learn the Poly system.

A rugged schedule also makes it very tough for the young Broncos, who must face three Division I opponents plus the strongest Division II teams on the West Coast.

The Broncs head for San Francisco State this Saturday to meet a team which has always been rough on Poly. Following a bye next week is the home opener against UC Davis on October 1.

Compiling a winning record against that type of schedule is extremely difficult.

At Puget Sound, Jones started an offensive lineup consisting of three returning starters, two other lettermen plus six junior college transfers. On defense, it was one starter, four lettermen, four JC transfers and two freshmen.

On the second unit were eight freshmen on offense and six on defense.

Ross, who suffered a sprained finger at Puget Sound and may be doubtful this week, won the starting job after a battle with Steve Taylor, a transfer from Mt. San Antonio College and former Pomona High star, and freshman Gordy Bohannon from South Pasadena High.

Jones has good depth at tailback in JC transfer Larry Strange from Mt. San Jacinto College plus freshmen Bill Hilliker, the CIF 2A Player of Year at Antelope Valley High, and Kevin Morgan, the Pomona Valley Offensive Player of the Year at Walnut.

Two local products, Dominic Licavoli from Upland High and Chaffey College, and freshman Ricky Fairman of Pomona High, are the fullback candidates.

Myles is Poly's top candidate for post-season honors. The senior from Monrovia was an All-CCAA choice last year when he caught 32 passes for 369 yards.

Dan Beebe, a transfer from Walla Walla, Wash., JC, opened the season at center but suffered a knee injury at Puget Sound and may miss three or four games. Gary Hallstrom from College of Sequoias will take his spot.

Bill Henry (6-2, 240) and Jay Fleming (6-0, 220) are the offensive guards while Jerry Bellettiere (6-4, 240) and Bill Drummond (6-3, 255) are the tackles with Tom Mondok (6-6, 275) being the chief back-up.

Freshman Ed Kelly from Bishop Amat and letterman Joe Pratchard, who also suffered a knee injury in the opener, were the starters at defensive tackle at Tacoma. Freshman Don Drake, who played for Jones at South Hills, may take Pratchard's spot.

Four JC transfers are the starting linebackers for the Broncos. They are Jay Giangregorio (MSAC), Scott Pickwith (MSAC), Bob Price (Walla Walla, Wash.) and Peter Guariglia (Walla Walla, Wash.). Freshman Jim Wilson of Los Altos High is a promising newcomer.

the Stags in ground gaining last year.

Zinda lost both his quarterbacks, Carl Bostick and Robert Neilson. Bostick is in business and Neilson transferred to Sequoia JC.

Don Chester, who was moved to split end last year, has been moved back to quarterback. Matt Kawamura, a 5-8, 150-pound freshman is the other signal caller.

Among the outstanding newcomers, Zinda is very high on defensive tackle Adam Bercovici (6-4, 252) and noseguard Dave Flatten (6-3, 235).

Last year the Stags were 2-6 overall, but both wins came in conference play.

Biggest news at Pomona-Pitzer is that coach Walt Ambord has dropped his pro style attack and will run out of what he calls a "T box formation."

John Buzzard, who didn't come out for football last year, is back this season at tightend. But running back George Bushala transferred to UNLV.

"We were embarrassed two or three games last year," said Ambord. "I think we'll be better this year. We have 34 guys out. But there are 35 in school who have played football and didn't come out."

OCHS Knights aim for CIF playoffs

Aiming at a possible CIF berth at the end of the season, Ontario Christian High football coach Laing Stevens says his team is approaching the coming season with the goal of self-improvement which would result in success.

"We have goals for ourselves as a team," explains Stevens. "Being a Christian school, we don't care so much as to how we compare with others. Our attitude is to achieve as an individual and improve. The by-product is winning."

Stevens believes that by putting Jesus Christ into the program, it strengthens the individual athletes' personal attributes. And it is in the area of personal characteristics that the coach believes the success of this year's football squad lies.

While boasting only 10 returning players, Stevens feels the key to the season will be "developing confidence and experience."

Junior Joe De Hoog is expected to be the quarterback, who Stevens envisions will be "the best in the league." He will be joined in the backfield by returnees Pete Van Ginel, Garrett Bosman, and Dave Hooyenga, who will play flanker.

While the defense is "fairly decent" and will be anchored by Tom Lanting (DE), Jeff Vanderhuvel (NG), and Bernie Mulder (LB), Stevens hopes his team can outquick their opponents with a balanced offense and defense.

How ell they accomplish this may determine how well Ontario Christian fares in 1977.

Bruins must go without two stars

LOS ANGELES — Despite boasting an extremely strong defensive unit, the UCLA football team's fortunes this year have been clouded by injuries.

Bruin coach Terry Donahue apparently found his quarterback Monday night vs. Houston in sophomore Rick Bashore, but in the process lost top running back Theotis Brown and talented kicker Frank Corral to injuries.

With Brown out for four to six weeks, the potency of the UCLA Veer offense now could well depend on Bashore's passing ability and what kind of holes the Bruin line can open for Brown's understudies.

Senior Gus Coppens (6-6½, 260) is the lone returnee to that line, and will be expected to provide the leadership for the rest of the group.

Junior Bruce Davis will come over from the defense to vie for the other tackle position along with Max Montoya (a 6-5, 257-pounder from Mt. San Antonio College).

After seeing limited action in reserve roles last year, Bryce Adkins and Jim Main will graduate to the starting unit in the guard spots. They will be at either side of Brent Boyd, who is listed as the number one center.

Despite the loss of Wendell Tyler, UCLA's all-time leading rusher, the Bruins again boast a strong ground game in junior fullback Brown, when he returns, and roommate James Owens.

Teaming with Brown in the Bruin backfield will be Owens, who also was the 1977 NCAA champion in the high hurdles. A reserve last year, the swift back still managed to exceed the 100-yard mark twice.

The Bruins also have depth in the backfield. Freeman McNeil, the 1976 Los Angeles City 4A Player of the Year, will see some action and will provide reserve strength along with redshirt Ernie Saenz and sophomore Glenn Cannon.

The Bruins face the same problem at the quarterback spot that they faced last year — they must replace an All-American.

Last year, Jeff Dankworth filled the shoes of his predecessor, John Sciarra, by receiving national honors. The UCLA coaching staff, headed by second-year man Terry Donahue, is hoping the same thing will happen this time around.

While the junior Steve Bukich has more experience, Bashore received extensive work with UCLA's Veer attack when Bukich was sidelined the final half of spring practice with an injury. Bashore's showing vs. Houston appears to have won him the starting job, with Bukich in reserve.

Don Lugo to launch 1st varsity season

Don Antonio Lugo High will launch the first varsity football campaign in the school's history next week, a week after most prep seasons get under way.

The Conquistadores will play a free lance varsity schedule this season, despite having only freshmen and sophomores enrolled.

Don Lugo will open Sept. 24 at Orange Lutheran. Also on the Conquistadores' eight-game varsity schedule are local Arrowhead League members Webb and La Verne Lutheran.

The Chino school will be a member of the Hacienda League for the 1978-79 season, if a proposed league realignment is approved by the CIF later this month.

Coach John Monger has compiled an amazing 43-3 frosh record in his five years at Don Lugo. The Conquistadores won the SAL freshman title last year with a 9-0 mark, which stretched their winning streak to 21 games.

Though Monger has no seniors or juniors, he has the advantage this year of coaching exactly the same squad he led to that SAL title last year.

Knox, Rams in for a long season?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What has happened to the Los Angeles Rams?

It appears that the four-time division champions of the National Football Conference West will have a tough time winning a fifth for Coach Chuck Knox, who was wooed by Detroit after the 1976 season.

Olsen, who has turned to television and movie acting, was the wheelhorse of the Rams defense, and without him the Rams haven't seemed the same, as a 1-5 record shows.

They also traded away quarterback James Harris. He returned with the San Diego Chargers, who beat the Rams 26-25 for their first triumph over their Southern California rivals since 1972.

Quarterbacks are all important. The Rams have Pat Haden and Namath, either of whom could be starters.

Atlanta, New Orleans and San Francisco, who are challenging the Rams in the division, are more positive in the quarterback department.

And, believe it or not, Meyer also was on the Knox staff last season.

Just so it won't appear a family affair in the West, Hank Stram of New Orleans isn't related in any way to the Rams and Knox.

The 49ers have undergone the most changes since last season. The widows of Tony and Vic Morabito, the men who founded the club, sold it to Edward J. DeBartolo, whose 31-year-old son now is the club president. Joe Thomas, formerly of the Baltimore Colts, is the vice president and general manager.

The West division boasts outstanding runners. The Rams are expected to start Lawrence McCutcheon and Ricky Bell, a Gary Jeter, a Marvin Powell, a Donnie Hickman, a Shelton Diggs?'' he goes on. "We've replaced them and the other seniors with quality people, we think, but certainly many of them performed much better their senior year than at any other point in their careers.

"Perhaps the people we have replacing them will be great performers as seniors, too, but many of them now are juniors and a few are sophomores.''

Junior Rich Dimler (nose guard) and senior Vinny Van Dyke (right tackle) will join Underwood on the Trojan defensive line. Garry Cobb and Mario Celotto will join the linebacking corps as will either sophomore Dennis Johnson or Chaffey College transfer Charlie Moses.

Despite losing Bell, Evans and Diggs on offense, Robinson is confident his team will rebound to have a highly successful year.

At the receiving end of the seniors' aerials will be split end Randy Simmrin, who gathered in 32 for a 20.4 average and five TDs last year.

Also returning to the USC offense will be fullback Mosi Tatupu, who boasts a 5.9 career rushing average, junior tackle Otis Page, senior center Gary Bethel, along with junior Pat Howell and sophomore Brad Budde. Chaffey High product Anthony Munoz should also see plenty of action.

Also playing key roles in the USC offense will be tight end William Gay, flanker Calvin Sweeney and 1974 JC Player of the year, Lynn Cain, in addition to Kevin Williams, Brad Green, Dwight Ford and Rod Connors.

Rams could be in trouble

John Cappelletti, the Saints have Chuck Muncie and Tony Galbreath and the 49ers have Wilbur Jackson and Del Williams. The Falcons have moved Haskel Stanback to a starting halfback position with an open battle for the No. 2 position in the offensive backfield.

Rookie Coach Bennett observed that the running back could be the strongest position for his Atlanta club. "We may not have the best two or three in the league, but I think our six or seven are as good as anyone's got."

Defensively, the Rams have been the class of the division for years, but that's probably not the current case. The 49ers have the best front four with Cedrick Hardman, Cleveland Elam, Tommy Hart and Jimmy Webb. And their secondary is solid despite the retirement of linebacker Fran Nunley.

In the draft, it was Atlanta that probably did the best—getting first-round choices for both offense and defense. The picks were Warren Bryant, 6-feet-6 and 275 pounds from Kentucky on the offensive line and Wilson Faumuina, 6-6 and 275 on the defensive line from San Jose State.

Injuries hurt Bruins

The Bruins averaged 13.5 passes per game last season, a figure Donahue would like to see increase.

If a stronger passing game is desired, a heavy burden will undoubtedly fall on the receiving corps.

The Bruins have a capable pair of tight ends in Rick Walker (who was the recipient of All-Coast honors in 1976) and Don Pederson.

Homer Butler and Severn Reece will see action at the flanker position, while James Sarpy will vie with a host of newcomers for the split end spot.
